SHOWERS BREAK HEAT WAVE

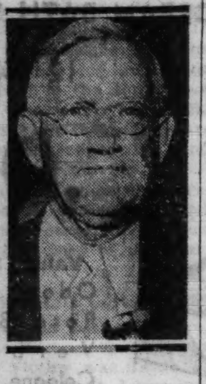
LINK NEW DEAL EASY MONEY TO GRAFT CHARGES

President Forced to Take Action.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Corrupt practices permeating the Roosevelt administration and the relations of Democratic leaders thereto have attained proportions staggering comprehension.



HORATIO J. ABBOTT

President Roosevelt is acquainted with the noisome situation and has made some moves to clean house but with indifferent results up to date.

The pouring out of billions of government money on recovery projects has invited large scale political traficking in government jobs and handouts of government cash which are causing rumblings of uneasiness in congress. Numerous Democratic legislators have publicly confessed their inability to close their eyes longer to what is going on.

Disclosures in Michigan.

Within the last few days a glimpse has been given of the hookup between the financing of the Democratic national committee's deficit and the forking out of recovery fund pork. Horatio J. Abbott, internal revenue collector at Detroit, Democratic national committeeman for Michigan, together with two of his deputies, are under fire in connection with charges of levying on corporations and communities to raise the $30,000 Michigan quota of the Democratic campaign deficit and to get slices of the 3 billion dollar public works fund.

From other states have come similar charges of the exploitation of recovery fund allocations by Democratic leaders. The secret service is investigating the Michigan affair and the alleged scandals reported from other states.

The Home Owners' Loan corporation for months has been a cesspool of corruption and job traficking which John H. Fahey, chairman of the Home Loan board, is endeavoring to clean up. Such are the home loan scandals that the senate voted an amendment to the home loan bond bill designed to divorce political influence from the organization. President Roosevelt indorsed the amendment, but the house expunged it.

Influence and Loans.

Charges were made in the senate that it takes political influence to get loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. As a result the senate adopted an amendment to the bill authorizing direct loans to industry, prohibiting senators, congressmen, national committeemen, and numerous other classes of politicians, from aiding applicants for such loans.

The scandal of Democratic national committeemen getting favors for clients from administration officials reached such proportions that the President was compelled to take cognizance of it. As a result of his frowning on the evil there was an exodus of members from the Democratic national committee. Others who held government jobs also were impelled to resign. Postmaster General Farley, chief administration job dispenser, has disclosed an intention to resign from the chairmanship of the committee in further deference to the proprieties. The President also advocated legislation prohibiting party officials from holding government jobs or practicing before departments, but nothing has come of it.

Petitioners Seek Influence.

Decisions and rulings of administrative bureaus and boards on the merits of questions have become something for the cynical to joke about. Political influence is sought by the petitioner who is "wise" to the situation. Never before has political influence been in such demand. That is partly because the government is supervising and regulating more of the activities of citizens than ever before and is ladling out unprecedented billions of dollars of pork.

No greater scandal exists in Washington today than the political domination of the quasi-judicial commissions, the decisions of which are influenced by Democratic leaders. Even the White House is involved, though to what extent is not clear. In the New Orleans-Shreveport case it has been shown that Louis Howe, the President's secretary, dictated a rever-

DARROW LASHES NRA CHIEFS AS TOO AUTOCRATIC

New Deal Split by Lawyer's Attack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Torn into two hostile camps, official Washington today watched Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and Clarence Darrow, head of the national recovery review board, shout at each other over the sins and virtues of the NRA.

Continuing the battle which started yesterday when Darrow charged the NRA with fostering monopolies and Johnson replied that Darrow was a communist, the two antagonists today poured new broadsides into each other.

Darrow challenged President Roosevelt to state clearly whether he still backs the NRA and its strangulation of small businesses. The recovery review board, Darrow revealed, will shortly file a second report, showing conditions under the NRA worse than those revealed in the report yesterday. In stinging phrases Darrow lashed Johnson and NRA Counsel Donald Richberg for their attack on him and his board yesterday.

Johnson Charges Chiseling.

Late tonight Johnson again assailed Darrow for preaching communist dogma rather than finding facts. He declared that 90 per cent of the small businesses which Darrow had said were "oppressed" were actually chiselers, seeking to sell under code prices and to sweat their laborers. Earlier Johnson had sought to show that the Darrow board had failed in its original purpose by making public the correspondence which led up to the board's creation.

The 77 year old Darrow referred to Johnson and Richberg as "these young gentlemen." He called them "evasive," "uninformed" and charged that they regard the national recovery program as "their personal property." He reminded them sharply that "there is nothing in a democracy that is above criticism, not even the NRA, and, if there should be, democracy would cease to exist."

Johnson in reply called Darrow "a grand old man who has long had my admiration." But Johnson didn't pull his punches for the sake of the "grand old man." Darrow, according to Johnson, is listening to chiselers, and he is preaching the dogma that "the only hope of the country is the socialism of Karl Marx and soviet Russia."

New Struggle in Offing.

Under the uproar of the Darrow-Johnson feud, which today became one of the bitterest in the history of the capital, forces are lining up for the coming struggle over the future of the New Deal's attempt to regiment industry under the Blue Eagle.

Regular Republicans are out to sink the whole NRA. Radical Republicans, led by Senators Gerald P. Nye and William E. Borah, are seeking to trim the Blue Eagle's wings by reinstating the anti-trust laws for the protection of small businesses. Democrats, finding themselves temporarily leaderless because of the White House silence, are apologizing for the NRA and endeavoring to hustle the Darrow board out of existence.

President Roosevelt's position tonight remained the one unanswered question and the point of greatest importance. From one of his White House assistants came the statement that the Darrow board, when it was created, agreed to finish its work and dissolve automatically by June 1. Whether this is the President's wish could not be learned authoritatively. The Darrow board, apparently intent on remaining alive as a permanent NRA appeals board, has scheduled hearings running far into June.

Warns About "Evasions."

Darrow opened the day's debate with a scathing attack on Johnson and Richberg. He said that the replies, which were made public yesterday, with Darrow's original criticism of the monopolistic tendencies of the NRA, replied to nothing. They were evasions, he said, and he warned Johnson and Richberg that the Darrow board had a second report to file which would make yesterday's look mild.

Plainly piqued because President Roosevelt had given Johnson an opportunity to reply to the first report, Darrow traced the creation and purpose of his board up to the time that it was given to the President.

"A few comments are in order," Darrow said.

"1. It is too much to expect that in Mr. Richberg's state of turbulent emotion he should see the essential fact about anything, but to those still preserving an empire over their intellectual processes it will be perfectly plain at once that the chaotic competition condemned by this board is the

Dillinger Girl Tells Plan to Wed Outlaw

St. Paul, Minn., May 21.—(AP)—Evelyn Frechette vowed her love for Dillinger, the hunted felon, today and in the next breath accused federal operatives of starving and striking her when she was arrested in Chicago on charges of conspiracy to harbor the fugitive.

Both sides rested soon after Miss Frechette testified on her own behalf. The federal court jury is expected to receive the case in which she and Dr. Clayton May and Mrs. Augusta Salt are accused of harboring the outlaw by tomorrow noon.

"You knew," said George Sullivan, United States district attorney, "that Dillinger was a criminal when you were with him in Florida?"

"Yes, but I got so I loved Mr. Dillinger," Miss Frechette replied.

Tells of Apartment Battle.

Of the appearance of officers at the St. Paul apartment March 31, she said:

"Mr. Dillinger asked me who they were and I said the police. 'Well, don't let them in. Come on and get dressed,' he said. I said what are you going to do and he said 'never mind, get dressed.'

"I was putting some things in a suitcase as he told me to and he was in the front of the apartment when I heard shooting. I said my God, don't shoot. Go on and leave me.' I was all excited. He said 'no, you are going with me. Get that grip.'"

She then related how they drove to Minneapolis, where Dillinger was treated in the apartment of Mrs. Salt by Dr. May. They left April 4, driving to Mooresville, Ind., where they visited Dillinger's father, driving to Chicago Sunday. The next day, April 9, she was arrested and "handcuffed" by five or six men she first thought were bandits, Miss Frechette testified.

She said she lived with Dillinger in Florida, St. Louis, and Tuscon, Ariz., where he last was arrested. He gave her an automobile and money, she said. The car she "smashed up."

Bares Plans to Wed.

She and Dillinger were going to get married, Miss Frechette declared in explaining about instigation of a divorce action against her husband, Walter Sparks, now in Leavenworth penitentiary for mail robbery.

Miss Frechette testified she lived with Dillinger under the name of Sullivan and "different" names, but never under his true one.

Thomas McMeekin, St. Paul counsel for Dr. May and Mrs. Salt, completed his case this morning with conclusion of both defendants' accounts of how Dillinger, hiding in the Salt apartment, was treated by Dr. May after the outlaw had shot his way from a St. Paul apartment last March 31.

HUNT VANISHED BOAT PASSENGER; HE MISSED IT

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The disappearance of Franklin L. Whitcomb Jr. of Boston, from the S. S. Boston, was cleared up today when he walked into a police station and announced he merely had missed the boat.

Whitcomb is a son of the president of the Griffin Wheel company, Chicago.

When the ship docked here Saturday it was found the stateroom assigned to Whitcomb had been unoccupied although his baggage was in the room.

Police and steamship officials launched an investigation, but the mystery remained unsolved until the appearance of Whitcomb who explained a last minute errand in Boston had caused him to leave the ship.

Mrs. Thalia F. Massie Arrives in New York

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie arrived in New York tonight aboard the Dollar liner President Van Buren, which returned from its regular voyage around the world via the Suez canal. Mrs. Massie boarded the ship in Genoa on May 8 after spending a month as a patient in the Borelli clinic there recovering from a nervous breakdown. She was a principal in the Honolulu murder case two years ago.

Starts Roosevelt Family Portrait in Oval Room

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—The beginning of a Roosevelt family portrait in the Oval room, the President's study, was made tonight, with President and Mrs. Roosevelt posing. The rest of the Roosevelt family will be painted as they appear at the White House. The artist is John C. Johansen.

72 BELOW AT BYRD'S ANTARCTIC ICE HOUSE; WORST IS YET TO COME

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, May 21.—Via Mackay Radio.—(AP)—A temperature of 72 degrees below zero was reported by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in his isolated outpost on the Ross ice barrier.

Since the coldest part of the antarctic winter is still to come, this temperature indicated Admiral Byrd's prediction that his base may be the coldest spot ever inhabited will be fulfilled.

Admiral Byrd reported the task of keeping his meteorological instruments in operation is proving troublesome. Every few hours, he said, he has to brush off his instruments, climb the slender 12 foot pole on top of his shack, remove the weather vane and strengthen the contacts used for recording wind direction.

2 Go Berserk; Taken by Tear Bomb Attack

For 30 minutes early this morning police sought to arrest two men who had barricaded themselves in a second floor flat at 2342 West Ohio street after firing at neighbors and detectives. The task was difficult because the presence of a 5 year old girl in the flat restrained the police from using their guns. By using tear bombs and shields police finally broke through, however, and nabbed the men.

They were Harry Stroan, 37 years old, an ex-convict with many aliases, and Anton Mrozek, 34, of 742 North Troy street. With them were Stroan's little daughter, Catherine, and Rose Sczepaniak, his housekeeper. In the flat the police seized five rifles and two revolvers. Stroan, police said, is an apparent "copper hater." Last November Stroan, under the name Stron, with one punch knocked out Policeman John O'Gara during a hearing in the Felony court.

How Trouble Started.

The trouble this morning started when either Stroan or Mrozek fired two shots through the floor of the former's flat into the parlor of his first floor neighbor, Edward Perlowski. When Perlowski went upstairs and complained two bullets were fired through the door at him.

An alarm to police brought Sergt. Walter Garrison and his squad to the scene. When the detectives appeared at the door of Stroan's apartment several shots were fired through the door.

Sergt. Garrison called for reinforcements and soon a dozen squads from neighboring stations and the detective bureau appeared and surrounded the place. About 500 men and women living in the neighborhood looked on. Because Stroan's 5 year old daughter was in the place police withheld fire.

Police Rush the Place.

Stench bombs thrown into Stroan's flat proved ineffectual. Tear gas bombs proved little better. Finally Lieut. Richard Barry of the bureau and half a dozen men, holding bullet proof shields before them, rushed the place, broke down the door and overpowered Stroan and Mrozek. Both were holding rifles at the time.

Stroan put up a fight and was severely beaten and taken to the Bridewell hospital. Mrozek, docile at first, became belligerent at the police station and knocked a policeman down.

Kills Her Brother-in-Law; Walks 25 Miles, Gives Up

Whitesburg, Ky., May 21.—[Special.]—Miss Lenora Ingram, 20, Linefork, walked from her home today 25 miles and surrendered to officers. Miss Ingram shot and killed James Halcomb, 50, her brother-in-law. Halcomb is said to have whipped his wife. Pending trial she was placed in jail.

37 Men Hurt in Strike in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn., May 21.—[Special.]—Some 35,000 members of unions affiliated with the building trades council late today began a strike in sympathy with truck drivers after rioting in the market district in which 37 persons were injured.

The casualty list included 18 policemen and 19 strikers. The riot ended when the police forces made a show of riot guns and truck union heads withdrew an estimated crowd of 500 pickets from the market area.

Congressman Francis H. Shoemaker, Farmer-Laborite, in his shirtsleeves and brandishing a broomstick, was taken into custody by the police on a charge of disorderly conduct. Later he was released on $200 bail. He charged he had been "manhandled" by police and would require treatment by a physician.

Labor Board in Action.

The regional labor board was given the authority to negotiate a settlement and in the event an agreement could not be reached to call in the department of justice if necessary. The board immediately called in leaders of the 5,000 truck drivers on strike. The drivers are demanding union recognition, closed shop and wage adjustments from their employers.

The board met alternately with representatives of the employers and the strikers, but no announcement was made as to progress.

John H. Bosch, president of the Minnesota Farm Holiday association, speaking at the strike headquarters, said the association had called a "secret meeting of directors" to consider calling a state-wide strike of farmers as a sympathy move for Minneapolis labor.

The board was granted authority after all attempts made by Gov. Floyd B. Olson had failed during the past week and the possibility existed that the National Guard might be called to take control. The central labor council, which had aided in calling off the rioters, issued a plea that all Minneapolis unions lend financial and moral support to the striking drivers.

Special Policemen Added.

The Minneapolis police force was augmented today with 1,000 special policemen and 300 special deputy sherifs, 200 of whom participated in the market place fight.

Hospital officials reported that their facilities were being taxed in order to take care of the emergency cases resulting from the riot. Frank Phillips, identified as one of the pickets, was most seriously injured with a fractured skull and was taken to the hospital unconscious.

One policeman suffered a broken jaw, another a broken arm and several were stabbed by the rioting drivers.

Strikers Armed with Clubs.

The police had gone into the market district to permit movement of the trucks, but not a single one was moved out of the area. The strikers, armed with clubs, milled about the market section, threatening violence if the trucks were set in motion and convoyed by heavy police guard.

Evanston Council Relaxes Rigid Rules on Beach Wear

Evanston beaches will be ultramodern this summer. The city council of Evanston voted last night to allow women swimmers to wear white suits, something heretofore barred. It also voted to permit men to wear trunks alone. An admission price of $1 for a family of six was established. Extra persons will be charged 25 cents each.

25° DROP HERE; DROUTH PERIL IS STILL ACUTE

Hope Held Out for Late Grain Crops.

Showers and thunderstorms came late yesterday and during the night to Chicago and several of the middle western states, bringing relief from the four-day heat wave and slightly alleviating the drouth conditions. The rainfall, however, is regarded as insufficient to salvage substantial amounts of the wheat and small grain crops in these regions, although late crops, such as corn, may not fall much below the normal yield if heavy rains occur during the next few days.

No heavy rains are in sight, however. Thunderstorms are forecast in central and southern Illinois today. Light showers are also forecast in southern Indiana, in upper Michigan, and the southeast part of lower Michigan, in the south and east central sections of Missouri, and in southeastern Kansas. Lower temperatures will prevail throughout the corn and wheat belts.

Rain Is Sporadic.

In Chicago the showers were sporadic. The weather bureau recorded a half inch of rainfall at the United States courthouse in the loop at 11 p. m. At the University of Chicago only .02 of an inch was recorded. In some of the suburbs, notably along the north shore, the showers were heavy. In many parts of the city there wasn't enough rain to wet the grass roots.

The chief effect of the showers was to end the sweltering heat. The temperature reached a maximum of 92 degrees at 3 p. m. At 5 o'clock it was 90. At 9 p. m., after the showers started, it was 67. Then it began to rise until it reached an unofficial mark of 72 at 2 a. m., after which it dropped to 67 at 4:30 a. m.

Although farmers throughout the north central states were hopeful last night that future rains would grow a normal corn crop, the wheat crop and the other small grain crops, such as oats and barley, are regarded as failures in nearly all areas.

Will County Hard Hit.

Leonard W. Braham, farm adviser at the Will county farm bureau at Joliet, reported that the oat, rye, barley, and winter wheat crops in the county are practically ruined. The chinch bugs have ruined the oat, rye, and barley crops and are now attacking the corn, which has been germinating slowly. Winter wheat, which only grew to a few inches, is being plowed up and farmers are planning to use this acreage to plant other crops.

Mr. Braham advised farmers in the region to plant soy beans for pasture, as the hay crop has fallen far below the normal. Many of the farmers who have contracts with the government by which they agreed to use only a certain percentage of their acreage are appplying for permission to use all their lands.

Emergency Crops Urged.

O. G. Barrett, Cook county farm adviser at Arlington Heights, also urged farmers to plant soy beans and later sudan grass as an emergency hay and forage crop.

There is little or no prospect for timothy hay in the region and alfalfa seedings are so small that there will be insufficient feed from this source.

At Quincy, Ill., it was reported that wheat will not reach half its normal yield and oats have about been given up as a crop. Strawberries in the region are inferior this year and the truck crop is also badly affected. At Bloomington the oats are "past saving" and wheat is badly damaged. The pastures in the area are short and failing rapidly and there is insufficient water for live stock. Gardens are drying up and wells are emptying.

In Nebraska spring grains are turning brown and the winter wheat crop is at a critical stage. While there is little hope of saving these crops, farmers throughout the state were optimistic concerning the corn yield if heavy rains fall shortly.

Kansas Is Hopeful.

The corn crop in Kansas will also be satisfactory, it was believed, as its late planting may get the advantage of rains within a few weeks. The wheat crop in the state, however, will not come near one-half the normal yield even with heavy rains.

Light rains in the northern part of Iowa partially refreshed the pasture land, but the outlook for corn, which is the state's biggest crop, is gloomy unless immediate and heavy rains occur.

Though individual farmers will suffer because of grain crop losses from the drouth, grain men commented yesterday on one beneficial result of a short crop. That benefit is the elimination of the wheat surplus which has hung like a millstone on the neck of the grain industry for the last four years.

It was toward the elimination of this surplus, which has kept the price of wheat below the computed cost of production, that the New Dealers in Washington directed the vast machinery of the Agricultural Adjustment administration in a crop reduction program. Grain men have commented ironically on the efforts of the AAA to compete with Mother Nature in reducing this surplus.

A year ago the wheat carry-over was 385,000,000 bushels. With the harvesting of this year's crop next July, it is estimated that the carry-over will be less than 275,000,000 bushels.

Failure May End Surplus.

Grain men pointed out that a major wheat crop failure this year might easily eliminate this carry-over surplus, in view of the fact that the normal annual consumption of wheat in the United States is estimated at from 650 to 700 million bushels.

The majority of the farmers in the drouth-stricken grain belt, according to the records, signed up the AAA crop reduction program. Federal funds have been distributed to the farmers in return for their acreage cuts, and, according to observers, the money has been largely spent.

Although no areas reported heavy rains a few had drenching showers in central Illinois early last evening. Havana, Pana, and Hillsboro reported heavy enough falls to be of benefit to withering crops. While other districts reported showers brought some relief. Light rains were reported at Springfield, Jacksonville, and Lincoln, but not in quantities to provide more than temporary drouth relief.

Local showers fell last night in northern Illinois and in parts of Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, and Nebraska.

No rain is in sight today for Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Nebraska.

The heaviest precipitation in the north central states yesterday and last night was 1.34 inches at Alpena, Mich. At Milwaukee heavy continuous rains brought a precipitation of 1.20 inches. While gardens were refreshed by the rains in these towns, neither of them is a grain growing center. Other readings were at Green Bay, Wis., .60 of an inch; Grand Rapids, Mich., .44; Davenport, Ia., .42; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., .38; Duluth, Minn., .28; Escanaba, Mich., .22; La Crosse, Wis., .18, and Rapid City, S. D., .13.

Cooler Here Today.

Today will be cooler in Chicago, with the temperature hovering around 70 degrees. Toward evening lake breezes are expected to push their way through so that tonight may be chilly.

Accompanying the thunderstorms in the Chicago metropolitan area last night were high winds, which at times early in the evening attained a velocity of 50 miles an hour.

With the drouth bringing the greatest influx of chinch bugs in years to the middle western states, action was being considered yesterday in Washington to appropriate $1,000,000 to combat the insects.

FIREMAN ON WAY TO WORK SHOWS HIMSELF A HERO

While on his way to work at the station of Engine company No. 4, 1244 North Halsted street, yesterday, Fireman Henry Bodenlos saw a truck, loaded with 500 gallons of gasoline, ablaze near Clybourn and North avenues.

Fearing an explosion, passersby on the street were fleeing in all directions, and even the owners of stores had abandoned their places.

Fireman Bodenlos, however, ran directly to the blazing truck, seized the fire extinguisher from the dashboard, and put out the fire. Then he went on to work.

WAUKEGAN CITY COUNCIL REBELS AGAINST MAYOR

The Waukegan city council staged a little revolt last night and voted not to pay the May salaries to Police Chief Edwin Ahlstrom and Building Commissioner Fred H. Nemitz. The aldermen also voted to abolish the office of city collector, held by Stanley Nelson, but agreed to pay his salary up to June 1. These three men were appointed a year ago by Mayor Peter Petersen. It was indicated that a majority of the aldermen wanted him to make new appointments, which he has refused to do.

Plant Despite AAA Pacts; Hope for Leniency.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Farmers in the drouth stricken middle west are trying their best to produce a big corn crop in spite of efforts of the federal government to effect a sizable acreage reduction in this crop during 1934 by paying $10 to $15 an acre for those from which no crop is harvested.

A survey made yesterday in Du Page county shows clearly the efforts of the farmers to readjust their crops this season. It was found that through the northern part of the county, where last year a hailstorm practically annihilated the vegetation, large tracts which have not produced corn before have been planted to corn.

Plow Up Oats, Plant Corn.

A few farmers in other areas also were found to be plowing up their oats, destroyed by the drouth and chinch bugs, and are planting corn or soybeans. The acreage in soybeans will be at least eight times greater this season than ever before in Du Page county.

There are about 102,000 acres of cultivated land in the county, of which 92,566 acres were shown in the last census to have produced harvest crops. This census also showed 8,124 acres of idle or fallow land and 15,716 acres of plowable pasture land. There are slightly more than 1,000 farms in the county, averaging 110 acres each. This spring 408 of these farms have been placed under contract with the agricultural adjustment act to set out a total of 6,000 acres on which no crop can be harvested. The "contract acres" run between 4 and 59 acres a farm.

Miles upon miles of bare ground is showing in the county, it was found yesterday. The soil has been prepared as if for corn, and some of this is in corn, yet most of the cultivated area was found to have been made ready for soybeans or alfalfa. One seedsman in Naperville sold 900 bushels of soybeans for seeding last Saturday alone, or enough to plant 3,000 acres. The highest previous acreage in this crop in Du Page county, last year, was slightly over 1,000 acres and in previous years there have been but 300 to 600 acres in this legume crop.

Hope for AAA Leniency.

The farmers are proceeding on the hunch that the AAA is going to show them leniency in cropping the contract acres because of the drouth's unprecedented damage to all crops here. They are sowing soybeans on most of the contact acres, to plow them under if they are obliged to in order to collect the government rent money, but privately they believe they will be allowed to harvest the beans this fall.

There are 700 dairy herds in the county, which not only utilizes all the feed produced in the county that does not go to horses, sheep, and a few cattle or hogs but requires the purchase of additional feeds. The increase in corn acreage this year, if it materializes, would largely be converted into silage, the farmers report. Normally the county has about 33,000 acres in corn, with yields averaging between 30 and 40 bushels an acre annually.

Other Counties Boost Corn.

In Kendall county the farmers not only are discussing the probability of the AAA permitting them to collect the crops planted on their contracted acres but have gone one step farther.

It was estimated yesterday that 100 bushels of "Wallace corn," a high yielding strain of hybrid corn which the secretary of agriculture has developed in Iowa, were purchased by Kendall county farmers this spring.

One Kendall county farmer who bought the "Wallace corn" for $7 a bushel plus transportation costs from a point in Iowa said he had planted 13 acres with one bushel of this corn and that he had paid for the corn in cash last February, realizing he would get the money back when he signed a contract with the AAA to take some of his land out of production.

At Canton, Ill., it was said at least 20 per cent of the oat crop in Fulton ocunty had been destroyed by chinch bugs. Wheat suffered in the same proportion. Corn, soy beans, and second crop clover have been little affected. On the whole, though, most farm land has been seriously scorched. According to Farm Adviser Watt, the condition of the wheat crop is critical.

Farmers with Scorched Fields Getting Aid on Mortgages

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—The federal government's relief program for droughtstricken states in the middle west and northwest will hit its full stride this week.

Acknowledging the seriousness of the situation in the drouth area, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief director, said today that he hopes to get the special relief measures functioning full blast within a few days. The relief administration will start by buying up cattle to give farmers cash and to relieve the acute lack of pasturage.

To Relax Reduction Action.

At the same time, the agricultural adjustment administration which is to relax its crop reduction contracts in the drouth region, appointed E. W. Sheets, an official in the bureau of animal husbandry, to head the AAA work. He will have as his assistant Philip G. Murphy.

As part of the program to remove live stock and to ship feed into the drouth area, Mr. Hopkins said the relief administration will require that persons holding mortgages on stock fed by the relief administration must agree not to foreclose for two years.

"The alternatives for the mortgagors are either to provide feed for the stock to keep it alive or to foreclose," Mr. Hopkins said. "If foreclosure is made on live stock essential to the independent self-support of needy farmers the federal emergency relief administration will undertake to supply such necessary work stock poultry, and milk cows in its rural rehabilitation program. We shall allow 15 days for creditors and mortgagees to make arrangements for agreements to withhold foreclosure."

Expects Their Coöperation.

Mr. Hopkins said he believed that assurances from the mortgage holders will be readily forthcoming, since "it is to the best interests of all concerned that the farmer be permitted to remain on the farm to have a chance to work out his problems."

It is unlikely, Mr. Hopkins stated, that it would be necessary for the federal emergency relief administration to re-stock any large number of the farms because of failure of mortgagors to make the required agreement.

LINK NEW DEAL EASY MONEY TO GRAFT CHARGES

President Is Forced to Take Action.

Asked for $50,000 Gift.

In the Michigan affair it was disclosed that John Tighe, a tax collector in Collector Abbott's office, approached two officials of the Packard Motor company with a request for $50,000. Hugh J. Ferry, Packard treasurer, said:

"Tighe represented himself as a government agent and that's why I listened to him at all.

"He said Horatio J. Abbott had sent him. He told me that Abbott wanted a contribution of $50,000 from our company to pay the expenses lobbyists in Washington who would get Detroit a larger share of PWA money. He said something about three billions of dollars being spent by the PWA and that Detroit had got only half a million dollars up to that time.

"I told Tighe that Abbott could go to hell; that my job as treasurer of Packard did not include the granting of contributions."

Secretary Also Approached.

M. A. Cudlip, secretary of the company, said Tighe flashed his government identification card and asked him for $50,000.

"He told me," said Mr. Cudlip, "that $30,000 of it would be the Democratic national committee's drawback on the Democratic state central committee. I asked what the other $20,000 would be for and he told me it would be used strictly as a lobbying fund to get more PWA money for Detroit.

"I told him the company would not be interested in such a contribution."

Collector Abbott denied that he had dispatched Tighe to raise any funds

"I do not know what Tighe is up to," he said. "I certainly didn't authorize him to make any collection of this sort, or to use my name in any way. I haven't heard of any drive authorized from Washington that would account for this."

Tighe said he approached Mr. Ferry "on the proposition of raising a fund to establish a Michigan public relations bureau in Washington."

"I never discussed the matter with Abbott," said Tighe. "I did talk to several business men about the advisability of having such a bureau. Some southern states have them and they were getting their full share of PWA funds, while Michigan was far from getting what its people were entitled to get."

Mayor Tells of Levy.

Dr. Freeman B. Hover told how the Democrats levied on the city of Plymouth, Mich., while he was mayor, for a public works handout.

"Frank Larned, who is the Democratic leader in Plymouth, and who I understand now holds some bank examiner's job upstate, suggested to me last December while I was mayor that if Plymouth hoped to receive any federal assistance, financially or through PWA or CWA work, I get in touch with Abbott," Hover declared.

Dr. Hover and a committee called at Abbott's office and met the collector's political secretary, George Woods. Dr. Hover said that Woods mentioned the $30,000 campaign deficit quota assigned to Michigan, and that Woods said Mr. Abbott felt that "if the bill were paid it would be easier to get federal assistance for Michigan, a larger amount of PWA money and CWA work. If you gentlemen would like to help him, it would be easier if you would support him in paying this bill."

A "follow up" man suggested a $500 contribution and Plymouth business men raised $372, which Dr. Hover said was sent at Abbott's direction to Ralph C. Wilson, chairman of the Michigan recovery committee.

Investigation Ordered.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today dispatched Assistant Secretary Stephen B. Gibbons and Wright Matthews, acting assistant to the internal revenue commissioner, to Detroit to investigate the affair. He said that if the charges are sustained as to Abbott and Tighe "there will be no room in the department for them."

Mr. Abbott sent his resignation from the national committee to Postmaster General Farley a few weeks ago, but Mr. Farley said he would not accept it until after congress adjourns.

HARVEY'S FIRE CHIEF IS RESTORED TO HIS JOB BY TOWN BOARD

Fire Marshal William Phebus of Harvey, who has been alternately congratulated and suspended for taking apparatus into Chicago Saturday night to relieve outlying city fire companies so they could fight the stockyards flames, is going back to work this morning, if Mayor Frank Bruggeman and a majority of the town board have anything to say about it.

The mayor ordered Marshal Phebus to go to Chicago Saturday, but when Phebus got back after the fire he was greeted with a notice from E. J. Harris, commissioner of public health and safety, which announced that he was suspended for leaving the city without notifying his superior.

Last night the Harvey board had a meeting and adopted a resolution praising the mayor for sending Marshal Phebus to Chicago and praising Marshal Phebus for going. Then Mayor Bruggeman told the marshal to go back to work and said he wouldn't lose any pay for the two days he has missed.

MONACO LOSES SUIT ON BONDS OF MISSISSIPPI

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Rendering judgment upon a hitherto undecided question, the United States Supreme court today in the case of the Principality of Monaco vs. the State of Mississippi ruled that a foreign state may not sue a state of the Union without the latter's consent.

The suit arose when the principality asked leave to bring suit against Mississippi for payment of $10,000 worth of 6 per cent bonds and $90,000 worth of 5 per cent bonds issued by that state nearly a century ago and subsequently defaulted. The heirs of the bondholders turned them over as a gift to the principality in order that suit might be brought.

May Affect Foreign Debts.

In addition to the legal question involved, the case also touched on the matter of the war debt owed the United States. French interests have sought to make much of this alleged evidence of an American default. The suit and the court's decision also are bound to have a bearing upon the much larger claim of bondholders, chiefly in Great Britain, against several southern states on account of defaulted securities issued prior to, during, and shortly after the civil war.

Chief Justice Hughes rendered the opinion of the court. In disposing of the numerous contentions raised by both sides, he said that the one question necessary of determination was that "not hitherto determined" of whether the Supreme court had jurisdiction to entertain a suit by a foreign state against a state without the latter's consent.

Holds State Must Consent.

Delving into constitutional history and dwelling at length upon the construction placed on section 2, article III by the framers and early interpreters of the constitution, the chief justice concluded as follows:

"As to suits brought by a foreign state, we think that the states of the Union retain the same immunity that they enjoy with respect to suits by individuals whether citizens of the United States or citizens or subjects of a foreign state. The foreign state enjoys a similar sovereign immunity and without her consent may not be sued by a state of the Union."

The opinion pointed out that controversies between a state and a foreign state are not limited to alleged debts, but might well involve a boundary dispute.

Defines National Position.

"It cannot be supposed," the opinion declared, "that it was the intention that a controversy growing out of the action of a state, which involves a matter of national concern and which is said to affect injuriously the interests of a foreign state, or a dispute arising from conflicting claims of a state of the Union and a foreign state as to territorial boundaries, should be taken out of the sphere of international negotiations and adjustments through a resort by the foreign state to a suit under the provisions of section 2 of article III."

Four Bandits Take $1,800 in West Side Shop Holdup

After locking three clerks and the manager in a rear room, four armed bandits escaped with $1,800 yesterday from the R. & S. Shoe store, 1653 West Chicago avenue. The manager, Bert Greenberg, was forced to open the wall safe where the money was kept.

MISS TALMADGE IS WITNESS AT HARRIMAN TRIAL

Film Star Denies She Purchased Stock.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—The blonde Constance Talmadge of the films took the witness stand in federal court today as an accuser of Joseph Wright Harriman and Albert M. Austin.

She was one of the chief prosecution witnesses called to testify about her account in the closed Harriman National Bank and Trust company, of which Harriman was head and Austin vice president.

She appeared in court accompanied by another screen actress, Kathryn Carver, former wife of Adolphe Menjou.

Has $100,000 in Account.

She testified that her deposits up to April, 1932, amounted to nearly $100,000. The account was under her name and that of her mother, Mrs. Marvin L. Talmadge.

The actress denied that she ever purchased any Harriman National bank stock or authorized Harriman or any other officer of the bank to charge her account with $34,312 for such stock. It is alleged her account was juggled to the extent of this $34,312.

Miss Talmadge's account was one of those whose funds the government alleges were juggled by Harriman and Austin in the purchase of the bank's own stock.

Miss Talmadge was summoned from her home in Santa Monica, Cal. Consequently the government owes her 5 cents a mile and $1.50 per day for the distance and the time from Santa Monica to New York and home again Her five or six minute appearance as a witness cost the government about $50 per minute.

The two former bankers are on trial before Judge John C. Knox and a jury on charges of misapplying the bank's funds and concealing its condition from the bank examiners.

Peggy Joyce May Testify.

Another celebrity expected to testify against Harriman and Austin is Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who also was a depositor in the closed bank. She may appear tomorrow.

Seats in the limited spectators' "bleachers" in the courtroom have been at a premium since the trial started. But today they were filled earlier than usual. A number of Harriman trial "fans" were missing from their accustomed places. They had shown up at the usual hour, only to find their seats already taken by celebrity hunters.

Mrs. Mary E. Buckhout, middle-aged executrix of the estate of her late husband, Frank C. Buckhout, related on the stand that she did not authorize the use of $139,000 of the estate's deposit in the bank for purchase of Harriman bank stock.

She disclosed, also, that Bertram L. Krause, counsel for the bank and one of the directors, was executor of her husband's estate.

Harriman and his party, including his white-haired wife, Mrs. Augusta B. Harriman, and his daughter, Mrs. Boykin C. Wright, an attractive blonde with a classical profile, were present in the courtroom.

AUTOGIRO AFIRE; PILOT RISKS LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

New Haven, Conn., May 21.—(AP)—Fred W. [Slim] Soule, 24, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., narrowly escaped death late today when his autogiro burst into flames as he was flying over the center of the city.

With the lives of many persons in jeopardy, Soule risked his own life by remaining at the controls of the ship, guiding it to a point over the inner harbor before abandoning it and "bailing out" with a parachute.

Soule, known as "Slim" in aviation circles because of his close resemblance to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, landed unhurt in the middle of the harbor and was rescued five minutes later. The autogiro, badly damaged, remained afloat in the inner harbor and was towed to the city dock.

Soule asserted the motor of his ship burst into flames as he was towing an advertising sign over the central green at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

What your two weeks'
CALIFORNIA VACATION
will cost

On fast Southern Pacific trains, you can make the roundtrip from Chicago to California and have eleven days of your two weeks' vacation actually in California. An authoritative booklet prepared by California's tourist organizations shows how you can spend these eleven days for as little as $68, including all expenses.

Let's see what the whole trip will cost, including rail fare, meals and everything.

If you travel in a coach or reclining chair car on our Golden State Limited or Overland Limited, your total expenses might be something like this:

Coach Roundtrip . . . $57.35
Meals on Train . . . 11.25
11 Days in California . 68.00
TOTAL $136.60

A tourist sleeping car gives you many of the advantages of Pullman travel (roomy berth, porter service, etc.) for about half the standard Pullman charge. If you travel tourist on Southern Pacific, your expenses would be:

Tourist Roundtrip . . $68.80
Lower Berth Both Ways . 17.00
Meals on Train . . . 11.25
11 Days in California . 68.00
TOTAL $165.05

Standard Roundtrip . . $86.00
Lower Berth Both Ways . 31.50
Meals on Train . . . 11.25
11 Days in California . 68.00
TOTAL $196.75

These are not all-expense tours. They are simply to show you how little a California vacation really costs. You can do it for less, or you can spend more. The estimates for meals are based on the delicious, inexpensive "Meals Select" served on all Southern Pacific dining cars. Please note that there is no extra fare on any Southern Pacific train.

Club cars, dining cars, lounge cars, room cars (compartments, drawing rooms) and observation cars will be air-conditioned on our Golden State Limited, Overland Limited, Sunset Limited and Cascade this summer.

BUILD ON RUINS OF STOCKYARDS; TRADE RESUMED

Body of Fire Hero Found Amid Debris.

O. T. Henkle, vice president and general manager of the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, sat at his desk in an office on the first floor of the Exchange building in the yards yesterday, transacting business. Water dripped from the ceiling in several places. His visitors had to walk through a half inch of water on the floor. The rest of this building, which is a city block wide and eight stories high, was vacant, its interior a wreck.

All around the Exchange building construction was following destruction. To the north, rows of one-story frame shacks had been erected by noon and were occupied by commission merchants. To the south, other rows of temporary offices for other cattle buyers and sellers had sprung up.

The Yards Carries On.

To the south, to the north, to the east and the west, row after row of charred posts remained standing. There had been a fire—an $8,000,000 fire. A section of Chicago's great stockyards had been swept by flames Saturday afternoon and evening. But this was Monday, a workday.

"We're getting along all right," said Mr. Henkle. "As you can see, live stock is coming in from the railroad at the north end. It is being kept temporarily in the chutes there. In ordinary times, of course, every commission merchant has his own pens out there [pointing to the south to a devastated area where only the blackened posts stood], but today they are all working together, coöperating, and the live stock is kept moving."

Figures for the day showed the receipt of 12,000 cattle, 26,000 hogs, and 5,000 sheep. Prices on all three were higher than at the close of the market Saturday.

One Human Life Lost.

One human life was lost in the fire, and only one as far as was known yesterday. The victim was Isaac J. Means, 60 years old, 7662 St. Lawrence avenue, a stockyards watchman.

He turned in one of the first alarms of fire and then remained in an attempt to quench the flames, giving his life to the effort. Means had held better jobs in the yards. His father was one of the early commission men.

Means knew his duty. He had opened the pens in order to save hundreds of cattle. He could have fled after pulling a fire alarm box. But in the two or three minutes which the fire department apparatus needed to get into action Means had work to do and he died doing it. His body was not found until yesterday morning.

Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan learned of Means' death while he was conducting an inquiry into the cause of the fire. He had questioned two of Means' fellow watchmen and had just raised the question of why Means wasn't there to testify when word came that the body had been found.

Decide Cause of the Fire.

Sheehan learned something else. The great Chicago fire of 1871, tradition has it, was started by a cow. The cow kicked over a lantern in a shed. Saturday's fire was not blamed on any of the cows at the yards. It was attributed to a motorist who was driving over the 43d street viaduct and tossed a cigaret butt over the railing and down on a bit of hay in one of the cattle pens along Morgan street.

James Fuller, 6216 South Justine street, and L. W. Preble, 519 West 45th street, watchmen with beats adjoining that of Means, gave the testimony. Both said that the fire started on the ground in one of the cattle pens. Fed by the tinder-dry hays and refuse that covered the ground and fanned by a stiff wind from the southwest, the flames traveled with startling rapidity, Fuller and Preble testified. They fled for their lives after turning in alarms.

Means was in a passageway between pens, they said. Means had shouted to Fuller: "There's a fire." Fuller said he grabbed a fire bucket and wet down the scattered hay in the path of the fire, but declared that the flames spread so fast he was unable to stop them and finally he ran.

Preble said he had frequently seen persons riding in automobiles throw lighted cigarets or cigars from the 43d street viaduct and he was sure this had happened Saturday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock.

Attorney Sheehan's inquiry is to be followed by a coroner's inquest into the death of Means. It was not believed, however, that any witnesses would be found who saw exactly how the $8,000,000 conflagration started.

The city council met during the day to take action regarding the fire. Authority was given for the immediate purchase of 10,000 feet of fire hose, six pumpers and one hook and ladder truck to replace equipment lost in the flames.

The council adopted a resolution introduced by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], which said:

"The fastest spreading fire in the city's history occurred last Saturday in the stockyards, burning an area of perhaps 60 acres.

"Mayor Edward J. Kelly, because of his executive and financial ability had so strengthened the morale of civic employés that they were ready to sacrifice their lives for the protection of the city.

Praise for Mayor Kelly.

"The mayor stayed on the job from 5 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight supervising the work, encouraging the men and cheering them on in their arduous and dangerous task, in addition to radioing a message allaying the fears of the people of Chicago by assuring them the conflagration was under control.

"The fire department never fought more valiantly in its history, standing up against the fire until six engines, one truck and approximately eight miles of hose were burned, forty firemen overcome with heat, smoke and burns, many of the firemen standing up against the blaze until the rubber melted on their coats and boots.

"The police department functioned with high efficiency, keeping thousands away from the danger lines and preventing many accidents.

"The department of public works turned on an extra 100,000,000 gallons of water.

"The health department supplied nurses, doctors and other attendants, and together with the Red Cross and Salvation Army furnished emergency relief stations to aid the injured.

"The city council commends without stint the masterful and inspiring service of Mayor Kelly, the heroic and self-sacrificing work of the firemen, the efficient and capable work of the police, the actively aggressive coöperation of the other departments of the city government, and the loyal support of the public, together with relief organizations, radio stations, and newspapers."

Enterprise Outside Yards.

Outside the stockyards fire victims were showing the same enterprise as those in the yards. The two banks damaged by the flames, the Live Stock National and the Drovers' National, were doing business "as usual." The débris was being removed from other buildings and the dawn of a new era at the stockyards was at hand.

Typical was the action of Ward A. Neff, publisher of the Drovers' Journal, whose building was a 100 per cent loss. He set up new offices, arranged for printing presses and was ready for the next issue.

Rebuilding of the large structures in the yards that were wrecked—including the Exchange building, whose walls still stand although most of the interior was destroyed, and the International amphitheater which was a total loss—awaited the wishes and plans of H. F. Prince, Boston capitalist, one of the principal owners of the stockyards company. He has been in Europe and is due to land in New York today. It was expected he probably would reach Chicago tomorrow.

TWO UTILITIES GIVE $5,000 TO BENEFIT FUND FOR FIREMEN

A check for $5,000, payable to the firemen's benefit fund, was received by Mayor Kelly yesterday from the Commonwealth Edison company and the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, in recognition of the work done by the fire department at the stockyards fire Saturday.

Accompanying the check was a note, signed by James Simpson, chairman, and George Ranney, vice chairman, of the companies. It said:

"The fine work of the fire department should give all property owners a feeling of greater security. This check is in recognition of the splendid and winning fight they put up in defense of untold property values."

ORR'S PORTRAYAL OF FIRE HEROISM TO BE A PAINTING

City Will Perpetuate Tribune Drawing.

The cartoon drawn by Carey Orr and published in yesterday's TRIBUNE, depicting the heroism of the Chicago fire department during the disastrous stock yards fire, will be reproduced as a painting and exhibited to the public, the city council decided yesterday.

"The city council commends the attitude of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in publishing a cartoon which adequately expresses the feeling of the people of the city towards its fire fighting force and its faith in the personnel of the fire department of the city," said a resolution adopted by the aldermen yesterday.

"In order to preserve the cartoon or a picture based thereon as a lasting memento of the brave and efficient work done by the fire department, the mayor is hereby authorized to have a painting in oil, or in some other appropriate medium for a permanent work of art, prepared on the theme portrayed, and cause the same to be placed on exhibition at such public place as may be determined upon by the art commission of the city."

The resolution, which was introduced by Ald. John Toman [23d], authorized the mayor to spend $2,000 for this purpose, the money to be taken from the mayor's contingent fund.

The council also suggested that Fire Commissioner Arthur Seyferlich have a copy of the cartoon placed in every fire station in the city, as an aid to building up the morale of the department as well as commending the many acts of bravery on the part of firemen.

In a second resolution the council commended the people of Chicago, the newspapers, and the radio stations for their coöperation in disseminating news of the conflagration and aiding the fire department by following the instructions sent out.

U. S. CONSIDERS MODEL HOUSING FOR FIRE AREA

Project Is Contingent on Private Plans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—The federal government may build one of its new low cost housing centers in the section of Chicago which was devastated by fire Saturday night.

Public Works administration officials revealed today that Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, head of the Public Works administration, and Col. Horatio B. Hackett, chief of the PWA housing corporation, discussed the possibility of such a project in the fire-swept area.

Federal plans for turning the ruined area into a model housing development are, however, extremely tentative. The chief factor of uncertainty is that the federal officials have not yet learned whether the packing companies and other interested private concerns have plans for the area which would obviate federal aid.

Cheaper to Clear Area.

The nature of the discussion between Secretary Ickes and Col. Hackett could not be ascertained. It is known, however, that public works administration is definitly committed to locating one of its low cost housing projects in Chicago. The fire, officials admit, has created a pressing need for such a program and at the same time opened the door for a considerable saving for the government.

Because the fire has already swept the area, PWA officials point out, the cost of clearing the region for new building would be much lower than the cost of wrecking buildings on any other site which is suitable for low cost dwellings. This potential saving may be the deciding factor in locating the proposed Chicago project.

In addition, the site itself and the class of inhabitants both fit well into the PWA housing program, officials say.

Plan Not to Buck Others.

The government is seeking to place its new structures so that they will be of greatest advantage to working classes.

At present the disposition of the PWA is not to buck any private plans for rehabilitating the fire swept area. If the packing companies or any other interests come forward with plans, the PWA will retire, seeking another location for its Chicago development.

No emergency call for relief funds because of the fire has reached Washington, according to the federal relief administration.

Funds already allocated to Illinois and Chicago apparently are adequate for the time being at least.

DON'T DESTROY PLANTS OR LEAVE PAPER, IS PARK BOARD'S PLEA

An appeal to Chicagoans and visitors to be considerate in their use of the park areas and facilities was made yesterday by Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park board of commissioners.

"It would aid in keeping the park grounds attractive, because of the limited funds available for the parks this summer," said Mr. Dunham, "if those who go to the parks would pick up their papers and be careful of the flowers, shrubs and trees.

"I heartily commend the editorial that appeared in Monday's issue of THE TRIBUNE stating that picnickers ought to be willing to make a special effort to pick up their waste papers. And as for those who enjoy the landscaping, they could aid the park police in preventing the destruction of plants and shrubbery."

TEACHERS' OATH BILL IN NEW YORK MEETS PROTEST

Unexpected Opposition Develops.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Public school teachers of this community in some numbers are registering opposition to an oath of allegiance to the constitution. There is opposition not only among New York teachers but by a parents' organization to a bill now awaiting Gov. Lehman's signature at Albany which would require school teachers to swear to support the federal and state constitutions.

A reporter newly arrived in New York was moved today to visit a few of the city's high schools and to query both students and teachers concerning the reluctance of the latter to take an oath of allegiance.

Student Harangues School Mates.

A slender youth with swarthy features and snapping black eyes was found addressing in a shrill voice a group of students outside of one of New York's largest high schools.

"Don't forget the meeting tonight!" he reminded his auditors and then poured forth, mouthing the somewhat familiar phrases with the inborn love of the true orator, a stirring exhortation:

"We will organize to fight for the workers' rights!" he declared. "Be ready to sacrifice your lives, if necessary, in the glorious struggle. They're calling the reds 'yellow bellies.' Let's show 'em we're real fighters."

His audience listened solemnly. This was good sound stuff, they seemed to agree.

Two teachers who had emerged from the school paused a moment to listen, then passed on, smiling placidly.

Scene Not Unusual.

The scene, if one is to believe statements and impressions gathered in a tour of the schools, was an ordinary one. It may be branded as unimportant and merely illustrative of the accepted theory that young people must let off steam. Its significance may be more visible in view of the teachers' opposition to the bill requiring them to pledge support of the constitution.

The law, introduced some months ago by Irving M. Ives, a Republican assemblyman from Chenango, is a simple one. There are no catches in it. It merely makes legally necessary the taking of an oath to support the constitution of the state and of the United States.

Teachers Are Cautious.

In his visit to the high schools today the reporter found the teachers loath to discuss the situation. It was apparent that one reason for an aversion to the taking of an oath to support the constitution was the fact that it implied the bearing of arms in defense of the nation in time of war. But even the most ardent pacifists among the teaching body were cautious in expressing themselves.

Not so the students whose minds they were engaged in training. Talks with a number of youths revealed a scorn of what used to be known as the old fashioned virtues. Love of country was something to be jeered.

"Morality! Honesty! Loyalty!" sneered one young thinker. "All invented by the capitalists to dupe the workers."

It was obvious that they are thoroughly enjoying themselves. New York may not be excited about the frequent student-communist parades and demonstrations, but the students are. And they did not hesitate, where their teachers were silent, to assert that it would be outrageous to foist an oath of allegiance upon instructors, although they were vague concerning what harm such a tyrannous law would work upon their mentors.

SCHOOLS' ATTORNEY WILL GO TO CAPITAL TO PUSH U. S. LOAN

Richard S. Folsom, attorney for the board of education, will depart for Washington today to pursue his efforts for a $40,000,000 Federal relief loan to pay up the teachers' back salaries. An authorized bond issue for that amount would be put up as collateral or sold directly to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Mr. Folsom expressed optimism over prospects of governmental action. In Washington the school board lawyer will again confer with Illinois senators and with Jesse Jones, head of the RFC.

BOWLER NAMED PUBLIC VEHICLE COMMISSIONER

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] chairman of the city council local transportation committee, was named Chicago's first public vehicle commissioner by Mayor Kelly yesterday. He will submit his resignation as alderman at the next council meeting.

"The new taxicab ordinance is the most progressive piece of legislation ever passed in this field," said Ald. Bowler. "I predict that other cities will copy it. I shall devote my entire time to putting the taxicab business on a high plane in Chicago. At the same time I shall remain available to the people of my ward for the rest of my term. The only thing they will lose is my vote in the council."

Ald. Bowler was first elected to the council in 1906. He has served there continuously, except during Mayor Dever's administration, when he was the city's first commissioner of compensation. At that time, also, he had charge of redistricting Chicago under the 50 ward plan. To demonstrate his fairness he "districted himself out." Ald. Bowler is vice chairman of the powerful finance committee in addition to heading the local transportation group.

Woman Killed by Plunge from Window of Hotel

Miss Hannah Rowe, 60 years old, was killed early today when she fell or leaped from a window of her fourth floor apartment in the Harper Surf hotel at 5426 Harper avenue. Residents of the hotel who heard the crash as she struck the courtyard notified hotel employés. Miss Rowe was taken to the Illinois Central hospital, but was dead. Her brother, Leo Rowe, 6125 Kenwood avenue, said she had been ill for a year.

BLAST HOPE OF RFC LOANS TO PAY TEACHERS

House Group Refuses to Consider Measure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Prospects of federal loans for Chicago's unpaid school teachers reached their highest point in three years today, only to be stifled suddenly by unexpected action of the house banking and currency committee.

By a vote of 23 to 2, the committee refused to sanction a legislative step which would have laid the federal teachers' relief issue fairly before the house tomorrow during consideration of the administration loans to industries bill. By its rejection the committee virtually dashed all hope of RFC loans for school relief, as far as this session is concerned.

Sabath Wins Privilege.

In a determined drive, Representative Adolph J. Sabath, Chicago Democrat, had persuaded the powerful rules committee, of which he is a member, to give an RFC teachers' loan amendment to the loans to industry bill a privileged status on the floor tomorrow. Under the special rule governing the administration measure, committee amendments will not be subject to a point of order.

Having obtained this concession, Mr. Sabath went before the banking and currency committee with a plea that it offer a committee amendment to the industries bill authorizing the Reconstruction Finance corporation to advance loans to school districts. Backing Mr. Sabath in his plea were Representatives James Simpson, Chicago Republican, and Meeks, downstate Democrat, both members of the banking committee. Theirs were the two aye votes cast in favor of the amendment when the question came to a showdown.

Up to Roosevelt, Now.

Unless President Roosevelt will indorse a separate bill authorizing the RFC to devote approximately 75 million dollars of its available funds to advances to school districts, there appeared to be little chance of pushing teachers' legislation through this session.

Refusal of the committee to sanction the teachers' loan amendment on the floor of the house tomorrow was a source of keen disappointment to Representative Sabath and other Illinois members who fought doggedly throughout the day with victory very nearly in their grasp. They saw some irony in the fact that while it disapproved federal funds for teacher aid, the banking committee at the same time authorized RFC loans for New England and Atlantic seaboard fisheries.

FOUNDRYMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Joseph Rancich, 41 years old, 10617 Avenue M, died yesterday in the Jackson Park hospital of burns suffered during the afternoon when he was enveloped by a burst of flame while he was pouring molten metal into a mold in a foundry at 108th street and the Calumet river.

JAMES BALDWIN WILL BE NAMED STATE BAR HEAD

Unopposed on the ticket, James S. Baldwin of Decatur will be named president of the Illinois State Bar association when the fifty-eighth annual meeting of the organization opens at Waukegan on May 31.

Mr. Baldwin will succeed Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of the state Supreme court.

Ballots are being sent in by mail to Harvey C. Coulson, president of the Lake County Bar association, who will preside at the state meeting, and the officers will be announced at the convention.

Unopposed for first vice president is Charles P. Meegan of Chicago; for second vice president, Cairo A. Trimble of Princeton, and for secretary, R. Allan Stephens of Springfield. For third vice president there is a contest between Charles O. Rundall and John F. Vought, both of Chicago, and for treasurer, between Frank Trutter of Springfield and Albert E. Icely of Chicago.

Main speakers at the convention will be Mr. Thompson and R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, of Washington, D. C.

MOVES TO SEEK DR. WYNEKOOP'S RELEASE IN BOND

The first step in a move to secure the release on bond of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop from the women's penitentiary at Dwight, where she is serving a sentence of 25 years for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, was made yesterday in the court of Judge Harry B. Miller. Defense Attorney W. W. Smith presented his bill of exceptions to the court to pave the way for an appeal to the Supreme court.

Attorney Smith announced that he would ask that his client be given her liberty on bond pending appeal. The bill of exceptions, containing 2,000 pages, will be presented to Prosecutor Charles Dougherty next week and the case will be ready for the Supreme court after he has approved the document.

Attorney Smith said that Dr. Wynekoop's children reported her in bad health after visiting her at the penitentiary. Prosecutor Dougherty announced he would oppose any defense attempt to obtain Dr. Wynekoop's release on bond.

A mild cigarette is not necessarily easy on the throat. Like a mild-mannered person, it may be flat, uninteresting and even irritating.
"Smoothness" is mildness with character. A smooth cigarette, like a smooth wine, has everything . . . taste-appeal, mellowness and purity.
Old Gold tobacco is not only mild . . . it has that combination of rich flavor and throat-ease which Nature grows only in her finest queen-leaf Turkish and domestic tobacco. It never taxes the throat or bores the taste.

TEAR GAS ROUTS 400 AT TALK BY NORMAN THOMAS

Political Rival Uses the Latest Methods.

Taylorville, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Tear bombs burst in the air today as Norman Thomas attempted to make a speech, without sanction of city and county officials, on the Christian county courthouse lawn.

Thomas and the Rev. Douglas Anderson of Illiopolis, Methodist minister, who is running for congress on the Socialist ticket, were held in custody as the bombs sent 400 Taylorville citizens scurrying home with smarting eyes. They were released when the gas clouds swirled away.

Thomas, former Socialist candidate for President, arrived here in the morning on a speaking tour through central Illinois in behalf of Anderson. He had sought permission to speak in the city auditorium in Manner park, south of the city. The hall seats 5,000 persons.

"Not 5,000 Interested."

"There aren't 5,000 persons in the state who would listen to you," Mayor J. W. Spresser told Thomas in denying the request.

Thomas and his followers gathered in front of the east entrance of the three story courthouse in the heart of the city known for its embattled coal miners. They overran "keep-off-the-grass" signs. As Thomas mounted the steps preparatory to opening his address he was arrested by Deputy Sherif Joseph Betterton, Republican candidate for sherif.

As Thomas was led into the courthouse members of the crowd jibed Betterton, yelling "Cross-eyed." Betterton mounted to the second floor of the courthouse, took a quick glance at the flag on the pole on the lawn for wind direction, and tossed three tear bombs to the north of the crowd.

A brisk breeze carried the curling smoke off without ill effect to the assemblage. The crowd moved to the south of the building, booing at Betterton. The Rev. Mr. Anderson was arrested as he attempted to speak.

Second Guess Is Better.

As leaders of the throng debated their next move Betterton took another look at the flag and left the building by its north entrance. He circled the crowd and crawled under a parked automobile at the southern fringe of the gathering. There he set off four tear bombs.

Clouds of tear gas enveloped the crowd. Women screamed and men wept. They scattered in all directions and were gone almost before the gas was cleared by the breeze.

ICKES PROMISES PWA AID ONLY TO NON-U. S. WORKS

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Secretary Ickes has promised the house appropriation committee that next year he would not allot additional PWA funds to federal projects, but would confine distribution of the 500 million dollars he expected for next year to municipal and other nonfederal projects.

This removed doubt as to the allocation soon to be made by congress, and it brought about complete harmony between the PWA administrator and those charged with responsibility for the appropriations. Despite this, however, the committee is distrustful of one section in the proposed new 1 billion, 322 million dollar bill for PWA and emergency relief, and intends to put in a limitation in the measure before it is sent to the house.

This section, it was learned today, would authorize the use of PWA of any impounded or surplus funds derived from the RFC or other departments. "We don't know how much the RFC is making and what other federal bureaus are returning money to the treasury," a member said today. "We want to know and we will have Director Douglas of the budget up here to tell us."

M'LAUGHLIN AND PAIR LEAVE FOR TRIAL IN ST. PAUL

Son of Boss Released on $5,000 Bond.

John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, former Democratic politician and legislator, and two other defendants, were taken to St. Paul, Minn., last night where they will be tried on charges of conspiracy in the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker. They are alleged to have handled approximately $53,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for Bremer's release.

Removal of the men was ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan after he had dismissed a writ of habeas corpus issued in their behalf last week. Defense Attorneys Joseph R. Roach and Alfred E. Roth argued that the government had failed to produce sufficient evidence to warant removal.

Son Freed on Bond.

Besides McLaughlin, the defendants taken to St. Paul are William E. Vidler, an ex-convict, and Phil Delaney, a former bartender. McLaughlin's son, John Jr., 17 years old, also accused of conspiracy in the case, posted bond of $5,000 yesterday afternoon and was given his liberty. He will not have to go to St. Paul until the trial date is set. Bond of $50,000 had been fixed for McLaughlin Sr., and bond of $25,000 each for Vidler and Delaney.

To avert any attempt to rescue the three men the hour of their departure was kept secret. They were taken from the federal building about 8:30 o'clock, hurried to a train, and started on their way under the guard of two deputies.

Mrs. McLaughlin in Court.

In the case of young McLaughlin, Attorney Roach declared, there was no evidence to warant the conclusion that the youth knew $35 found in his possession was part of the Bremer ransom. First Assistant United States District Attorney Leo J. Hassenauer held that the government had established probable cause of guilt by producing a certified copy of an indictment returned against the defendants and by establishing their identity.

Mrs. McLaughlin, who has charged that her husband was brutally treated by federal agents, was in the courtroom during the hearing. Federal agents have announced that McLaughlin confessed to handling $53,000 of the ransom money. Mrs. McLaughlin charged that her husband was dangled out of a window by agents who threatened to drop him unless he signed a confession. The charges have been called ridiculous by government authorities.

CHECK INCOMES OF JUDGES UNDER FIRE IN CHICAGO

House May Get Quiz Report Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Experts from the bureau of internal revenue were called before the house judiciary committee today to furnish details of the income tax returns filed in recent years by Federal Judges Charles E. Woodward, James H. Wilkerson, and Walter C. Lindley of Chicago, whose records in receivership and bankruptcy cases are being studied by the committee with a view to possible impeachment action.

The testimony of the tax experts was presented in the secrecy of an executive committee meeting, since, under the law, income tax returns are closed to public inspection and may be revealed only at the specific request of congress or the President.

Others' Returns Inspected.

It was understood, however, that the tax returns filed by "principals" in the Chicago receivership situation, other than the three judges now under fire, were laid before the committee.

When a final decision will be made regarding the action to be taken with respect to the Chicago judges was still a matter of conjecture today. Some members of the committee indicated the deliberations thus far have proceeded no further than a consideration of the evidence regarding Judge Woodward, and if this is the case, a final decision by the committee probably would be delayed for days.

Representative Tom D. McKeown [Dem., Okla.], chairman of the special subcommittee which conducted a year's investigation into Chicago receivership matters, stated, however, that the committee may reach the point of a decision by tomorrow.

Seeks to Speed Action.

Mr. McKeown declared he intends to speed up consideration of the evidence, if possible. He attributed the slowness with which the deliberations are proceeding to the fact that members of the full committee have not acquainted themselves thoroughly with the critical report filed by his subcommittee several days ago.

Neither Mr. McKeown nor other members of the committee would venture an opinion today as to the nature of the action to be taken in the Chicago cases.

Favor New Trial System.

Meanwhile the senate judiciary committee favorably reported a resolution changing the procedure in impeachment trials to provide that a select committee of twelve senators, instead of the entire senate, may hear the evidence brought by the house. The select committee would be appointed by the Vice President, in his capacity as presiding officer, and would be directed to submit the record of evidence to the senate in a certified report.

Senator Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], chairman of the judiciary committee, believes, with other leaders of the higher body, that the proposed change in procedure can be effected without a constitutional amendment.

WILLIE DRUGGAN SETTLES DAMAGE SUIT FOR $3,000

Willie Druggan, brother of the more notorious Terry Druggan, one of the prohibition era "beer barons" yesterday settled for $3,000 a $25,000 damage suit against himself.

The suit had been filed by Martin Mahoney, former city license inspector, who charged that Willie had beaten him over the head with a baseball bat at one time in 1927 when Mahoney questioned him about the absence of a city vehicle tag on his automobile.

The compromise settlement came just as Attorney Elmer M. Walsh, counsel for Mahoney, was about to select a jury in the court of Judge George Fred Rush.

The criminal suit of assault and battery, growing out of the same incident, was in court for nineteen continuances before a total of nine judges before Willie finally won a verdict of not guilty.

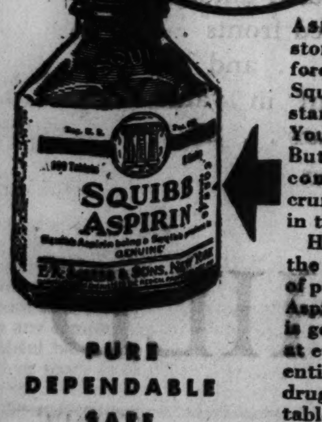
the quick efficacy of genuine aspirin . . . the reliability of the name Squibb



ASPIRIN must pass through the stomach and enter the intestine before it becomes thoroughly effective. Squibb's Aspirin disintegrates instantly when it reaches the stomach. You can rely on it for prompt relief. But because each tablet is firmly compressed, Squibb's does not crumble in the box or leave particles in the mouth.

Hundreds of aspirin brands are on the market. If you want to be sure of purity and safety, ask for Squibb's Aspirin. Being a Squibb Product it is genuine and reliable, safeguarded at every step of manufacture by scientific laboratory control. At all good drug stores. In bottles of 50 and 100 tablets, and handy metal boxes of 12 tablets.

DARROW LASHES NRA CHIEFS AS TOO AUTOCRATIC

Attack on Johnson Splits the New Deal.

identical thing that NRA seeks to eliminate and that the suggestions made in our report are all to the good of that planned control he is hired to defend.

"2. It would be easy, if it were worth while, to go through Mr. Richberg's excited periods and show that in every instance it is he who is 'uninformed,' he that speaks of what he does not know, he who misstates and he that stumbles.

"This board at present has more serious business in hand and business that will have a peculiar interest for Mr. Richberg. It expects to deliver before the end of this week a second report reviewing additional industries in which conditions are even worse than in those that have fevered Mr. Richberg's vision. When his perturbed soul has regained its calm, if ever, we will venture two suggestions to him.

"Better Keep Staf Ready."

"First, it is exceedingly unseemly for a man occupying a public position in this country to assume that the nation is his personal property and any criticism of any national activity is a personal affront. There is nothing in a democracy that is above criticism, not even NRA, and if there could be democracy would cease to exist.

"Second, we should advise him to keep together and well in hand his staf of expert evasionists. When he comes to read the next report of this board it is likely that he will need more than 157 pages to steer around its contents.

"We hope also that in common fairness the next report will not be held seventeen days to give these young gentlemen a chance to read into it things it does not contain and to pervert its meaning by placing things out of their context.

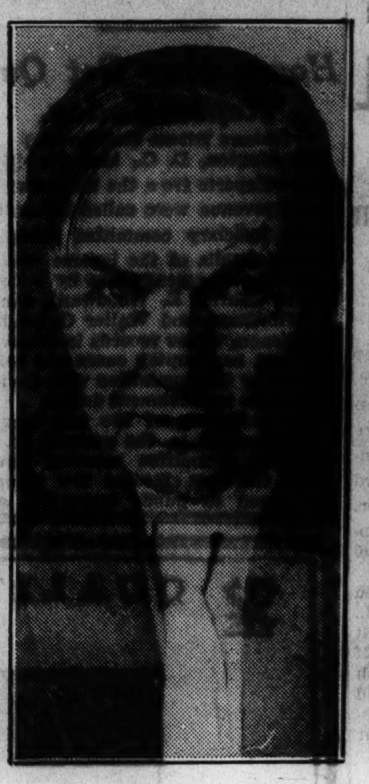
"Finally one question: Does the administration wish to be understood as supporting monopolies? The strange course pursued in regard to this report and some of the explosions from the general and Mr. Richberg might be deemed to justify such a thought. And if the small enterprises whose grievous complaints by the thousands are in the files of this board cannot look to their government for relief, where shall they turn?"

Doctor's Wife Bankrupt; Lists $447,918 Debts

Mrs. Ruth Machler, wife of Dr. F. P. Machler, 537 Forest avenue, Evanston, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court. The petition, filed by the law firm of Rathke & Wesemann, listed liabilities of $447,918 and assets of $42. The liabilities, of which $200,000 is secured by collateral, represented endorsement of real estate notes with Dr. Machler, who was recently discharged from bankruptcy.

THEY TALK ABOUT EACH OTHER

Hugh Johnson says Clarence Darrow is preaching the dogma that "the only hope of the country is the Socialism of Karl Marx and soviet Russia."



Clarence Darrow says Hugh Johnson is "evasive, uninformed" and regards the national recovery program as "personal property."

Donald Richberg of whom Clarence Darrow says "It is too much to expect that in Mr. Richberg's state of turbulent emotion he should see the essential facts about anything."

BAILIFS PICK UP 7 IN STREETS TO GET A MAY JURY

Bailifs were forced to hunt seven men picked up at random in the streets yesterday before the necessary 23 could be assembled in the Criminal Courts building for duty on the May grand jury.

Under the system employed before the recent Supreme court ruling 100 names were drawn from a hat by the jury commissioners and the members of the jury selected from that number. The Supreme court ruled the system illegal, however, and held that but 23 men could be summoned at one time.

Shortage of jurors caused by legal excuses makes it necessary for the bailifs to go into the streets and select the necessary jurors. The seven plucked from the streets yesterday are Paul Jacobsen, 6829 Clyde avenue; Lawrence Casey, 2647 East 78th street; John B. Higgins, 6729 Oglesby avenue; John W. Kelley, 4534 Drexel boulevard; Milton Ohnstein, 2610 South Troy street; Gregg M. Fullerton, 617 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park; and John Clark, 1724 Balmoral avenue.

Vassar Girls May Marry and Continue in College

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 21.—[Special.]—Vassar college no longer objects to married students. This dictum was handed down by Warden Eleanor Dodge in a statement that defines the college's official attitude. In the past, marriage for a student signaled the end of her Vassar career. Secret marriages are frowned upon, but there is no college rule violated so long as a student observes the residence requirements.

WOMAN G. O. P. CHIEF HITS ADMINISTRATION AT POLITICS SCHOOL

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Paul Fitz Simons, Republican national committeewoman from Rhode Island, said today the country faces a "serious emergency" and "we have a more desperate battle to wage than we had in 1776—today the enemy is within our gates."

Speaking at the school of politics of the Woman's National Republican club, Mrs. Simons called President Roosevelt "an astute politician" who "plays upon the gullibility of our citizens."

"The administration," Mrs. Simons charged, "is crucifying all business because some corporations have been dishonest—we tried to eliminate all drinking because some men were drunkards. That is correction taken from the wrong angle."

Fire Wrecks CWA Shanty; Gives South Side a Scare

Fire last night destroyed a CWA shanty at 70th street and St. Louis avenue, in Marquette park. The small wooden structure burned rapidly, and flames shot 100 feet in the air. They were seen by thousands of south siders, many of whom, fearful because of the stockyards conflagration, swamped police and fire stations with telephone calls. Hundreds went to the scene. Capt. Eugene Miller and his men of Engine 88 quickly brought the fire under control. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

ORDER FORBIDS FIRING WITNESS IN CODE CASES

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed an executive order, dated May 15. Under it any employer subject to a code who dismisses or demotes an employé for making a complaint or giving evidence of code violation becomes liable to a $500 fine or six months' imprisonment, or both.

Repeatedly the national labor board has heard employés charge that they had been penalized for giving testimony regarding an alleged code violation.

"No employer subject to a code of fair competition," the President's order said, "approved under said title [the National Recovery act], shall dismiss or demote any employé for making a complaint or giving evidence with respect to an alleged violation of the provisions of any code of fair competition approved under said title.

"All persons are hereby informed that section 10 [a] of the National Industrial Recovery act prescribes a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both, for the violation of any rule or regulation prescribed under the authority of said section 10 [a]."

BULGARIA SPEEDS FORMATION OF FASCIST STATE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 21.—(AP)—Premier Kimon Gueorguieff and his small cabinet worked today on plans for reorganizing the Bulgarian nation along "authoritative" lines.

The cabinet called in a body on King Boris, whose decrees put the Fascist group into power after the bloodless military coup d'état Saturday.

To emphasize the economy plank of their platform, most of the ministers refused motor transportation and strolled through the streets to the royal palace for the meeting with the king.

The city was quiet. Not one of the soldiers who occupied public buildings and guarded streets the day before yesterday was in evidence.

The premier chuckled good naturedly as he greeted newspaper men and photographers on his way to the palace.

He avoided direct discussion of a report that the present small group in charge of the government will step aside as soon as it has completed its reorganization tasks.

"It is our opinion," he said, "to give this country a strong, stable government," adding that the purpose of the coup d'etat was "not to change persons but to change the system."

No Fear Over Macedonia.

The foreign office, meanwhile, refused to take seriously reports from outside the country that there had been disturbances in Macedonia as a result of the change in government. It was made plain the "Zveno" nonpartisan group in control is opposed to the Macedonian movement, and strong measures, if necessary, to crush Macedonia disturbances, were predicted.

One of the first steps in the reorganization of the country will be the creation of a legislative body which will have 100 members, instead of the 274 of the dissolved parliament. Three-fourths of the members will be appointed, thus giving the government unquestionable control.

Thirty officers who were arrested before the coup were stated today to have resigned from the army, and numerous "resignations" of civil officials were predicted.

A program of consolidation, and simplification of government business will throw a large number of functionaries out of work, official sources indicated.

While it was difficult to determine the attitude of the people generally toward the new régime, the general tendency seemed to be to "wait and see" what is accomplished before passing final judgment.

Jugo-Slavia Pleased.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 21.—(AP)—Expressions of satisfaction with the turn of affairs in Bulgaria came today from the Jugo-Slavian press and official circles.

The newspaper Stampa looked upon the coup d'etat as a benefit to Jugo-Slavia, emphasizing the likelihood that the Macedonian movement, long a hinderance to pleasant relations, would be smashed.

The official view generally was the new government has ended Italian influence in Bulgaria and substituted a pro-French policy.

"Jugo-Slavia expects Balkan consolidation to follow the Putsch," said a foreign office spokesman.

Greeks Are Alarmed.

Athens, May 21.—(AP)—Apprehension over the future course of the new Bulgarian government was expressed by the Greek press today. Fears that the new régime at Sofia may seek treaty revisions and thus stir up strife in the Balkans were heard, and the government press referred to the timeliness of the recent four power Balkan security pact.

Greece, Rumania, Turkey, and Jugo-Slavia signed the pact in February, guaranteeing the the territorial security of the four countries for ten years.

ACT TO ABOLISH ELECTORAL VOTE LOSES IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the antiquated electoral college fell a few votes short in the senate today, but its author, Senator George W. Norris, announced he would put it to another test probably tomorrow.

Nebraska's modernizer of the constitution, who wrote the 20th amendment abolishing "lame duck" sessions of congress, was confident the amendment would be approved and his friends said it was only rejected today because of the absence of many of its supporters.

The senate voted, 42 to 24, for the amendment, but this was a little short of the two-thirds required to submit a constitutional amendment to the states. The vote would have been 43 to 23, but Norris changed his vote at the last minute to be in a position to ask for a reconsideration.

After the roll call was completed Senators Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] and Henry D. Hatfield [Rep., W. Va.] cast the two negative ballots which resulted in its defeat.

Killed by Exhaust Fumes as He Works on His Auto

Anton P. Fiedler, 58 years old, a retired tassel manufacturer, was fatally overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of his car in the garage in the rear of his home at 617 Arlington place last night. From notes found near him describing various checkups to be made on the car it was apparent, police said, that he was working on repairs and was accidentally killed. Fiedler was found by his wife, Sofia.

DOCTOR IS SHOT DEAD IN PARKED AUTO BY DEPUTY

Detroit, Mich., May 21.—[Special.]—While sitting in the rear seat of his automobile at the Twelve Mile and Schoenheer roads near the city limits of Detroit, Dr. D. W. Johnson Jr., a Wayne county medical examiner, was shot and killed by Mathew Berger, a special Macomb county deputy sherif.

Berger, in a statement, said he fired accidentally as he neared the automobile in which Dr. Johnson was seated with Anne Nixon, 194 East Grand boulevard, after he fired twice in the air as a warning.

Miss Nixon, a stenographer in the county auditor's office, and a sister of Madeline Nixon, a nurse to whom Dr. Johnson was engaged, said she heard four shots and was sure they were given no warning.

FIERCE FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN JUNGLE CONFLICT

Chaco Armies Face to Face on 25 Mile Front.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, May 21.—(AP)—Heavy fighting broke out on two sectors of the Chaco front today while the flowers of the Bolivian and Paraguayan armies massed across a mile wide plain at Fort Ballivian for what many believe will be the decisive battle of the jungle war.

Communiques given out in the capitals of each of the warring countries this evening announced clashes for possession of the fiercely contested "strongest" and "canada" zones. Neither mentioned initiation of the major conflict which has been brewing for weeks at Fort Ballivian.

A Paraguayan announcement declared conditions in the regions where fighting is going on were "highly favorable" to the Paraguayan troops. The Bolivian communique said the Paraguayans had achieved "no results" in an offensive on the strongest front.

40,000 Paraguayans at Front.

Forty thousand Paraguayan troops are massed along a 25 mile line facing Fort Ballivian, major Bolivian stronghold. The most formidable array of artillery that has been brought into play since the war started was concentrated there.

The line runs along the edge of the Chaco forests. Between it and the Bolivian fortress is a mile of open ground over which the Paraguayans must sweep if they hope to win the battle.

Bolivia has at least 15,000 men in the fortress and entrenched along its sides. She is making a desperate effort to get up reinforcements before the Paraguayans attack.

Her inferiority in numbers is offset greatly by the strategic value of the position. The defenders command the entire plain with their machine guns and light artillery.

Launch "Feeler" Attack.

The crucial struggle came near getting under way yesterday when the Bolivians launched a "feeler" attack against the Paraguayan line. They were repulsed with a reported loss of 200 men.

The Bolivian front extends from the Pilcomayo river inward through the Chaco. Paraguay's most able commander, Col. Franco, is at the front at the head of two divisions.

Bolivian planes have been attempting to hamper the Paraguayan concentration by swooping down on supply trains and raking them with their machine guns.

Rival Kings in Arab War May Sign Peace Pact Today

CAIRO, Egypt, May 21.—(AP)—Reports reaching here from Yemen said that a peace treaty between King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia and the Imam Yahya, ruler of Yemen, is expected to be signed tomorrow. Representatives of the two rulers have been conducting peace negotiations for more than a week after fighting was suspended by a truce.

LEVIES NEW TAX ON INTANGIBLES OF CORPORATIONS

Assessor Follows a Law Long Overlooked.

The Cook county assessor, it was learned yesterday, is levying taxes for the first time on franchises, patents, trade rights, contracts, and good will of corporations. Assessor J. L. Jacobs has ordered the value of these intangible items added to the personal property tax books for 1933. He said he is following a law long ignored or overlooked by assessors throughout the state.

The yardstick of measurement of these intangibles is to be excess income. Income above 7 per cent is to be considered excess. This excess figure, capitalized, is to represent the total value of the new assessable items for any given company.

Just what the capitalization rate will be is now being worked out by Assessor Jacobs. The Illinois tax commission suggested that it be a flat rate of 7 per cent, but the assessor is seeking a flexible rate to fit different types of corporations which have varying financial risks.

Sees Great Valuation Increase.

The assessor declined to estimate how much in valuation his plan would add to the personal property tax rolls. But his assistant, Joseph R. Petrie, who is in charge of the work, said the sum would be "very substantial, running into millions."

As an example Mr. Petrie cited the case of one corporation which on the assessor's reckoning had an "excess income" of $2,800,000 last year. Under a 7 per cent capitalization rate this figure would represent 7 per cent of the full value of the company's special rights and good will. The full value would be $40,000,000.

Applying the 37 per cent equalization factor, the assessed valuation would be $14,800,000. And at the average $7 tax rate for every $100 of assessed valuation, the tax to be paid would be $1,036,000.

In the county there are 26,000 corporations assessable by the county assessor. It has been found, it was declared, that 10 per cent of the 26,000 had "excess income" during 1933. These 2,600 companies would be subject to the new tax.

Cites Supreme Court Ruling.

"It has been held by the Illinois Supreme court that intangibles such as trade rights and good will constitute property with a value definitely assessable under certain conditions, unless expressly exempted by the statutes," said Mr. Jacobs.

"Local assessors long have shied away from adding this abstract class of property to the tax rolls. One reason was that the state laws never prescribed any specific procedure of determining the monopolistic advantages giving special financial returns to a corporation.

"Another is that the average county assessor, elected on the basis of popular appeal rather than on the basis of his technical qualifications, was intimidated by the intricacies of the problem presented. A third is that it was politically expedient to overlook such a field."

NEWSBOYS BURN PAPERS; STRIKE IN CLEVELAND, O.

Cleveland, O., May 21.—[Special.]—Newsboys went out on strike in Cleveland today and thousands of copies of the Plain Dealer, Press, and News, the city's three dailies, were torn up and burned on street corners when trucks attempted to make deliveries. The newsboys are demanding $1.50 a hundred for selling papers. They are now paid 85 cents for morning papers and 75 cents for afternoon papers.

When trucks unloaded newspapers at intersections where men had been employed to sell them, hundreds of the striking newsies attacked the drivers, pulled off the papers and burned them in the streets.

No attempt was made to halt house deliveries today, but it was reported that an attempt will be made tomorrow to get the carriers to join in the walkout.

Several boys who attempted to sell papers on downtown streets were mauled by the strikers and their papers destroyed.

Stranded Boat Holds Up Wabash Avenue Trafic

Trafic over the new Wabash avenue bridge was halted for ten minutes early last night, after the freighter Mariposa of the Buckeye Steamship company lines was held up by mechanical trouble just east of the bridge. Later the freighter was towed down the river by a tug.

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was erroneously stated in The Tribune yesterday that the party at the Streets of Paris concession at the World's Fair Saturday, for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, would not be open to the public. Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, president of the society, states that the attendance of every one is solicited. Among the guests will be Gov. Henry Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes.

The notice of the annual banquet of the Juniors of the Glenola Woman's club which appeared in the Metropolitan section on Sunday omitted the place of meeting. The banquet will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday evening at the Orrington hotel, Evanston.

Forecast Increase in Tax Rates for 1933 and 1934

Tax rates in Chicago for 1933 will be higher than those for 1932 despite the use of sales tax revenues to abate the 1933 general property tax of the state, according to a bulletin issued yesterday by the Civic federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the organization, has calculated the increase at 12 to 16 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation, the amount varying in different parts of the city. It will be due, he said, to the reduction in valuations resulting from the 15 per cent cut for single residences and small flat buildings. This reduction will make higher rates necessary, he declared, in order to produce the fixed amounts levied for bond and interest charges and for the Chicago school educational fund.

"Rate increases for 1933," the bulletin said, "apparently will curtail the degree of reduction by which it was anticipated the small properties would benefit, and will add somewhat to tax bills for the larger properties."

Other Increases Predicted.

Further minor increases are predicted in the bulletin for 1934 rates over those of 1933 with the exception of the Lincoln park district, for which a slight decrease is foreseen. The 1934 situation will be greatly aggravated, however, according to the bulletin, unless the sales tax is continued beyond July 1, 1935, and the $30,000,000 emergency relief bond issue is approved by the voters in November.

"Unless the state tax rate board is assured by legislative action prior to Dec. 1, 1934, that the sales tax revenues will be available for all of 1935 requirements, it will be necessary to levy a state-wide property tax for 1934," the bulletin said.

"Even if there should be neither failure nor diversion of the sales tax revenues, there is still danger of a state tax rate for 1934, which it is estimated may be 63 cents on each $100 of valuation, unless the pending emergency relief bond issue is overwhelmingly adopted at the November election. Approval and sale of the bonds, which will be financed from the gasoline tax, will pay off the $28,500,000 state tax warants that have been issued."

Increased Levies in Prospect.

The estimated increases in rates for 1934 over 1933, even though the bond issue is approved and the sales tax continued, are based upon increased bond and interest levies by the sanitary district, school board, and south parks, and increased levies for county corporate and highway purposes, city police and firemen pensions, and school free textbook, building, and teachers' pension funds.

To assure the state tax rate board by Dec. 1 that the operation of the sales tax will be continued beyond July 1, 1935, will require a special session of the legislature. Gov. Horner was urged yesterday by the executive committee of the Chicago Recovery administration to call a special session for that purpose.

The committee also requested the governor to make the call broad enough to include submission to the legislature of an amendment to the revenue article of the state constitution.

The committee members, however, could not agree on the provisions they would like to include in the amendment. A vote on whether a recommendation should be made for a tax rate limitation of 1 or 1½ per cent of full valuation was postponed until next week.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday, including those for 1932, were $440,509, making a total of $171,199,794 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda tax receivership act began, April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
May 21	$ 11,752	$ 59,094
Uncollected	14,286,311	38,578,816
	1930.	1931.
May 21	$ 59,837	$ 130,430
Uncollected	61,863,694	55,333,329

The day's collections of 1932 real estate taxes totaled $179,396; of 1931 personal property taxes, $19,195, and of 1932 personal property taxes, $21,465.

BOYS, 14, STEAL 6 CARS; JOYRIDES END UP IN CELL

Did It for Fun, Says School Student.

A Sunday joyride in six stolen automobiles ended in cells in the Juvenile home yesterday for two 14 year old boys, who were under supervision of the Juvenile court for a previous auto theft. The boys are Gordon Jacobson, 4429 North Whipple street, a student in the Von Stueben grammar school, and Charles Warnecke, 4725 North Sawyer avenue.

The boys were arrested Sunday afternoon by a police squad of the Albany Park station when they were riding in a stolen automobile at Lawrence and Spaulding avenues. They confessed the car was the sixth they had stolen during the day "just for a ride."

Just Wanted to Ride.

"We did not want to steal the cars except to take a ride," Jacobson said. "We had no intention of selling the cars. We took a car and ran it until the gas was low and then found another car. We changed six times in the day."

The boys, who directed police to three of the stolen cars, said they had been placed under supervision of the Juvenile court last March 12 for the stealing of an auto March 2. They were turned over to the state's attorney's office for questioning by assistants in charge of the war on auto thefts and then sent to the Juvenile court.

Judge Frank H. Bicek, who is presiding in the court, conducted an investigation. After questioning the staf he decided their original probation action was justified.

"The boys had no previous record when they were brought before my assistant, James H. Poage, last March 12," the judge said. "The principal of the school Jacobson attended recommended that the youth be given a second chance.

Followed Customary Rule.

"He was placed under supervision with his companion. It is our custom to place first offenders under supervision for a time to see whether probation might be given. If they fail to mend their ways under supervision, they can be punished under the original charge."

The boys will be tried after an examination by the juvenile research clinic.

Wayne Eaton, 14 years old, and Richard Dare, 16 years old, both of Davenport, Ia., were held to the federal grand jury on charges of violating the act governing interstate commerce in stolen automobiles by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

EMPLOYES OF CITY TO GET CHECKS FOR LAST HALF OF MARCH

City employés will receive checks for the last half of March either today or tomorrow. The pay day, the second in 10 days, was to have been declared yesterday, but was postponed pending completion of routine details in the sale of $10,000,000 in city securities last Thursday.

The bond sale, at prices of 101 and 101¼, netted the city a profit of $107,500. This was the first time in years that city securities have been sold above par and reflected the improved financial position under Mayor Kelly's administration.

NRA PRICE FIXED BIDS SUBMITTED TO COUNTY BOARD

Competition Is Eliminated by Codes.

The county board finance committee yesterday approved a contract for the purchase of several thousand dollars worth of X-ray film for use in the Oak Forest infirmary. Four concerns had submitted bids. With the exception that some of the bidders had knocked off fractional cents on the price per dozen, the bids were identical.

They were made so, county officials said they were assured by the bidders, by price fixing provisions in the code governing the photographic industry under the National Recovery act. The prices yesterday ranged from $2.38 to $7.25 a dozen plates, according to the size. This was 15 per cent higher than the prices paid last year by the county when it bought under competitive bidding.

Many Other Examples.

The X-ray film case was but one of numerous examples which purchasing officials of local governments were gathering yesterday to show how NRA codes, which reduce competitive bidding to a meaningless technicality through their price fixing provisions, are laying additional burdens for government operative expenses upon Chicago taxpayers.

This added cost has been estimated at $2,000,000 for the city of Chicago alone. Paul V. Betters, executive secretary of the United States Conference of Mayors, has estimated it at $140,000,000 for the 300 larger municipalities in the country.

Mayor Kelly and Mr. Betters have both recommended that municipalities and other governmental subdivisions be exempt from the provisions of the codes in their purchase of supplies. Evidence that the NRA authorities are giving heed to such recommendations was forthcoming last week, when Joseph W. Nicholson, consulting member of the NRA consumers' advisory board, wrote to several governments asking them to submit specific cases in which there is a presumption of collusion by bidders under NRA codes.

Hewitt Compiles List.

Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt, whose department purchases the bulk of the city's supplies, was compiling such a list yesterday. Howard Savage, business manager of the board of education, was compiling another on school purchases. Frank Chambers, county superintendent of public service, cited several other instances besides that of the X-ray film which have come to his attention. Harry A. Wallace, purchasing agent for the sanitary district, said he had noted an increase of identical bids on supply contracts since the codes went into effect.

Mr. Chambers referred to two sets of bids received by the county recently on envelopes. The bids, from the four leading dealers of the city, were identical in each case, and he was assured that this was because of the NRA code for that industry, he said. Prices, he estimated, were roughly 50 per cent higher than those of last year.

Last July, Mr. Chambers said, the county, after rejecting two previous sets of bids for cement, got bids of $2 a barrel for delivery by rail. This year eight firms submitted identical bids ranging from $2.25 to $2.30 a barrel, according to the point of delivery.

Commissioner Hewitt has been conducting a campaign for months to get lower bids on cement purchased by the city. The state and county governments are able to buy cement direct from manufacturers, but since 1918 the manufacturers have refused to bid on city contracts, making it necessary for the city to purchase from distributors at an added cost of 15 cents a barrel.

EX-TREASURER HINZ GRANTED PROBATION BY ROCKFORD JUDGE

Rockford, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—E. J. Hinz, 32, former Rockford city treasurer who on Monday pleaded guilty to four counts of withholding public funds amounting to $12,330, today was granted probation by Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff.

Judge Shurtleff commended Hinz for his action in going voluntarily before the city council finance committee last fall to confess his theft and he criticized city officials for the manner in which they handled their financial affairs. No audit of city books, he said, had been made since 1916, and he pointed out that the manner in which city funds were handled may have been largely responsible for Hinz committing the embezzlement.

The judge condemned also the manner which the city up to last year allowed banks to take turns in handling municipal funds by permitting them to place one of their employés up for election as city treasurer to serve merely as a figurehead without pay while the banks profited by the interest on the money. Hinz was elected treasurer in 1931 in this manner just a month before the bank with which he was connected closed.

Judge Shurtleff suggested that the city bring suit against the directors of the closed Manufacturers National bank who signed Hinz' bond in 1931, stating that they had never been released from that obligation.

JAPANESE ENVOY STATES NATION'S STAND FOR PEACE

Hirosi Saito, Japan's slight, youthful ambassador to the United States, asserted here last evening that the traditional aim of his nation was universal peace, and stated that the war rumors involving his country were "baseless poppycock affairs."

The recent enunciation of Japan's foreign policy by Minister Hirota, he asserted, was "in the nature of a preventative measure taken only in a diplomatic way and not . . . as a warning of pending action by us." The establishment of the Manchukuo state was "not aggression but self-defense."

Here on 3 Day Visit.

All these statements were made during the ambassador's speech at the Army and Navy club where he was the chief guest at a dinner given by the club and the Japan-American society. He arrived in Chicago at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a three day visit before returning to the Japanese embassy in Washington, D. C.

In clipped, Oxford English the ambassador made his points and scored them with graceful gestures of his hands. Admitting that there was misunderstanding and even suspicion between the United States and Japan, he avowed that it exisited only because this country "does not understand Japan's real aim in eastern Asia."

Explains Manchurian Situation.

Ambassador Saito's explanation of "Why the Manchurian Affair?" follows:

"In Manchuria Japan has vital interests. We have often called that country the lifeline of Japan. So long as Manchuria was friendly to us and respected our important treaty rights and interests we were quite satisfied. That attitude was wrongly taken as a sign of weakness [by the Chinese] and when the war lord ruling that country . . . menaced lives and property of Japanese residents we had to take action.

"That was not aggression but self-defense. It is therefore a great mistake to say that Japan was carried away by the militarists in the Manchurian incident."

Japan wants peace with the United States, the ambassador said. His country does not desire the acquisition of the Philippines nor any other territory which might lead to war, he said. Such rumors are "baseless poppycock," he asserted. Japan's real policy, said he, is for the establishment of law and order, and prosperity throughout the east.

Backs Open Door Doctrine.

Concerning the so-called "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine," the ambassador quoted Minister Hirota, saying: "Japan has no intention to trepass upon the rights of outer powers in China. Their bona fide financial and commercial activities will rebound to the benefit of China, which is quite welcome to Japan. She, of course, subscribes to the principles of the open door and equal opportunity in China. She is observing scrupulously all existing treaties and agreements concerning that country.

"What we cannot endure from foreigners," he concluded, "is the furthering of sinister motives by those who in trying to get private gain cause unrest."

Asked if he referred to the sale of arms to China, the ambassador said that he did. He stated that Japan did not intend to prohibit such sales but merely "to see that they did not fall into irresponsible hands."

Attends Luncheon Today.

The ambassador attended by Commander Yoshiyuki Itimiya, assistant naval attaché; Capt. Gyuro Nuckanura, military attaché, and Shiroshicki Kimura, legation secretary, will make his headquarters during his visit at the Drake hotel. He will attend a luncheon at the Blackstone hotel, given by the acting Japanese consul, Kenji Nakauchi, today.

After arriving yesterday he visited Mayor Kelly, and expressed sympathy for the losses incurred through the stockyards fire. Mayor Kelly also received a cablegram from the mayor of Tokio, expressing sympathy.

JAPAN SEIZES 736 COMMUNISTS; BARES TORTURE CHARGES

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, May 21.—The Tokio police released tonight the particulars of another communist roundup, in which 736 were arrested. Fifty-three of these have been committed for trial. Among the offenses alleged are the murder of one communist suspected of being an informer and the torturing of others.

Efforts to reorganize the party began in October, but when it was seen police were well informed, suspicion was directed against several worker members who had obtained admittance to the central committee on the plea that it contained too many intellectuals.

The intellectuals proceeded to try the suspects. One, who had been treasurer, is alleged to have been killed after his thighs were pierced with an augur and sulphuric acid was poured into the wounds. The groans of another who had been a member of the central committee, heard from a supposedly untenanted house, attracted a passing policeman who found him bound and surrounded by an armed group which was forcing him to sign a letter saying he intended to commit suicide. Another imprisoned in a printing shop cellar escaped and fled to police headquarters.

BRITAIN TO FIGHT JAPAN'S SCHEME TO RULE PACIFIC

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 21.—The British reaction to the Japanese government's determination to abandon the naval ratio principle at next year's naval conference is unanimous to the extent that this country will not tolerate Japanese supremacy in the Pacific.

It is also realized that something less than absolute mathematical parity but more than the existing 5-5-3 ratio would give such supremacy to Japan so far as the eastern coast of Asia is concerned. She would have the advantage of always operating in or near her home waters with her entire sea power quickly available.

Nobody in the British government or the navy wants that to happen, especially not before the Singapore naval base is completed. At the present rate of construction that completion is still four or five years off.

Despite unanimous official recognition of the fact that Japan probably means what she says and must eventually be dissuaded or blocked, there are, however, two opinions in the British cabinet as to what is the most immediate problem.

Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, for political reasons and because of the now notorious tenderness of his policy toward Japan, wants to go the limit to avoid offending that country in naval matters. Neville Chamberlain,, chancellor of the exchequer, because of his desire to carry out a long term treasury policy for the reduction of taxation, is equally anxious to avoid friction, because heavy naval construction would ruin his program of national finance.

These two ministers do not want to begin a fresh political quarrel over fleets with Japan right on top of the trade war that Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, started a fortnight ago by quota restrictions on Japanese textile exports to British colonies.

Tories Support Simon.

There is, moreover, considerable support for Simon's friendliness toward Japan among Conservative die-hards in the house of commons who would give the Tokio government a free hand in China and applaud any move it might make against Russia.

But that sentiment is not unmixed with fear that if this country offends Japan her emissaries may stir up added troubles for the British in India.

The British admiralty, however, is thinking chiefly of ships and guns with reference to the far east. The most recent tangible indication of this came last November when Sir Bolton M. Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, announced a change in his cruiser construction program to substitute two ships twice as powerful as those originally planned.

He attributed the change at the time to the fact that Japan was building larger cruisers and told parliament the British navy must not be placed in a position of inferiority in the Pacific. That is still the admiralty policy. It will mean a naval armament race if Japan persists in abandoning the ratio principles.

Expect U. S. to Follow Suit.

It is assumed the United States will react in exactly the same way to any proposal by Japan to increase her relative strength. In other words, London and Washington would say to Tokio in substance:

"Go ahead, if you insist, and we will build against you to preserve the present proportions and, as the British and the American resources are greater than yours, Japan will go bankrupt first."

H. L. Roosevelt, Assistant Navy Chief, in Virgin Isles

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, May 21.—(AP)—Henry L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, came here today on the United States cruiser Louisville. His visit revived reports that the Virgin Islands may be returned to the navy's jurisdiction.

SENTENCE EDITOR FOR PUBLISHING A FALSE RUMOR

Asheville, N. C., May 21.—(AP)—Harold H. Thoms, publisher of the Asheville Advocate, weekly newspaper, and Gus Togerson, editor, pleaded guilty tonight in police court to three charges of violation of a statute relating to "publishing unsigned derogatory charges concerning candidates" and were fined by Judge Sam M. Cathey.

Thoms was fined $600 and the costs on two counts and given a sentence of 12 months on the roads, execution to issue within two years on motion of court. Torgerson was fined $100 and the costs and a 12 months' sentence.

State witnesses denied they had participated in or heard of a conference at which plans were said by the newspaper to have been made for a "slush fund" of $5,000 to $10,000 with which to back certain candidates in the June 2 Democratic primary.

6,500 MEN RUSH FINAL TOUCHES ON GREATER FAIR

New Exposition to Be 90% Complete for Opening.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A tour of A Century of Progress Exposition grounds yesterday revealed a scene of feverish activity in which an estimated 6,500 workmen, who are occupied night and day in three shifts, put the finishing touches on the new foreign villages, set out shrubbery, installed exhibits, and carried out refuse. The Fair will open next Saturday morning.

Fair officials recalled that five days before last year's opening there was a wilderness of construction which appeared hopelessly far from completion, and said that in contrast the Exposition would be at least 90 per cent completed when the gates open at 9 o'clock Saturday.

Dominant New Structures.

Dominating the scene yesterday were the new structures which will afford a greater variety of free shows to World's Fair visitors. There is the Ford building and its Ford park, where the shell is completed, and from which the Detroit Symphony orchestra will play.

Then there is Swift bridge at 23d street, where another white shell, complete and glistening in the sunlight, will shelter the Chicago Symphony orchestra, as part of the Swift show. It is among the chief new structures in the center of the grounds.

At the north end workmen pounded away on the foundation system of pipes in the lagoon which will be the basis for the great two blocks long illuminated fountain behind the Administration building.

As the visitor travels southward from the 12th street entrance (the public is presently barred from the grounds), the triumph of the 1934 Fair's color effects at once begins to unfold. This color effect is a combination of a shade variously known as magenta, crushed raspberries, strawberry rose, purple red, or red purple, the choice among guides being "magenta," and a less subtle shade, a bright red which has no other name.

Red Coloring Predominates.

The Avenue of Flags reveals flag standards of magenta and light standards of the red. The Sears, Roebuck & Co. official host building, to the right of the avenue's entrance, is trimmed in the red, and the Administration building near by is chiefly white and magenta.

Elsewhere throughout the grounds this combination of magenta and red occurs startlingly at intervals, until after the visitor has traveled around the grounds and reached the Wonder Bakery building on the iland—which is solidly red, magenta, and white—he "honestly likes it," according to the guides, who know everything, just as they did in 1933.

"The whole color effect," said one guide, "is designed to bring the buildings close to you. It does. They jump across the lagoon at you, so to speak. The idea, as I see it, is to make the Exposition more compact, so the visitor won't feel he has to walk miles and miles before he gets to the Chrysler building from the Federal building, for example. It works, too, and I'll bet there will be fewer ladies complaining about sore feet this year, just on account of the colors."

Bustling Activity Everywhere.

On all sides the visitor observed bustling activity. A new permanent stage in the lagoon where the floating theater was last year was nearing completion. It is being built by Thompson Restaurants. Here A Century of Progress will conduct free wrestling matches, choral concerts and other entertainment.

To the southward, Italia, the Italian government's official building, was getting a new coat of paint. The Fascist government's official exhibit showing the art, industry, wines and food of the county will be "completed and working" on the opening day, Commander Luigi Raniera, royal vice commissioner and general director of the exhibit, said.

Across the way, Sweden was being brightened up with a greener yellow than the shade familiar to Sweden's visitors last year. Next door, Czechoslovakia's building was undergoing considerable change. It will be a bright red, the same red, perhaps, as that used elsewhere in combination with magenta.

Exteriors 30 Per Cent White.

At the south end of the Avenue of Flags the entrance to the Hall of Science stands out in magenta and white, while other sides of the building are largely white, green and yellow. Thirty per cent of all building exteriors are white.

The incubator babies will be back in a newly painted white home, and to the south, its exterior just as chastely white, with a neat blue trim, Streets of Paris was undergoing considerable change.

Stately Palms of Concrete.

Further south the old A. & P. carnival landmark has given way to a Hawaiian garden setting. The numerous trunks of cement palm trees stood about while workmen tramped among them, and the fronds for the tops waited in a heap elsewhere.

Whistling "Rhapsody in Blue," a painter balanced atop a ladder and painted a portly old German serving a mug of beer over the entrance to "Old Heidelberg." In the rear an outdoor beer garden is under construction.

In the Italian village, one of 14 foreign villages which are situated where the Midway was last year, workmen in large numbers were busy on the old Roman ruins and other antique structures.

Tunisia, another village, appeared a white desert expanse peopled by carpenters, painters, riveters, and such—instead of the Arabs who will abound there after the Fair gates open. The wall around the Spanish village, which realistically represents the native sandstone of Spain, was completed and the interior near completion.

Nail Down Icicles.

In the Colonial village a workman sitting on a balustrade of the balcony of the village hall laid down a paint brush and hoisted a bottle of milk at lunch time.

In the German Black Forest village to the south two men put the finishing touches of icicles on the rooftops, nailing them on securely while the perspiration trickled down their cheeks.

Spirited Civic Booster Rally Points to Big Fair Success

Enthusiastic Chicagoans, undeterred by rain, packed the Chicago Stadium on Madison street last night at a booster rally for the 1934 Century of Progress, which opens next Saturday.

In the opinions of Gov. Henry Horner, Mayor Kelly, and Rufus Dawes, president of the Exposition, the spirit of the crowd augured well for the success of this year's Fair. Similar opinions were expressed by members of the Keep Chicago Ahead committee which sponsored the affair, and which, during recent months, has been conducting a campaign boosting the Exposition to the rest of the nation.

Get Sample of Fair Talent.

The capacity audience spent four hours in the Stadium—from 8 o'clock to midnight, during which they heard speeches by the governor, the mayor and Mr. Dawes, and beheld a fast moving panorama of entertainment which, they were told, was but a sample of what the Exposition will offer on a larger scale. In this entertainment presentation Chicago's leading theaters, hotels, night clubs and radio stations furnished headline talent.

Among the luminaries who appeared on the huge stage set up at one end of the Stadium was Mme. Schumann-Heink, famous singer. She was warmly cheered. Mme. Schumann-Heink did not sing, but addressed a few words to the audience.

A Galaxy of Entertainers.

There were cheers for Joe Howard, singer and composer; Amos 'n' Andy, radio team, and for the various actors who will be seen at Fair concessions this summer. A company of midgets who appeared at the Midget village last year and will be on the job again this year, got a big hand, as did the Oukrainsky dancers from the Mexican village. Orchestra leaders and orchestras galore did their bit. Among the leaders were Ted Weems, Seymour Simons, Clyde Lucas, Anson Weeks, Frankie Masters, Clyde McCoy, and Dan Russo. All were introduced by R. J. Dunham, president of the new consolidated park district, who acted as chairman.

Gov. Horner in his speech predicted great success for the 1934 Fair. It will be the greatest the world has ever seen, he said. He lauded Mayor Kelly for having improved conditions generally in Chicago, and promised out of town listeners on the radio that their safety here is assured because State's Attorney Courtney "is continuously on the job."

Mayor Kelly's theme was that any economic success the Fair will bring to Chicago will be reflected throughout the country. All industries, he said, will feel the surge of business.

Mayor Heralds Upturn.

"Keep in mind we are on the way up," said the mayor. "Conditions are far better now than at this time last year. This Century of Progress Exposition is going to help tremendously in retaining our advantage and in increasing it. This is the opportunity for every one to share in a determined drive to benefit everybody. We of Chicago desire to play our part in the definite turn to better times."

To Mayor Kelly President Dawes of the Exposition gave prime credit for this year's renewal of the Fair. It was due to the mayor's mandate for a continuation of the Exposition that it is being held again, he said. Mr. Dawes told the audience that the 1934 Fair will be bigger, brighter and gayer than the 1933 edition. He said that aggregate investments of about $7,000,000 have been added to the vast sums previously spent for physical equipment.

GAS SCATTERS 1500 IDLERS DEMANDING CASH AND NOT FOOD

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 21.—(AP)—Tear gas bombs and fire hose streams dispersed today 1,500 men and women who massed before the federal emergency relief commissary and clamored for money.

A committee demanded higher relief pay, money instead of groceries, and better working conditions.

When the committee reported its action a woman leader, Wilma Conners, 27, shouted the workers had "been sold out again," and called on them to "take the food."

Police met jeers and catcalls. The crowd stood its ground until tear gas bombs were released. Fire hose completed the rout.

"We have projects in this county now for which we can't find men," Thompson said. "We have offered them groceries to work and still some of those who could be approved won't come in."

8 Hurt in New Jersey Nazi Riot; 35 Arrested

Irvington, N. J., May 21.—[Special.]—Several hundred persons participated in a riot tonight in Lyons avenue, where a Nazi meeting was scheduled to be held. After local police and reserves from Newark had the disturbance under control eight persons were taken to hospitals and 35 arrested.

Norwegian Ship Docks Here with Big Cargo

The Norwegian freighter Korsfjord arrived yesterday in Chicago from Oslo, Norway, after unloading a cargo of fish, sardines, and china clay for South Bend. The ship docked at 2431 South Lincoln avenue to load 15 tons of pitch for the return trip to Norway.

50 Voice Provincial Choir of Spain Is on Way to Fair

RAILROADS' LOW RATES TO FAIR GO IN EFFECT TODAY

Fares Cut Cost of Travel on All Lines.

Rate reductions for World's Fair travelers will go into effect today and tomorrow on railroads operating lines throughout the country.

The Central Passenger and Trunk Line associations, representing railroads operating in eastern and central states, announced lower fares beginning today for both individuals and groups. On Tuesdays and Saturdays individual tickets may be purchased for one and a half fare for the round trip to Chicago, with a thirty day return limit. This is equivalent to 2.7 cents per mile.

Also on Tuesdays and Saturdays a one fare plus 25 cents round trip rate, with a 15 day return limit, is made available. This is equivalent to 1.98 cents per mile. The lowest individual rate is five-sixth of the one way fare for the round trip, which will be on sale daily with a 15 day return limit and good only in day coaches. This is equivalent to 1.5 cents per mile.

Special Rates for Parties.

Parties of 25 or more may obtain tickets for 1.35 cents per mile; 50 or more, 1.2 cents, and 100 or more, 1 cent per mile. Special low rates have also been provided for persons traveling to the Fair from foreign countries.

Railroads represented by the Western Passenger association and operating in the west and southern parts of the country will place the lower rates in effect tomorrow, and will continue until Oct. 30.

On Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays a 1 cent per mile rate, each way, will prevail. Good only in coaches, these tickets have a ten day return limit. A cent and a half per mile rate, each way, will be available every day, carrying a 15 day return limit. First class rate, with a 30 day return provision, will be in effect each day at a cost of 2 cents per mile each way.

Expect Travel Increase.

Railroad men feel certain that their business this year will exceed that of last year.

"Reports from all parts of the country," declared H. W. Siddall, chairman of the western association, "indicate that Fair passenger business will probably show an increase over that of last year.

"The number of inquiries throughout the country regarding transportation to the Exposition have increased materially over those received last year—which we regard as a good sign. Then, too, conditions are more settled and this should be a factor in bringing more people to the Exposition."

U. S. WILL ANSWER SHANGHAIED PLEA OF INSULL TODAY

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green announced yesterday he would file a demurrer today before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan to the plea that Samuel Insull was brought to the United States from Turkey illegally. Insull, through his attorney, Floyd Thompson, is questioning the jurisdiction of the court on the ground he was shanghaied.

The government prosecutors, it was announced yesterday, will neither admit nor deny that Insull was shanghaied. They will argue no matter what happened in Turkey Insull is at present properly within the jurisdiction of the local court.

HANGS SELF IN ATTIC.

Theodore Durzmal, 62 years old, 10342 Avenue G, hanged himself yesterday in the attic of his home. Members of the family said he was despondent over ill health.

Notes of a Century of Progress

Gov. Henry Horner expressed surprise at the changed appearance and large number of new buildings of A Century of Progress yesterday when he attended a meeting of the Illinois commission for participation in the Exposition in the Administration building. Mrs. Carter Harrison again was named official hostess of the Illinois Host house by the commission. Mrs. Herbert Stern will act as vice chairman of the Host house committee, assisted by Mrs. A. H. Headburg and Mrs. H. B. Chamberlin of Chicago.

Partly as a result of improved business conditions the 1934 World's Fair will be a "much better show" than last year's, Martin M. Tveter, comptroller of the Exposition, told the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. He pointed out that many of last year's policies were not what the officials wanted but what financial conditions made it necessary to effect, and declared that this financial stringency had been removed. Last year the hospital was turned over to casualty company to save $200,000, and toilets were handled by concessionaires to save $300,000, he said. This year the toilets will be free. Likewise, he said, lack of funds prevented the proper development of the lagoons, which will be high spots in this year's World's Fair.

One inch gold braid stripes will replace last year's red stripes on the uniforms of A Century of Progress guides. Meanwhile they are drilling in the court of the Hall of States in civilian clothes. The girl cashiers this year will wear snappy three piece cheviot swagger suits of deep blue. They will be semi-military in style, worn with white broadcloth blouses, with hip length jackets decorated in gold braid ond four brass buttons, said Miss Marie Schleyer, in charge of cashiers.

The Colonial village will open Saturday night with a benefit ball for the Daughters of the American Revolution. The ceremony will be held on the village green in front of Mount Vernon. Proceeds will go toward Lincoln memorial monument for the state.

A bottle of milk from a pure bred cow will be broken over the entrance to the Brook Hill Dairy Farm building at the Fair by Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin at the building's dedication ceremony tomorrow. President Rufus Dawes of the Exposition will welcome Gov. Schmedeman and representatives of Wisconsin's dairy industry.

Through a special arrangement with the Santa Fe railway, two leopard cubs traveled first class in the drawing room of Frank Buck, explorer, and his wife, who arrived here yesterday morning on the Chief. They will be among the 1,000 animals in his "Bring 'Em Back Alive" show on the Midway at the Fair.

Signora Margherita Sarfatti of Rome, biographer of Mussolini, will break a bottle of Italian champagne across the threshold of the new official Italian Restaurant and Wine pavilion at A Century of Progress at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Visitors may here taste 600 wines from Italian vineyards.

A wild animal exhibit including polar bears, antelope, mountain lions, and wildcats, a complete aviary showing peacocks, cockatoos, parrakeets, and penguins and an aquarium containing flying fish, paradise fish and other unusual fish will be seen in the Travel and Transport building. The exhibit will be part of the International Motorboat and Sportsman's show.

Forty new attractions will be seen in the Enchanted iland at the Fair. Children under 12 years old may pass through the iland gates free of charge. A new free playground on the lake front is included. Among the iland's new entertainments will be Sue Hastings' Marionettes performing "Winnie the Pooh" and "Peter Rabbit" in the theater. Adventure land provides an enchanted forest, a ginger bread house, laughing trees and living brownies and fairies. An art gallery on the lake shore will house paintings and craft work of school children.

The Art institute announced that admission to the first and ground floors of the museum will be free until May 31. The second floor is closed while the great A Century of Progress exhibition is installed. It will open June 1.

TAVERN KEEPERS SEEK NRA RULING ON STEIN OF BEER

A resolution recommending that code authorities at Washington designate a 14 ounce stein of beer as the maximum quantity which tavern keepers may sell for 10 cents was adopted at a meeting yesterday of the Tavern and Innkeepers association of Illinois. The resolution also would prohibit the sale of nickel glasses of beer. An unsound competitive situation now exists, it was explained, because of the quantity which may now be purchased for 10 cents varies from 8 to 32 ounces.

Members of the association were urged by James Weinberg, business manager, to sign petitions asking Gov. Horner to permit the sale of liquor over bars and requesting repeal or modification of those sections of the liquor control act which make tavern owners liable for any damage which may be cause by patrons to whom they sell liquor.

The meeting endorsed the proposed city ordinance submitted recently by City Sealer Joe Grein which would provide that the capacity of each stein be clearly marked on the glass. Mr. Grein told the tavern keepers that steins which misrepresent capacity are robbing beer drinkers of about five ounces in every stein they buy.

SURFACE LINES PROVIDE 914 NEW JOBS FOR FAIR

The Chicago Surface lines have hired 914 additional men in anticipation of increased passenger trafic during the Fair, it was learned yesterday. These are the first new employés added to the company's rolls since January, 1930.

Employment of the men began last October and ended just a month ago. During all that time they were fully trained and will be able to serve as experienced men.

MEXICAN STATE OUSTS PRIESTS, SHUTS CHURCHES

Catholic Residents Flee Into Arizona.

Nogales, Ariz., May 21.—(AP)—Another controversy involving church and state in Mexico was pushed into the open today by an order of Gov. Rodolfo Elias Calles of the state of Sonora, closing all Roman Catholic churches in his jurisdiction and instructing priests to leave.

The order was described by Mexican authorities on the border as the result of friction over state circulars sent recently to educators, civic officials and executives, requesting them to express views against fanaticism in religion.

Several officials resigned as a result of the request, it was said, and the closure and expulsion order followed.

Accuse Priests of Undue Influence.

Border sources said civil authorities had accused churches and priests with exerting undue influence over the people. This was looked upon as a continuation of the trouble that started several years ago when former President P. Elias Calles, father of Sonora's present governor, closed churches in many places in Mexico. Regulations prescribing the activities of priests finally were promulgated by government authorities.

Instructions were received today at Nogales, Sonora, by Engenio Cajigas, secretary to the mayor, to notify all priests in the border town to leave in twelve hours. The Rev. Francisco Fernandez, only priest in town, crossed the border into Arizona.

Vicar General to Leave.

Reports from Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, said the Rev. Martin Portera, vicar general of the Roman Catholic church, closed the cathedral there and left for the border.

Priests from Cajeme, Navojoa, Guaymas, Cananea, and other towns also were said to be en route to American territory.

Thousands of persons were reported to have flocked to the cathedral in Hermosillo for marriage and baptismal rites when word was spread about of the impending closing. Catholic residents of Nogales, Sonora, began crossing to the American side of the line to worship.

Sees Flood of Clergy to U. S.

Father Jose Ryes Silva of Ures also crossed into American territory. He said that a flood of clergymen would soon reach the border seeking asylum in the United States.

"The reason for our expulsion from Sonora is that the state government wants to establish its own rationalistic religion, which is based only on scientific facts and not on theology," he said. "The government, apparently, wants to take all notions of God away from the people.

"The government also wants to establish sexual education in the schools; we [the clergy] have not opposed it, but it is contrary to theological teachings."

Sonora Catholics contended Gov. Calles was actuated in the matter by his anti-religious views. During the incumbency of his father as president, many dignitaries of the church fled to the United States and charged Mexican civil authorities with religious persecution.

BRAZIL DEFEATS PLAN TO CALL WOMEN TO ARMS

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 21.—(AP)—A proposal to make women subject to call to arms was defeated today by the national assembly which is drafting a new Brazilian constitution.

It appeared that the assembly would complete its work this week. Election of the first constitutional president of the new federated republic would be possible immediately thereafter. Getulio Vargas, now provisional president, is the strongest candidate for the post.

Rejection of the proposal to subject women to military service was the first move in a debate over national defense regulations. A plan to extend voting privileges to youths of 18 was cast aside in discussion of electoral rights.

House Passes Bridge Bill for Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—The house today passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to bridge the St. Mary's river to Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

WOMAN AND 5 MEN KILLED AS PLANES CRASH IN 3 STATES

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., May 21.—[Special.]—When his plane's propeller was torn off today David H. Salkind and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter I. Drew, were hurled into a marsh a mile and a half from Port Everglades. The propeller was found at some distance from the remnants of the plane.

Salkind had a flyer's license. He was alive when found. Mrs. Drew was dead. Salkind died a few hours later. They were flying from Lake Worth. Word from Morristown, N. J., Salkind's home, said his father had received a message from the son a few hours before he heard of the accident. Hampton M. Salkind said the message had said his son and daughter-in-law were leaving today for Chicago and intended to fly there. Mrs. Drew's home was at Lake Worth.

Student Flyer Killed.

Sherman, Tex., May 21.—[Special.]—One student flyer is dead and his companion may not recover, following the crash of their plane today near the airport here. They were attempting a cross-country flight from Dallas, Tex., where both were students of the Dallas School of Aviation. Mortimer Riley, 21, of Detroit died three hours after the crash. W. M. Curry, 22, of Wichita, Kas., probably will die. Curry was piloting the plane.

Three Die in Borrowed Plane.

Porterville, Cal., May 21.—(AP)—Three Porterville men were killed today when their borrowed airplane crashed against the top of "Rocky hill," a granite eminence in the foothills five miles east of here. The dead were Howard Butte, 24; Arthur Jameson, 22, and Ray Hulse, 21.

RENOVATE CAMP ALGONQUIN FOR NEEDY MOTHERS

Jobless Men Earn Their Board by Work.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Truckloads of men will roll out of Camp Algonquin today, leaving that playground for Chicago's needy mothers and children in shipshape order for its first guests next month.

The camp, 45 miles northwest of Chicago on the Fox river, is operated by the United Charities and partly supported by contributions of TRIBUNE readers.

Last January Camp Algonquin was leased to house transient men by the Illinois bureau of transient activities, a department under the Federal Emergency Relief administration. More than 150 men of 18 years and over, because they were residents of the state less than a year, were selected to occupy the camp and renovate the grounds and buildings. Today, their job ended, they will go to permanent quarters in Batavia.

Furnace Is Installed.

Landscaping plans drawn by Holabird & Root, architects, were followed by William Dunning, construction engineer, and A. Riggs, who supervised the men, to preserve the beauty of the wooded hills and valleys. Buildings were remodeled or improved and in the basement of the refectory a furnace was installed so the building may be used the year around.

"We have taken out about 250 infected trees, cleared underbrush and destroyed clinging vines that have been sapping the hawthorn," Mr. Dunning said. "We constructed for the United Charities an addition to the boys' dormitory to be used as a living room and a council ring with rustic seats to seat 60 boys. Tribune dormitory No. 3 [mothers' building] has been converted into an all winter building, and other minor improvements made."

The men received their room and board and a small amount of pocket money each week.

Prepare for Mothers.

With the camp returned officially to the United Charities, Mrs. Astrid Save, who has guided the summer camp's activities for many years, will start to make ready for the first group of Chicago mothers and children. This group will arrive, according to present plans, on June 19. By July 1, with the coming of 80 undernourished children who will remain all summer for special care, the camp will be running at its average capacity of 500.

More than 2,000 will occupy the camp during the summer season, most of the mothers and children for two week periods.

She Registers Rage, Slaps Lawyer; Fans Soothe.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Mae Murray, blonde film star, went through what the movies call "the gamut of emotions" this afternoon in the Supreme court. There she lost her suit for $300,000 against Tiffany Productions, Inc. She slapped the company lawyer's face. Then she became hysterical, stamped her small feet on the floor of the court room.

Bertram A. Mayer got the slap soon after Justice Aron Steuer decided she had failed to prove anything. So he dismissed her complaint. He left the bench for his chambers.

Mayer tried to whisper to Miss Murray. She swung a hand across his mouth with a resounding whack. Mayer then moved his chair beyond her reach.

Says God Will Avenge Her.

She shouted: "God will attend to you! You'll get yours!"

She wept and stamped.

Her own lawyer said: "Please don't weep, Miss Murray. Your fans are outside. They will be ashamed of you."

"Lead me to them," Miss Murray said. "They are my friends." She became more calm and marched out of the courtroom as she powdered her nose. She then applied mascara to her eye lashes and stepped bravely to meet her fans and the camera men.

"I did not get justice," she told them. "I have never gotten justice in my life."

Her fans formed an informal guard around her as she walked away.

Heard Without Jury.

The case was heard before Justice Steuer without a jury. She sought to set aside an agreement whereby the motion picture company settled for $12,500 with her for her services. She contended that when she started to work for the company the officials agreed to give her 25 per cent of the profits.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 41; recovered, 47; stripped, 5 [from police records for 24 hours ending at midnight Sunday].

FISHERMEN BACK NEW 6,000 ACRE LAKE IN INDIANA

Terre Haute, Ind., May 21.—[Special.]—A plan to flood 6,000 acres of lowland in Vigo and Clay counties to establish the largest lake in Indiana was advocated to the state conservation department tonight by members of the Terre Haute Izaak Walton league at a meeting at Shakamak State park, just south of the proposed lake site.

Sportsmen hope to have the conservation department make a request for a part of the 25 million dollars appropriated by the federal government for retiring marginal lands.

The proposed lake site formerly was a reservoir to supply water for the old Lake Erie-Ohio river canal. It was drained shortly after the civil war and diverted to farms. The area, ten miles long and two miles wide, never had been profitable for farming and when flooded was a haven for fishermen and migratory bird hunters.

More Live Power per gallon means that your car will get off to a faster start, take tough hills more easily and hold high speed hour after hour without hard labor for your engine. That's the simple story, minus advertising adjectives.

How more Live Power is made available and usable in Standard Red Crown Superfuel is a more involved story. It is accomplished in the refining. Heavier, slower parts of an already excellent gasoline are converted into faster, keener fractions . . .

But you are most interested in the result. And the result, as evidenced in your car, will be better performance—markedly better. That's as far as we care to go. We prefer to let Superfuel show you what it can do.

May we suggest that you drive in where you see the familiar Red Crown? Make your usual outlay for a supply of gasoline—for Superfuel sells at the price of "regular." We believe this small investment will lead to a big return in your motoring enjoyment this summer.

"IT'S GRAND to Hear You SAY THAT"

"To hear you say that"—there's the most appreciated part of a greeting by telephone on the occasion of an anniversary, birthday or graduation. It is easy to say what we mean, to put genuine feeling into our speech, and make others know we are sincere. Distance need not interfere. Voice and personality reach out speedily, even to those far away—by telephone. And the telephone also brings back the voice and tidings that we want to hear. A greeting meets a response; a question gets an answer; personal news is given and received. Best of all, telephoning doesn't cost much. Try it the next time you have friends to reach or greetings to extend.

NAZIS ORGANIZE NEW GERMANIC RELIGIOUS BODY

Professor Elected Leader —Sun Dial Emblem.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 21.—Believers in the Germanic religion scored a great succes today when the National Association of All Believers in the German faith movement was formed at a convention at Scharzfeld, which is located in the beautiful forests of the Harz mountains.

All local groups of sympathizers were disbanded to reorganize under the active leadership of Prof. Wilhelm Hauer of Teubingen university. This, it is pointed out, will greatly strengthen the power of the new racial religion. Prof. Hauer was elected unanimously, and then was raised on a shield as behooves a representative of the revived Germanic religion of olden days.

Sun Dial is Emblem.

The emblem of the new creed is a golden sun dial on a blue background. Its three fundamental commands provide for the "religious revival of the people out of the racial heritage of Germans." The three tenets were announced as follows:

"What is truly German has its godly foundation in a mission from eternity, to which we are obedient.

"Tradition is founded on this mission.

Ancestors of Jews Barred.

The members must take an oath that they have no Jewish or Negro ancestors, are not Free Masons or Jesuits and do not belong to any secret organizations.

Prof. Hauer appointed a cabinet along the lines of the old Germanic religion and ordered the formation of local religious groups throughout Germany.

The official news service announced the details of the formation of this new organization of the German faith.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, May 21.—The Nazi campaign against critics and "killjoys," which, according to the promise of some Nazi leaders, is to be a "battle of the spirit," fought with mental weapons rather than force, is going too slow for some Nazi zealots.

The Nassauer Volksblatt of Wiesbaden, famous watering place, recalls how the battle of the Marne was lost through pessimism and indecision, and then issues a call for the revolutionary guillotine.

"The German people," it writes, "have not the least intention to be halted in the midst of their advance by muddleheads and grumblers. Active pessimism is plain treason. We demand that killjoys and agitators of every color be placed against the wall. If a grumbler thinks this a joke he is mistaken."

SNUB BY BRITISH PRINCE UPSETS WAR VETS' RALLY

His Failure to Appear Causes Confusion.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 21.—The failure of Prince George to attend the annual convention of the British Legion—Great Britain's association of War Veterans—at Weston-super-Mare, tonight resulted in a series of tangled complications.

This is the first time since the legion was established that a prince of the royal house has not been present at its convention, and indications tonight were that none will appear before adjournment.

Prince George was scheduled to address the delegates and take a salute at a parade of 20,000 ex-service men. The first indication that he would not do so came when Sir Frederick Maurice, legion president, read a letter from the prince's controler. The letter said the prince would not attend the session because there were "apparent attempts to cause dissension in the legion." The communication caused an uproar.

Delegates Wait in Vain.

When today's session began, Maurice announced that he had communicated with the prince of Wales, patron of the legion, who in turn had reached Prince George at Sandringham in a last minute effort to persuade his brother to attend the final stages of the convention. The excited delegates cheered, and then sat down to wait, but the prince failed to show up.

Late tonight further confusion was added to the situation by a denial of the report of any last minute intervention by the heir to the British throne.

When questioned, Maurice declared that he had sent a telegram to Sir Lionel Halsey, comptroller to the prince of Wales. In the message, the legion president suggested that as a result of the convention's pledge of loyalty to the king yesterday, Prince George might still find opportunity to attend.

Chairman Epplains Efforts.

"Last night Sir Lionel told me by telephone that he had been in telephonic communication with the prince of Wales, and that the prince was trying to get in touch with Prince George at Sandringham in the hope that his brother might still be able to arrange to come to the conference," Maurice said. "The only explanation seems to be that the message has not reached Prince George."

Another surprise was the revelation that the letter announcing Prince George's decision not to attend was received by Maurice 10 days ago. Until the letter was read at the opening of the convention yesterday, a majority of the delegates expected to see Prince George present. The streets of the town were decorated in honor of the absent price.

At a late hour tonight Maurice received a further communication from Prince George. The prince thanked the legion for its message of loyalty, and expressed regret at his inability to attend yesterday. It also was reported that the prince intimated he would not be present at the concluding session tomorrow. Consequently, the war veterans are dismayed.

AUSTRIA FREES 80 SOCIALISTS; PUT ON PAROLE

Former Mayor of Vienna Regains Freedom.

VIENNA, May 21.—(AP)—Approximately 80 socialists, including former burgomaster, Karl Seitz, were released on parole today from jails where they had been held since the civil war in February.

Prominent among them were Karl Renner, former premier, and Hugo Breitner, former treasurer of the state city of Vienna.

Before they were released the socialists were required to sign promises not to use the telephone, not to travel in automobiles, to consent to censoring of their mail, and to report to the police daily.

Spa Rocked by Bomb Blast.

Meanwhile, Bad Ischl, Austria's most fashionable spa, was rocked by a bomb explosion, which completely destroyed "Prince hall," a building surrounding a mineral well.

Police arrested several suspects, and a company of infantry was sent to Bad Ischl from Linz to assist the authorities.

Area Plunged into Darkness.

At Schaerding, near the Austro-German border, an electric transformer was blown up, plunging the city and surrounding villages into darkness.

A patriotic demonstration during the afternoon was disturbed by timed noise bombs tied to small balloons which drifted across the frontier.

NEW YORK BARS LEGAL, BUT MUST BE UNOBTRUSIVE

Nudes Detract Attention in One Hotel.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—About the only results apparent to the naked and inquiring eye, following the legalizing of perpendicular drinking as of 12:01 a. m. today, was that several thousand persons who had been doing it anyhow became honest citizens again, and carpenters and manufacturers of bar fixtures were enjoying a burst of activity, installing equipment in hotels and restaurants

The ABC special order, anticipating by a little more than a month the provisions of the new state law, received a cordial but calm welcome. A few hotels were ready for it and started serving at the new drink counters with full brass rail accessories.

The principal topic of conversation concerning the new order was just what sort of interpretation was going to be placed upon the provision which requires that the bar itself shall not be the predominant feature of the room.

Detracting Attention a Problem.

At the Park Lane hotel, a 40 foot bar was opened, and its predominance was modified by a mill, mill wheel, and mill pond, providing a rustic note, and modified further by a number of large and striking nudes by Howard Chandler Christy.

At the Hotel McAlpin's 50-foot bar, predominance was prevented by the presence of Hans Neumann, the octogenarian mixer, and the absence of the historic horseshoe mahogany, which was sawed up into sections and distributed among patrons on the eve of prohibition.

The predominance of the bar at the Ritz-Carlton was toned down by the fact that an assortment of cherubs were painted on the walls, the theory apparently being that this form of decoration being so unlike the conventional art of barrooms, it would attract a lot of attention and nobody would notice the bar itself.

At the Plaza the bar was unable to predominate by reason of the fact that the management itself was inclined to be a bit supercilious about it, hazarding the opinion that the class of people who patronize the hotel are not the bar-drinking sort.

Just a Matter of Form.

The Waldorf-Astoria is installing a bar in the palm garden, but the assistant manager of the restaurant, Virgil D'Ercole, didn't think it would do much business. It was being put in as a matter of form and because it would be expected. It certainly would not be permitted to predominate or even partly dominate.

From the point of view of quantity consumption another hotel man who preferred, for obvious reasons, to remain anonymous, said that drinking at bars would almost double sales and from that point of view he favored it.

"When a man gets a drink served to him at a table," said this veteran, "he leans back comfortably and just sips. He will take nearly twice as long to finish his drink as he would if he were standing at a bar. Then if he wants another there is often a delay in getting a waiter and getting the drink served and so on. At the bar when he finishes his drink he can call out directly for another or else go on his way and make room for another customer."

"DILLINGER NOTE" ASKS $5,000 OF STATE OFFICIAL

Salem, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Marion county officials tonight were investigating a plot to extort $5,000 and a new automobile from John C. Martin, state treasurer, and his brother, B. E. Martin, Salem banker.

Meanwhile, at Springfield, Secretary Martin professed no alarm and said he believed an extortion note, signed "John Dillinger," was the work of an irrational person.

The letter, received last Saturday, demanded the money and automobile under threat of death. A Salem shoe factory worker was named as intermediary in the letter. The man was arrested but released by police who said they were convinced he had no part in the plot.

Mr. Martin was instructed in the letter to park the motor car in front of the shoe worker's home and deposit the money in the intermediary's name in the Salem National bank.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

A Raccoon Houdini.

May 21, 1934.

THE "experiment" in wild life relations here on the farm involving a live crow and a raccoon didn't work at all. Not that the raccoon attacked the crow, or that the crow sailed into the coon. On the contrary the animal apparently was so bored with his soft, inactive life, and wanted to play so badly that he'd catch the crow just for the fun of it, with the result that this combination had to be broken up. The crow didn't like the idea of being mauled around even though the raccoon didn't have any intention of doing the bird bodily harm.

Just as this episode was chalked off the list another raccoon in separate quarters did a Houdini act by escaping in the most ingenious manner.

This animal found a small hole in the wire, crawled between this piece of wire and another overlapping it for about five feet and then found a small opening. The animal enlarged this break in the wire and finally crawled through it to freedom.

With additional tracts of land being planted to soy beans, a legume which is chinch bug resisting, and with the chinch bugs apparently ready to go after the corn and the barley, the question is: will our "Queen of the Field" type of hybrid corn still be "queen" 60 days from now? Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, has about 40 acres of this corn with the romantic name. It was planted in a single day with the four row corn planter. The same day saw this hurry-up schedule of field work: Johnson pulverized 30 acres; Shadoan harrowed 65 acres, and then before the tractors were quieted the "Queen of the Field" type of corn went into the soil.

The information house here on the farm has had the finishing touches on it. This is the headquarters building to which farm visitors will come before they are taken around the place by a guide. When the displays of seeds and the drawings of the various plants to be grown on the farm are in position, this headquarters building will have much to interest any visitor interested in farming. All the road signs to direct motorists are now in place. The following suggestion on a picnic or lunch ground near the farm is pertinent at this time: although the experimental farm has no land available for picnic parties, motorists will find numerous, beautiful groves near the farm, where, for a small charge, they can park their cars and spend as much time as they please along the banks of the Fox river. At practically all of these spots complete picnic facilities are offered, including good drinking water. The charge per car is the same no matter how many people there are in an automobile.

Just about the cutest fowls on the place these days are the tiny Moscovy ducklings. They are just beginning to hatch out. I visited the quarters where these big ducks are kept and saw one waddling mama duck with eleven ducklings cluttered around her. We had to rescue one that had strayed from her side, a tiny fellow that seemed to be not quite as strong as the others.

A field of rye was to be cut for hay today on the auxiliary farm, but the job had to be postponed. The mowing machine was out of order! [What's that old saying about repairing a roof? When it rains one can't fix it and when the sun is shining there is no need to repair it!] Anyway, when it came time to get out in the field the repair job was in order rather than the cutting of the rye. This stand of rye is about 18 inches high. With no hay supply it has to be cut and used as hay right away. Another field of rye out here is just six inches high. This is burning up with the heat.

RUSSIA MOBILIZES ARMY FOR WAR AGAINST DROUTH

Men to Carry Water to Wheat Fields.

ROSTOV, U. S. S. R., May 21.—(AP)—With a mobilization akin to a military movement, communist party chiefs today started a far flung war on the drouth which menaces the Russian wheat fields.

In the Azov-Black sea region, the party chief of the regional agricultural department, carrying out instructions from Moscow, ordered a mobilization of all city and village fire departments and started concentrating all available barrels at strategic points in the fields.

All able bodied men who can be spared from other tasks are ordered to help bring water to the parched crops. Both winter and summer crops, the party chief said, "are in sad condition and getting yellow because of lack of moisture."

For the region—wide project men will be recruited from collective and state farms, and from machine and tractor stations. Only men engaged in late sowing are expected from service with the water bearing details.

An effort will be made to accomplish the work in five days, and all of it will be done between 6 p. m. and sunrise.

"All barrels, pumps, fire engines, tractors and motor vehicles except those belonging to industrial enterprises must be mobilized at Protask," the agricultural chief's order stated. "From 150 to 250 barrels will be required for each hectare [2.471 acres]."

Water is to be obtained from all available rivers, lakes, and swamps. In addition to sprinkling the parched fields manually the water bearers will dig ditches and holes to serve as reservoirs. Covering of freshly plowed fields with wet straw also is ordered.

Meanwhile, light heavy rains were reported to have fallen today in southwestern Ukraine and part of the lower Volga region, two large regions of soviet Russia's chief grain growing section.

WALLACE'S BILL, OUT, FACES HOT FIGHT IN SENATE

Committee Turns It Loose to Shoot at It.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—A hard fight on the senate floor and possible defeat faced the Wallace bill to amend the agricultural adjustment act as it emerged today from the senate committee on agriculture.

A committee vote of 9 to 3 sent to the senate a measure that a probable majority of the committee did not approve of. Several who voted to report the bill out did so with the tacit understanding that when the senate debate starts they are not to be bound by their earlier vote of approval.

Among those who voted against the bill was Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], chairman of the committee. The other two were Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], Republican leader of the senate, and George McGill [Dem., Kas.]. Chairman Smith attempted to keep his adverse vote secret, but made no secret about his opposition to the measure which technically he is supposed to shepherd through its senate course.

Seeks More Powers.

The most objectionable feature of the bill, committee members decided, is its first section which would amend the present AAA law to give the secretary of agriculture still further power to curtail production.

Under the present statute, the secretary may dictate only as to basic crops which are made the subject of adjustment agreements and control the cropping only of those acres taken out of production. Under the proposed amendment, he would have power to dictate to farmers signing agreements not only as to basic commodities, but as to anything raised on the farm.

An effort was made in committee to strike this section from the bill. The attempt was reconsidered, however, and it was decided to let the elimination or amendment of the section take place in the senate. Senators, both those who voted against the bill and those who voted for it, predicted freely that such an elimination or amendment was to take place.

Would Authorize Quotas.

Other sections of the proposed bill extend the secretary's licensing power. They would empower him to license all processors and handlers of farm commodities and their products and of competitive commodities and their products. He would have authority to impose any rule or regulation which he deemed calculated to carry out the purposes of the act.

Under the proposed amendments, quotas and allowances might be imposed—unless two-thirds of the producers in the affected area decide to the contrary—on milk and milk products, rice, peanuts, flax, edible dry beans, naval stores, and all fruits, nuts, and vegetables.

A still further amendment would change the formula for ascertaining the parity price for which the AAA is supposed to be striving. The new formula would require that the calculators also take into consideration current farm labor costs, interest payments on farm debts, and taxes.

OHIO MUST PAY U. S. TAXES AS A LIQUOR VENDER

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—Ohio and other states which monopolize the sale of intoxicating liquor within their boundaries must pay federal taxes.

Ohio, to prevent the return of the saloon, in December, 1933, set up a state monopoly for the distribution and sale of all spirituous liquors and purchased a supply costing approximately 4½ million dollars for sale through stores owned, managed, and controled by the state.

"When a state enters the market place seeking customers it divests itself of its quasi sovereignty, and takes on the character of a trade, so far at least as the taxing power of the federal government is concerned," the United States Supreme court ruled unanimously.

WOMAN AND FOUR ON TRIAL IN BOMB CONSPIRACY CASE

Sixth Defendant to Stand Trial Separately.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred Kieffer, malicious mischief, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Michael Feinberg.

John Steiner, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin Epstein.

Worthy Snowden, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Mario Zavattorio, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge James Fardy.

Robert Hlushka and Hentry Petrick, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Carlos Udam, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer.

Trial of Mrs. Sophie Svirsky, 42 years old, and four co-defendants on charges of conspiracy to bomb was begun yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

Other defendants in the case are George Patris, former secretary of the Restaurateurs of Illinois; Frank Currin and William Walters, the alleged bombers, and John Poulos, said by the state to have served as "go-between" in arranging the bombings. A sixth defendant, Harry Fitzel, alleged maker of the bombs, has been granted a separate trial on his promise to testify for the state.

Confession Implicates Others.

The defendants were rounded up by police after Currin had been caught with a bomb in the doorway of the Legion café, 11103 South Michigan avenue. Noticing Currin's suspicious actions policemen questioned him and discovered that he was concealing a bomb behind him as he stood in the doorway.

Currin confessed and implicated the other defendants. After confessing, however, Currin apparently suffered a change of heart and has refused to testify for the prosecution.

The state charged that Mrs. Svirsky, who operated a tavern at 665 West 18th street, hired Currin to bomb the saloon of her competitor, Charles Mikutcki, at 671 West 18th street. Currin accepted the commission for a fee of $40, according to the state.

Patris Implicated.

Mrs. Svirsky was dissatisfied with the work of Currin on his first attempt, the state charged, and refused to pay him until he returned on the next night and exploded another bomb in the doorway of the saloon. Patris was implicated in the bombing of the beauty parlor of Michael Muller at 2527 Devon avenue, in statements made to police by Currin and others.

Patris arranged the bombing as a friendly gesture toward an acquaintance who had become angered at the beauty shop owner, according to the confessions. Poulos, once owner of a restaurant at 3224 Southport avenue, the prosecution charged, arranged bombings and performed one for which he received but $5.

Only four jurymen had been selected when court was adjourned until this morning.

DUNCAN RENALDO LOSES FIGHT TO ESCAPE PRISON

Los Angeles, Cal., May 21.—(AP)—Duncan Renaldo, tall brown-eyed screen hero, lost today his fight to keep out of the federal penitentiary.

The United States Supreme court denied his petition for a review of the case in which he was convicted here on charge of perjury in connection with application for a passport. He was sentenced to two years at the McNeil Island penitentiary.

Renaldo asserted he was born at Camden, N. J., April 23, 1904, but the government contended he was born in Rumania and had not been naturalized.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Gus Wojtula, 35 years old, 516 Bunker street, died of a heart attack yesterday while being taken to the People's hospital.

BOMB IN BOOK GOES OFF IN DEAD LETTER OFFICE; INJURES TWO

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—A bomb concealed in a book entitled "Life Among the Lowly" exploded today in the dead letter division of the Washington postoffice, critically injuring Myrton L. Genung, a postal clerk.

Postal officials believed the bomb destined for a Balkan country.

They said they did not know from what city the package was mailed.

Genung specializes in handling improperly wrapped or directed parcels addressed to foreign countries. The explosion occurred as he was removing the wrappings from the parcel. It tore the fingers from his left hand, shattered the glass top of his desk, broke a window beside him and scattered parcels about the room.

The parcel containing the explosive had been improperly sealed and was being examined to ascertain if it contained smuggled articles.

ZOO'S SHIPMENT FROM AUSTRALIA DUE TOMORROW

The most important shipment of animals ever sent from Australia to this country is expected to arrive in Chicago tomorrow, according to Robert Bean, director of the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield, where the animals will be housed.

The collection, which contains 125 mammals, 900 birds, and 32 reptiles, arrived in Los Angeles a few days ago. There are 24 species of birds, and seven or eight species of mammals, the whole collection valued at $11,000.

"The kangaroos, wallarroos, and wallaby should be most interesting to visitors," said Mr. Bean. "The animals will be kept in a barless enclosure forming one large Australian scene, 200 by some 400 feet in area. They will be placed in a native setting to make them feel as much at home as possible. Moats will surround the enclosure."

Mr. Bean said a pair of Grant zebras from Tanganyika, a pair of Eland antelopes from Africa, and a pair of yaks from the New York Zoölogical society are also expected to arrive at the Brookfield zoo tomorrow or the next day.

Mr. George J. Auer, Advertising Manager,
New York Herald Tribune,
230 West 41st Street,
New York City

Dear Mr. Auer:

In building our business, we have been great believers in newspaper advertising. Naturally, we check the results of our advertising very carefully. You may be assured therefore, that our giving the Herald Tribune an increase in space during 1933 is the result of merit.

We appeal to the average New York woman shopper. Your paper reveals a woman's reader response that is very gratifying and is the kind that brings definite buyers into our store. On such results are based our advertising expenditures for 1934 in which the Herald Tribune will again play a major part.

We appreciate the splendid spirit of co-operation your paper has always shown toward this organization.

Sincerely yours,
I. J. Fox

IJF:CA

The I. J. Fox organization has an accurate knowledge of its sales sources. Solely because of its producing power, the Herald Tribune received a material increase in I. J. Fox advertising in 1933, and, according to Mr. I. J. Fox, will "again play a major part" in 1934 expenditures.

It is not surprising that an audience of women active and interested enough to address over 200,000 specific questions to the Herald Tribune fashion, food and beauty departments last year, should also be actively responsive to Herald Tribune advertising columns. I. J. Fox joins a long list of advertisers who have discovered and are constantly using the unusual power of the Herald Tribune to sell in New York.

WILLETT DIVORCE GRANTED AFTER HITCH IN COURT

Wife Balks for a While on Balm Suit.

A last minute hitch almost blocked the final settlement of the marital troubles of Mrs. Grace Williamson Willett and her husband, Howard, wealthy trucking company executive, yesterday, but things were smoothed out, and Judge Rudolph Desort signed Mrs. Willett's divorce decree.

The divorce was on the grounds of desertion, and marked the close of nearly a year of litigation, which included bills for separate maintenance, divorce, and one alienation of affections suit for $1,000,000, filed by Mrs. Willett against Mrs. Mary Cave Hall. The latter suit was never prosecuted, since part of the agreement reached out of court by the Willetts included Mrs. Willett's promise to drop the charges against Mrs. Hall.

Gift to a Lady.

Just when things were about settled, Mrs. Willett blocked the proceedings by her flat refusal to include the releases relating to the alienation suit. That caused a quick huddle of lawyers, and a delay of almost an hour before it was straightened out. Only the lawyers and the principals know what the settlement was, and they refused to tell.

Questioned about the dropping of the suit, Mrs. Willett said:

Then everybody went into court, and Mrs. Willett took the stand to testify that her husband deserted her in January of 1933. Attorney Benjamin B. Davis, her lawyer, asked her:

"Mrs. Willett, how did you treat your husband during the years of your married life?"

Kind and Loving Wife.

Mrs. Willett looked around the room and finally replied:

"I was a kind and loving wife."

That being settled, Mr. Davis rested his case, and there was no contest from Attorneys J. Fred Reeves and John Martineau, representing Willett, who was not in court.

The financial arrangements, reached out of court, include a guarantee of Mr. Willett that he will provide his wife with an income of $17,500 a year for five years, then establish a trust fund for her which will keep her income up to about the same figure.

Contracts involving this, and the dropping of the alienation suit, had been signed earlier by both Mr. and Mrs. Willett.

ONE TIME PIPE ORGAN PUMPERS HOLD REUNION

The annual meeting of the Guild of Former Pipe Organ Pumpers, an organization whose membership includes many prominent men who once manned the hand-pumps of organs in country town churches, was held last night at the Union League club. It was announced that the guild's object for the ensuing year is to prove that not all successful men got their start by selling newspapers.

Members took turns at the pump-handle of an old fashioned organ while the singing of hymns recalled boyhood days when 25 cents a week and escape from the necessity of learning the Golden Text was pay for the Sunday chore. After stories of the old days, there was a lantern slide show.

Chet Shafer of Three Rivers, Wis., grand diapason of the order, proposed that a cast iron statue in honor of the boy organ pumpers of two decades ago be erected within the next few years. Otherwise, he warned, when the present members of the guild die, the "craft which contributed more to the ecclesiastical richness of the age than any other" will be forgotten.

From Indians to 1934 Factory City.

Rockford, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—This city's centennial celebration began today to assume a carnival spirit.

The first parade this afternoon portrayed the history of transportation here. A stage coach drawn by four horses, a prairie schooner and an ox drawn cart appeared in that parade. Tonight there was to be a pageant in which a cast of 1,000 local men, women, and children were to depict outstanding events in the history of Rockford since the coming of the first white settlers in 1838. A heavy rainstorm caused a postponement, however. It is planned to hold the pageant tomorrow night and repeat it Wednesday night.

Portrays Indians, Settlers.

The camp life of the Indians who lived in this area, the coming of Stephen Mack, first white settler in this country [he married the Indian Princess Hon-On-Ne-Gah] and the arrival in 1834 of Germanicus Kent and Thatcher Blake, first settlers in the city of Rockford, are shown in the opening scenes of the pageant.

Later scenes show the holdup of a stage coach, the capturing of an early day criminal gang by the Regulators, famous local vigalantes, and the execution of two of the gang's leaders.

Telephone Girl Queen.

Canadian Liquor Exports to U. S. Show Steady Decrease

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 21.—Exports of liquor from Canada to the United States steadily have dropped since January. Total liquor exports for April, most of which was whisky destined to the United States, were valued at $995,000, which compares with March exports of $1,962,000. In February the shipments were valued at $2,422,000, and in January at $4,072,000. Bootleggers are reported to have taken considerable of the trade from the regular channels.

DIES ACCIDENTALLY BY GAS.

Scottsboro Case Up Friday in Alabama Supreme Court

Montgomery, Ala., May 21.—(AP)—Alabama Supreme court arguments on the appeals of Heywood Patterson and Clarence Norris, sentenced to death in the Scottsboro case were set for Friday.

'SHARLIE IS DERE' AT SUIT BY WIFE FOR AN INCREASE

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Cliff Hall, the "Sharlie" of the Baron Munchausen radio act, was given a court hearing today in separation proceedings brought by his wife, Mrs. June Porges Hall. Mrs. Hall charges her husband with being cruel to her and abandoning her and their son in 1931.

Hall testified that as "straight man" for Jack [Baron Munchausen] Pearl he gets $325 a week, whereas three years ago he was earning but $100 in the Ziegfeld "Follies." Replying to questions by counsel for his wife, Hall insisted that, despite his radio reputation as such, he was not a "stooge" and had no idea what the term meant.

Mrs. Hall has been getting $50 a week temporary alimony and now asks $125 a week in view of her husband's increased earnings.

A TIRE LIKE THIS.. "G-3"

Drivers Stomp Brakes of Test Cars Day and Night to Help Solve Mystery of Tread-Wear—Wider, Longer-Lasting Design Made Possible by Supertwist

LOOK RIGHT HERE

Watch the rest of the industry try to copy this amazing tire. Watch them try to duplicate Goodyear's claims. But, remember, you have to have "non-skid" before you can have "non-skid mileage." And to have "non-skid," you have to have GRIP where you see it here—GRIP in the center of the tread—the place where it counts, because it's the spot where the tire contacts the road. Look at the grip on this Goodyear Tire and ask yourself why buy any tire that lacks this safety? And keep in mind that you cannot successfully build this type of non-skid tire without the extra-durability of Supertwist cords.

THE test car drivers lost some sleep. Brakes on the test cars frazzled every 72 hours, had to be adjusted every 8 hours. But when the battle was over, everybody was happy. It proved that rapid tread-wear could be stopped—that a better tire could be built—and that the new "G-3" was the tire!

"G-3" was one of a number of new designs the engineers proposed to answer the mystery of fast tread-wear. All treads, all makes—even ours—were wearing too fast. The new, bullet-starting, red-light-stopping, swift-sailing automobiles were taking extra wear out of tires right when they needed to keep their grip more than ever before for safety on smooth highways.

Goodyear licked it. Not without a fight. It took granite grit and grinding roads, abuse, and patience to see what would wear out "G-3."

You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs.
You get more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire.
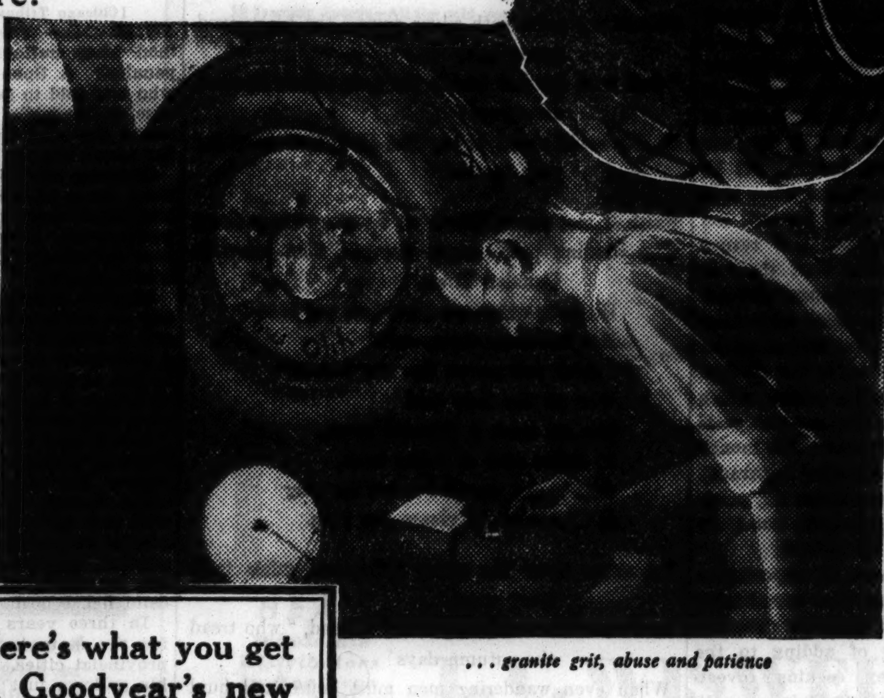
—all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

"G-3" outran them all



. . . granite grit, abuse and patience

It has a firmer tread; the blocks are nested closer! riding-ribs are 11½% wider; grooves are narrower.

It gives 43% more non-skid mileage!

AND—this is important to remember—the wider, heavier tread was made possible by Supertwist, the patented Goodyear cord fabric, that easily accepts the additional strain put on sidewalls by the flatter, wider road contact. Only Goodyear could use such a tread—because only Goodyear can build tires with Supertwist as a carcass foundation.

See the "G-3" All-Weather at your Goodyear Dealer's. Get the prices on your size. Although it costs more to build, it costs you nothing extra to buy.

"Newspapers are the sentinels of the liberties of our country."—Benjamin Bush.

THE ROOTS OF AMERICAN CRIME.

The kidnapers of William Gettle pleaded guilty in the California state court, Los Angeles, and were committed to San Quentin for life. From the bench they heard the intimation that they might be eligible for parole in several years. From the state court they were taken into the federal court, where a federal grand jury indictment was returned. Under the California law a felon is not qualified for parole if another felony indictment is pending against him. The federal department of justice plugged the hole California left open.

These felons pleaded guilty because they thought a trial might give them death. Their crime was in worst range of human viciousness. Kidnaping is the shame of the American nation, and yet these criminals, freshly revealed and confessed to the law, could hear at once that the law itself contained a possible escape for them.

Their hope of parole faded, it was reported, when the second indictments were brought in. What gave them any hope? What conditions could promise a rosier future than one of prison walls for such felons? It is known that crime pays politics and politics protects crime. There is an alliance which reveals its existence in criminal immunities, jail breaks, escapes, paroles, intimidation of witnesses, court delays, jury corruption, and the demoralization of justice. The alliance is strengthened by the sentimentality of weaklings and the indifference or ignorance of the public.

When Americans take the pains to learn that the lawlessness afflicting them has definite causes and then act upon the information their national life will not be so scandalized by crime.

THE CANOE CRUISE.

Graceful as a swan, buoyant as a cork, silent as a shadow, the birch bark canoe of the American Indian was the handiest of all primitive craft designed for travel on inland waters. Long boats and improvised dugouts of the early voyageurs and pioneers were clumsy and unreliable beside the Indian's canoe, the art of construction of which has been forgotten or lost by all surviving aborigines except possibly a few in remote and inaccessible places.

Fortunately the graceful lines and easy paddling qualities of the birch bark craft have been preserved in the canvas covered canoe now so popular among sportsmen. It is not back breaking labor to paddle a canoe or tote one across a portage once one has mastered the knack of it. It is one of the most delightful of experiences to vanish from the busy business world for days or weeks to live the life of the simple savage [with modifications, of course], to paddle down a placid stream through mysterious forests, to float lazily upon the current when the mood insists, to risk an upset in a stretch of white water when adventurously inclined, and to sleep at night beside a comfortable campfire.

Every boy should know the joys of an expedition such as that. That is why THE TRIBUNE annually sponsors a canoe trip for Chicago Boy Scouts. It would prefer that all who desired could be taken on these trips, but that, of course, is out of the question. The number of boys must be limited to make the party compact and manageable. The date of the start of THE TRIBUNE'S 1934 Boy Scout canoe expedition has not been set as yet, neither has the route been chosen. If the drouth persists and streams remain low the boys may do their paddling on lakes. At any rate, the seventh annual expedition will not be called off.

MAKING GOOD CITIZENS AND SUCCESSFUL MEN.

The reserve officers' training camps have been an object of the acute disfavor of pacifist propaganda since their establishment. Pink or red clericals detest them. The advocates of sentimental internationalism, the peculiar individuals who think that militarism means any preparation of the citizen for the defense of his country, the radicals who would like to have the institutions of the republic overturned at the first opportunity, would like to see the R. O. T. C., the civilian training camps, and every effort to strengthen the defense of the country against external and internal enemies abolished and are unitedly working to get rid of citizen training in arms. And unfortunately the opposition to this tendency is inadequately organized and is weakened by indifference if not hostility in the government and among citizens too preoccupied with their personal affairs to look beyond them to their vital interest in national defense.

This latter factor of popular sentiment would very promptly disappear if a threat of war appeared, as it vanished over night in 1917. But that is a tardy conversion to common sense and has sacrificed thousands of our defenders when war came in past time. It would be wiser to correct it in time of peace.

The correction must begin with a better knowledge of the nature of the training given in these camps and the benefits derived by the men who receive it. This is by no means confined to military knowledge. Probably that is the least of its benefits. The camps are centers of loyal Americanism, makers of men and citizens. They benefit the youth who attends them, even in his civilian career, for intelligent employers know that the youth who has passed through such an organization as the R. O. T. C. is trustworthy. This is an advantage which any young American, especially at this time, must value. The strict performance of duty, loyalty to our common country, and devotion to our national ideals make manhood and the qualities which bring honorable success in any walk of life. The youth who prepares for the defense of his country prepares for his career in any peace time vocation.

TO REVIVE BUILDING CONSTRUCTION.

The basic thought back of the recovery program was that what was required was to get an increase in the amount of goods consumed. Therefore the solution the brain trust had for what was ailing us was an increase in the amount of money in the hands of spenders, particularly farmers and labor. Get these classes buying more goods and all will be jake.

Nearly a year ago, however, Prof. Tebbutt of Harvard, not identified in any way with the new deal, advised the brain trust that the full attainment of the purpose of the government to raise the level of consumption of the mass of the people would not bring about full or lasting prosperity. Tebbutt showed conclusively that the widely held belief that actual consumption of goods by consumers was severely curtailed in a business slump was a misconception. He had found that the ultimate consumers used almost as much food, clothing, household furnishings, and miscellaneous goods in 1931 and 1932 as in the most opulent years. But while the consumption of goods by consumers held up remarkably well during the preceding three years, the consumption of producers' goods dropped to well nigh the vanishing point. To find the way out of a depression, according to Prof. Tebbutt, was to discover a method not of getting people to eat more but of awakening building construction and equipment purchases.

We have had a year of the recovery program, driven by the fierce energy and strong language of Hugh Johnson, and Federal Relief Director Hopkins has just announced that there are more persons on relief than before the recovery program started. Here and there there have been increases in the amount of goods consumed, but after a year of the cure the charity lists are longer than they were before we began taking it. And if experience in this community is a criterion, fully a third of those out of work are that way because the capital goods industries are stagnant. The correctness of Dr. Tebbutt's diagnosis has been established.

The announcement made on Monday that the brain trust had completed plans to stimulate building revival was an admission by the brain trust that the purchasing power or forgotten man theory of business revival had failed. In fact, it is now becoming increasingly evident that the so-called recovery program has impeded rather than promoted the resumption of normal business activity. This is well reflected in the lumber industry. Lumber production in the United States declined from 73 billion board feet to 10 billion in 1932. Last year there was a slight recovery to 13. But even this pickup was largely due to speculative buying to anticipate the increase in prices, which amounted to 57.5 per cent. These higher prices, raised through the good offices of NRA, effectively discouraged the consumption of lumber in building. And the Alexander Hamilton institute has pointed out, with rents and taxes what they are, it is unsound to build at present prices.

Instead of meeting the fundamental difficulties confronting the construction industry, the brain trust attributes the stagnation of the industry to lack of credit, and now asks that two new banking enterprises be set up to guarantee loans up to a billion dollars for building and modernizing homes.

What is needed to bring about a resumption of building is not more money, but a treatment of sound economics inspiring confidence in our money, so that a borrower can know what he will have to pay to meet the mortgage when it is due, and a lender will know what he will get back at maturity. That confidence will return when it becomes definitly certain that there is to be no more tinkering with our money, through manipulation of the gold price or doing something for silver. A further condition precedent to larger activity in the construction industry is the elimination of government inspired price fixing which makes building unprofitable on the current scale of rents. It is not a shortage of borrowable money which stifles the increase in building contracts. The Medill Building and Loan association, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE for its employés, has more idle funds than at any time in its history.

Governments had and still have an opportunity to promote business recovery, but that opportunity does not consist in interfering with the carrying on of private enterprise, nor of adding to the present redundancy of money seeking investments. If governments will slash their expenditures to the bone, the resulting moderate taxes will act as a powerful stimulus to building construction.

LA FOLLETTE TO QUIT THE G. O. P.

[The Bloomington Pantagraph.]

It is announced that Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who has been elected to the seat his father occupied before him under the head of a Republican candidacy, will throw off the thin disguise at the coming election, when he will seek another term.

But La Follette is not going to jump over into the Democratic party. Instead, he will organize a new party, with a platform of his own making, which will probably be half Democratic, half Socialist, but none of the old G. O. P. fragments hanging on to it.

Whatever may happen to the senator by this move, he can at least be given credit for seeing the light sooner than some of the other senators who are equally out of place in the Republican camp. Senator Norris of Nebraska and Senator Hiram Johnson of California are two who come under this head. Both are glad to use the Republican label in election campaigns and on the ballot, but their official actions are, without exception, in opposition to officially affirmed Republican platforms and against Republican candidates. This precious trio openly supported Roosevelt for President in 1932, although each was holding office as a Republican.

Wisconsin politics is traditionally a family affair, with the La Follettes as the ruling dynasty.

It will be interesting to watch the campaign of Senator La Follette in the guise of an independent, or whatever he may choose to call his new party. It will at least give somebody a chance to run for senator on the ticket which the La Follettes have preempted for a generation.

"GEN. JOHNSON says Darrow report on NRA is 'superficial,' 'intemperate,' 'inaccurate,' 'prejudiced,' 'one sided,' 'inconsistent,' 'nonsensical,' 'insupportable,' 'false,' and 'anarchistic.'" Tut, tut! What is the matter with Gen. Johnson? He's not up to his old form. Almost anybody could think of a lot more words than the ones he turned loose. He ought to be able to add to the list which he gave out without the slightest effort and with his hands tied behind him and his feet in a sack such words as "uncalled for," "demoniacal," "inequitable," "piratical," "irreligious," "ingratitude," "ruthless," "iconoclastic," "hooligan," "chicken stealer," "bird nest robber," "hell houndish," "hyenaish," "baby bank burglar," "pitiless," "conspiracy," "arson," "murder," and "irreverent." And right on top of those terrible words Gen. Johnson should have topped everything off by saying that he thought Mr. Darrow was a mean old thing, so there now!

CROSS MY PALM.

"Cross my palm with silver," a black-eyed gypsy said,
"And you will find a flaming hearth and lips of cherry-red."

I crossed her palm with silver coins, as I went lazing down
A winding path, across a hill, that leads to Camden Town.

"Faith, you'll meet young Elinor,"
The black-eyed gypsy said,
"And she could stand before the king,
But waits for you instead.
The king will send his dappled mare,
And satins such as ladies wear,
But it is written she will wait
A wandering man, beside a gate."

Faith, I met young Elinor, as I went lazing down
The winding path, across the hill, that leads to Camden Town.
Her eyes were green; her hair was black;
Her lips were cherry-red;
"The king will send his dappled mare,
And satins, too," I said;
"And what have I to do with days
That call for fires and homing ways?
O, you shall charm a king, my dear,
And I will wander far from here."

A harvest moon had waxed and waned; an autumn chill fell down,
As I went back along the path that leads to Camden Town.

"Cross my palm with silver coins," the black-eyed gypsy said,
And you will find a flaming hearth and lips of cherry-red."

"I crossed your palm with silver coins, as I went lazing down
The winding path, across the hill, that leads to Camden Town;
But I shall cross your palm again, if you will tell me, fair,
Does she stand before the king and ride the dappled mare?"

"Cross my palm with silver coins," the black-eyed gypsy said,
O, she could stand before the king, but waits for you, instead."

Faith, I met young Elinor as I went hasting down
The winding path, across the hill, that leads to Camden Town.
Her eyes were green; her hair was black;
Her lips were cherry-red:
"I think you passed this way before"
Was all the lady said.
She sat upon a dappled mare,
In satins such as ladies wear,
And as she passed I heard her sing
A roundelay to please the king.

"A curse upon the gypsy tribe, and curse their lying ways,
And curse the wandering fools," I cried, "who tread the autumn days

THIS CHANGING WORLD. Up on the North Side near Evanston Sunday I noticed a sign, "Currency Exchange." What in the world is a currency exchange? Right across the street was a bank, so a "Currency Exchange" couldn't be the same as a bank or it wouldn't be doing business in that particular place. A policeman strolling down the street said a "Currency Exchange" was a place where they cashed vouchers and checks paid to policemen, teachers, firemen, and city employés generally who were paid in paper promises instead of cash. Ah! And indeed this changing world! It's hard to keep up with it.

PASTEURIZING MILK AT HOME.

N. E. McKINNON of the University of Toronto gives the following methods for home pasteurization of milk:

1. Heat milk in a double boiler to 145 degrees Fahrenheit. When the milk reaches that temperature the boiler is pushed to the back of the stove and left there for thirty minutes. In this location the milk remains well above 115 degrees for the thirty minute period. After this time the milk is cooled as rapidly as possible, ice being used when available, and then it is to be kept cold until used.

This method requires no equipment except a double boiler, which most families have, and a simple thermometer reasonably accurate and costing about sixty cents.

2. Bring the milk to the boiling point. Then cool at once.

In the second method there is some scum formation and the milk acquires a cooked taste. Neither of these is of any importance except that some users may consider the product less appealing.

The second method appears superficially to be a boiling rather than a pasteurizing method. However, the milk is not allowed to boil. "Coming to the boiling point" means that some part of the milk has reached 212 degrees of heat. Probably the bulk of it is not above 200 and some is less warm, for heating is never uniform.

A third method, used by many people, is as follows:

Partially fill a boiler with hot water. Place a spoon on the bottom. Set a container, partially filled with milk, in the hot water. The bottom of the container should be lifted away from the bottom of the boiler by the spoon. Set the boiler on the stove and heat until the milk reaches 145 degrees. Push the boiler to the back of the stove and leave there for thirty minutes. Cool as rapidly as possible.

A fourth method is as follows:

Heat the milk to 145 degrees in a boiler. Then pour it while hot into an insulated bottle. It is well to preheat the bottle by rinsing it with hot water. Stopper the insulated bottle and put in the pantry. It has been found that milk put into an insulated bottle at this temperature will be at a temperature above 115 at the end of fourteen hours. The warm milk is used directly from the insulated bottle. If any of it be left at the end of twelve hours it is removed from the bottle, quickly cooled, and then put away in the ice box in a well covered vessel. So long as the temperature remains at 115 or above the destruction of bacterial life continues. When it is between 55 and 110 such bacteria as have survived multiply. Therefore, when milk is being pasteurized by the insulated method, it is not to be left in the bottle after its temperature has dropped below 115 unless it is chilled to 55 or below.

MADRID.—What becomes of hangmen when nations abolish the death penalty? A Spanish newspaper man who was told to get the answer in the case of Madrid's former executioner, found his man living quietly—across the street from a cemetery.

Casimiro Municio was hangman for three years before the republic threw him out of work by abolishing capital punishment. Now there is a bill before parliament to reinstate the extreme penalty.

Municio insists that he never had any special interest in being hangman and just lives across the street from a graveyard by coincidence. He says he has no regrets for the old days, but of course if the government calls him back he'll be there.

Asked how he got to be hangman, Municio explained simply that in his former job of policeman he didn't make enough money to support his wife and three children, so when the post of executioner became vacant he applied. Eleven other men did also, but he answered the requirement of calm nerve best.

In three years Municio did 12 jobs for the state in Madrid and various provincial cities, traveling about with his gallows just as his more famous French colleague goes about France with his guillotine.

Municio's interviewer tried to elicit some expression of enthusiasm over the possible reëstablishment of his work in Spain, but without success.

"It's true I'd have my job back," said the hangman, "but it would be too bad. You see, I don't believe in capital punishment."

THE BALANCE.

Chicago, May 18.—This morning's TRIBUNE contains two items that are of much interest for exactly opposite reasons. The first is that Chicago has just sold $10,000,000 of bonds at a premium. This transaction reflects the improving financial condition of the city as a consequence of economies that have been introduced and steps that have been taken to balance the budget. In this item there is encouragement.

The second item is that the deficit of the federal government for the fiscal year ending June 30 next will be about four thousand million dollars. Since the population of Chicago is one thirty-fifth of the population of the United States, one thirty-fifth of that huge deficit belongs to the citizens of Chicago. They must eventually pay it with interest; the only possibility of escape is for the federal government to repudiate its debts.

Now one thirty-fifth of the federal deficit of four thousand million dollars is more than $114,000,000. Thus while our local governmental agencies are leading us toward a balanced budget and solvency, the national government is driving us in the opposite direction with reckless speed. Up to the present there has been a good market for securities of the federal government, partly because under existing uncertainties they have been almost the only ones banks could buy and partly because the federal treasury has had a huge so-called stabilization fund with which to manipulate prices. But the road we are traveling leads straight to a condition in which the market for federal securities will fail, and then will swiftly follow disasters such as this country has never known.

Let us fix firmly in our minds the fact that our part of the federal deficit for this year is more than $114,000,000. The commitment for this enormous sum was made in Washington, which is far away, but it must be paid sooner or later right here in Chicago. A. G.

PRECISELY.

Chicago, May 14.—Last Sunday night while listening to the Irish hour I was very much surprised to hear Morris Lynch, whom I had previously considered to be a very impartial and level headed gentleman, attacking THE TRIBUNE because of an article which appeared in its Voice of the People column with regard to the Irish exhibit at the World's Fair. It is true that the writer of the article, whoever he was, spoke disparagingly of the Irish people. Mr. Lynch, however, makes the mistake of inferring that the contents of the article represent the viewpoint of THE TRIBUNE with respect to the Irish race.

Mr. Lynch might be interested in knowing that the Voice of the People represents merely the opinions of the authors of articles appearing therein and not the editorial policy of the paper.

I am of Irish descent and am quick to resent the slightest attack made upon my forbears. Nevertheless, I am fully aware of the fact that THE TRIBUNE conducts a most impartial public column in which articles may be found representing the most widely divergent opinions and in which the views of every one, fanatic or otherwise, are set down in print.

Within this very column THE TRIBUNE has permitted numberless charges to be directed against itself. Is this not impartiality? Why then does Mr. Lynch take occasion to brand THE TRIBUNE as a prejudiced publication without basis in fact? WILLIAM S. MURPHY.

TO A BIRD LOVER.

Chicago, May 18.—In answer to Mrs. H. M. Barrell:

There can be no doubt it was the rose breasted grosbeak that you saw. It is rather a rare bird at the present time. It is a transient in this region. It breeds in northern Michigan and the southern part of Canada, among the pines. It is the size of a robin. Its song has a superficial resemblance to the robin's, but is much prettier.

Here is the description: Head, throat, and upper parts jet black; breast marked with a triangle [point down] of rose red, or deep rose madder, which color extends beneath the wings, over the under coverts, and rarely down the center of the white under parts; lower back white, tipped with black; primaries white at the base; the outer feathers of the tail tipped with white on the inner webs. Female marked like a sparrow. There is a good picture in the National Geographic bird book. This information is taken from "Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music," by F. Schuyler Mathews.
ERNEST V. RITTENHOUSE, M. D.

Chicago, May 18.—The bird Mrs. Barrell saw was undoubtedly a towhee or chewink, so named from its call. It is an elegant, spruce looking bird that seems continually in motion. Though a robin is ten inches and a towhee is only eight and three-fourths, at first glance you can be easily mistaken. But look closer and you will see it is only its sides that are chestnut red; its center part is creamy white. When it flies you see that its outer tail feathers are white. The female is the same excepting that her upper parts are grayish brown. They have been seen around for at least two weeks.

Ernest Thompson Seton wrote down their song as chuck-burr, pill-a-will-a-will, the best description of it, Chapman says, ever given. MARY REILLY.

WOMEN GATHER FOR CLUB MEET AT HOT SPRINGS

Hundreds of Delegates to Attend Council.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hot Springs, Ark., May 21.—[Special.]—A United States senator from Washington and an obscure little delegate from Podunk fraternized happily today in the Arlington hotel—just two among the hundreds of delegates swarming into this sightly southern city for the sixteenth council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Advance indications are that it will prove a milestone in the history of this organization, which knits together thousands of feminine groups throughout the country.

Lobby, mezzanine, and all corridors buzzed for hours with the activities of executives, delegates, and visitors. Senator Hattie Caraway paid the gathering the compliment of a visit because it had chosen to pay her home state the compliment of one, en masse.

Given Honorary Degree.

Besides, she had just collected an honorary doctor's degree from the Jonesboro Agricultural college in her home town of Jonesboro, in the same general vicinity. Federation members told each other enthusiastically that it marked a precedent, since they never before entertained a national woman senator.

In a brisk interview this morning Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, national head of the general federation, sketched with swift, vivid conversational strokes a few details that set this current council meeting apart from its predecessors. She arrived in Hot Springs from her home at Washington, D. C., at the close of a trip to various club centers, including Chicago, where she visited the Illinois state federation sessions at the Sherman hotel.

"It will be the first time that the council meetings have been marked by debate on major topics—and we have four such controversial subjects slated for this one," she announced with evident pleasure.

Too Conservative, She Says.

"We have been, shall I say, too conservative in some avenues of thought and disinclined to go into some of these subjects.

"This meeting brings both sides of four great problems. We're going to hear the pros and cons on birth control, equal rights, old age pensions, and unemployment insurance. Yes, it definitely marks a liberalizing of thought in this organization. I am happy to say my administration has been marked by such liberal measures."

Mrs. Margaret Sanger, noted advocate of birth control, will arrive by air from Washington tomorrow night to take the affirmative side in the debate on birth control. Her opponent will be Dr. Theodore H. Ashman of Kansas City. The discussion will be followed by an open forum, but no action is scheduled.

A net gain of 8,000 members in the federation membership during the last year is one concrete fact cited by Mrs. Poole as evidence of "a rebirth of interest in the general federation" and an atmosphere of stimulation for cooperative work with the government administration. The approximate membership of the organization is 450,000, swelled to two million through affiliated groups in other countries.

Tugwell Bill Coming Up.

Action on the Tugwell food and drugs bill is anticipated as the result of a resolution to be presented to the council by Mrs. William Dick Sporborg of New York, chairman of resolutions. Mrs. Poole emphasized that it is the principle behind this legislation, rather than the specific bill itself, that will be submitted for approval or disapproval of the membership.

Tomorrow morning from 11 to 12 o'clock [C. S. T.] a program will be broadcast over a national hookup from the Crystal ballroom of the Arlington hotel, as the business sessions of the meeting are opened. The last half of the hour will be devoted to the address of Mrs. Poole, keynoting the event.

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"I am 34 years old and as far back in my life I have been constipated. I was so bad that I had one bowel movement every five or six days. I was taking every kind of drug known for constipation.

"Now for the last two months I have been eating a little ALL-BRAN night and morning and I have at least two or three bowel movements each day."—Mr. Frank Piratzky, 40-66 98th St., Corona, Long Island, New York.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also a fine source of iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking harmful patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

You'll enjoy eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, sugar or honey or fresh fruits added. Or, to use in cooking.

SOCIAL WORKERS JOIN DRIVE FOR CLEANER FILMS

Dr. Eastman Praises Catholic Program.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—[Special.]—Assembled social workers from every state in the country gave informal but apparently unanimous approval to the Catholic church's drive against dirty motion pictures through the recently organized "Legion of Decency." A section of the 61st annual conference of social work in session here this week was devoted today to the movie problem.

Prof. Fred Eastman, of the Chicago Theological seminary, gave the principal address during the discussion. He declared the Catholic program for better films to be on the right road because it is based on two correct principles. These principles, enunciated by Dr. Eastman at the outset of his address are: First, that "we cannot legislate morals;" second, that "Censorship of the movies is bad in theory and futile in practice."

Points to Revelations.

"You can't clip the devil out of pictures with a pair of scissors," said Dr. Eastman, "but these assumptions do not mean that we should adopt a do-nothing policy concerning the movies. The Payne foundation revelations concerning the profound effects of movies upon 28 million young people who go to movie theaters each week are too challenging for us to be content to do nothing."

In addition to the "Legion of Decency," Dr. Eastman advocated the development of "social control" for the industry. This control he compared with social control set up over the meat packing industry 30 years ago.

"That was a long fight," said Dr. Eastman as he referred to the crusade for inspected meats. "Today the fight is to have as much control over what the motion picture industry feeds the minds of our youth. Are their minds less important to the nation than their stomachs?"

Attacks Block Booking.

Dr. Eastman's main attacks were directed against block booking and "misleading propaganda emanating from the Will Hayes relations office." Block booking was explained as the method the motion picture producers use in forcing exhibitors to buy only what the producers want to sell. Dr. Eastman stated that England legislated against block booking in 1927. This law, he added, permits the local English exhibitor to choose the sort of films he wishes to display.

In looking ahead he said:

"Ultimately we must have a federal motion picture commission to bring the making of pictures at the source of production the point of view of men who want to help us make good citizens out of our children. At present the only point of view is that of men who want to make money out of pictures regardless of what they do to the youth of the nation."

Tugwell Addresses Meeting.

Brain Truster Rexford Guy Tugwell, spokesman for the New Deal, tonight commissioned the social workers as evangelists of "higher individualism" whose main tasks must be toward working themselves out of their jobs as charity workers.

Prof. Tugwell had much to say about sin and told how charity itself could become sinful. He referred to ways in which human virtues, particularly charity, may be debased similar to certain Russian practices.

"You must in some measure devote yourselves to constructive thought as to how we can best prevent the American people from needing your services, except in rare and accidental cases," he told the social workers.

Prof. Tugwell, however, absolved the social workers as well as everybody else from intentionally wrong use of charity up to and during the depression on the ground that wrong ideas about charity are simply hangovers from a dead era, and right ones only recently having been revealed.

Cites U. S. Relief Body.

The federal relief administration was set before the social workers as "the foremost of all recovery agencies," but they were told that recovery is not enough. The New Deal, Prof. Tugwell urged, is really something new and is bringing the country face to face with decision between courses of action.

"Either we are to permit industry to manage its affairs so that workers and farmers suffer continual small disadvantages and periodic great ones, or we are going to see to it that industry is so managed as to provide continuous employment for all and to distribute purchasing power which will enable the public to buy its goods," he declared.

CATHOLIC UNITY CRUSADE OPENED IN GREAT BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 21.—To unite Roman Catholics of the country of every shade of political opinion and every social grade in a common action for the common cause of the Catholic faith and morals is the object of a proposed national board of Catholic action. The project was outlined today in a pastoral letter by Catholic archbishops and the bishops of England and Wales. The board will consist of members of the hierarchy under the presidency of Cardinal Bourne.

The letter states that "under ecclesiastical control and guidance, the Catholic action will be directed to the watching of the press and broadcast utterances for misrepresentations with regard to the Catholic faith and practice. It will sedulously safeguard the interest of the Catholic schools in the face of threatened inimical legislation."

"It will," the letter adds, "defend the principles of Catholic morality against insidious propaganda of the new paganism. It will strive to secure for Catholics adequate representation on public bodies. It will aim at coordinating and intensifying all means hitherto employed to bring the knowledge of our holy faith to the minds of our fellow countrymen."

RAIL FARES TO CALIFORNIA AS LOW AS $57.35

round trip from Chicago in coaches. $68.50 in Tourist and $86.00 in Standard Pullman Sleeping Cars (berth extra.) All sleeping car charges reduced one-third. Go via Los Angeles or San Francisco, return via Portland or Seattle, if you wish, at no additional rail fare. En route see Zion-Bryce-Grand Canyon, Yellowstone or Colorado. Return limit Oct. 31.

Now take that trip you've always dreamed of—see the fascinating, talked-of sights of glorious California. See the mountains, the orange groves, the palms, the giant Redwoods, Movieland, gay beaches, glamorous cities. There's a new thrill every hour of every day . . . in California. Best of all, rail fares are down to new lows with all other expenses greatly reduced.

If your time is limited, two weeks is ample to "do" California, by using the famous Los Angeles Limited or San Francisco-Overland Limited.

"Two broken eggs... STARTED ME HUNTING"

NRA MEMBER WE DO OUR PART

The LEN-A-DOR—A touch of the toe and the door swings open

Service Tray—A place to set things while re-arranging shelves

Dairy Basket—For butter, eggs, cheese. Convenient for bottles

Sliding Shelf—Pulls out like a drawer—saves reaching for dishes at the back

12 Freezing Speeds—All the cold you want, when you want it and where you want it

Folding Shelf—Out of the way when you need the space for bottles or tall dishes

I set out to find a refrigerator that would solve my kitchen problems I wanted a food compartment that was really designed to hold the things I put in it. I wanted a safe container for eggs, and a place for butter and cheese. A covered dish to keep green vegetables crisp. Shelves that gave me room for bottles. Enough ice cubes whenever I needed them. Trays that didn't stick. Oh! I asked a great deal but—

I found just what I wanted in the new LEONARD

My Leonard has all these conveniences, and many others. The LEN-A-DOR saves me miles of walking. I can make every trip with both hands full, and open the door with "a touch of the toe."

I'm as proud of the looks of my Leonard as I am of its features. It is roomy, and rugged—beautifully finished, inside and out. It has made my kitchen a place to enjoy, instead of a workshop. No wonder they call it "The Complete Refrigerator."

Making Newspaper History in Detroit!

GAIN IN CIRCULATION

WITHIN A YEAR BY THE SUNDAY FREE PRESS

Average DAILY Circulation Now in Excess of

Average SUNDAY Circulation Now in Excess of 250,000

LEADING the march of progress throughout the nation, Detroit is stepping ahead with the speed of "seven league boots." The growth in circulation of both the daily and Sunday Free Press is keeping thoroughly abreast of the remarkable recovery pace set by America's Fourth City.

Today, 65,000 more families are buying and reading the Sunday Free Press than a year ago . . . laying down 10c each for the greatest Sunday newspaper value in Detroit. And 65,000 families represent a whole city nearly as large as Toledo, Ohio or Oakland, California.

Sparkling features . . . the world's best comics . . . one of the brightest rotogravure sections in America . . . coverage of world news . . . brilliant and fearless editorial content, have moved Free Press circulation mightily ahead. And on Sunday, April 29, Free Press readers were given another treat through the addition of a brand new Screen & Radio Weekly Magazine . . . an innovation in the publishing field, and the first of its kind to appear in any American newspaper.

Always one of the truly effective selling mediums of the country, the Free Press today is better . . . far better than any of its previous bests. With a constantly rising tide of acceptance, and with its advertising rate actually lower than that of eight years ago, your advertising can very profitably speak to the great Detroit market through the columns of this newspaper.

Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

Society Will Have Gay Time at Fair Party

Plan Dancing Until Dawn at Streets of Paris.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE are all sorts of interesting things planned for the opening night of the Fair, but no matter where one goes earlier, literally every one of "the pretty world" will go late in the evening to the Streets of Paris for that ball—a benefit for the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society—is to be the latest and gayest of the many affairs. With more dignity and decorum—the personnel of the committee in charge assures that—than the inaugural ball in the Streets of Paris last year, this one still will be very festive and provide fun for people of all ages.

There will be dancing continuously in each of the seven restaurants from 10 o'clock until dawn, and a cabaret show, being arranged by Mrs. Ernest Byfield, will go on every hour and a half. Mrs. Byfield's wide acquaintanceship among stage and screen celebrities insures a wonderful show and it is rumored that two Hollywood beauties are making a trip east especially to appear at the ball.

One of the interesting numbers on the program will be the singing of the young tenor, Frederic Bentonelli, who is Miss Kate S. Buckingham's protégé and who made his operatic debut at La Scala in Milan last winter. He is a native of Oklahoma and was studying medicine in this country when friends became interested in his voice and made it possible for him to go to Paris to study. This will be his first public appearance in this country, but he is to sing at Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter's residence, 1020 Lake Shore drive, Thursday afternoon, before a small group of their music loving friends.

Committee Busy Long Hours Each Day.

Mrs. Carpenter is chairman of the committee in charge of the ball and is working many hours each day at the headquarters, 946 North Michigan avenue, with her large corps of coworkers to insure that the benefit will net the society a sum that will run into five figures. Tickets, which are $5 each, may be obtained by writing to, calling at or telephoning the headquarters, Superior 8147, or Superior 5316. There will be one hundred tables on the main floor of the outdoor cabaret where supper and refreshments of all kinds will be served, but no supper is included in the price of the ticket as the committee decided it was wiser to keep the price of the tickets down and to let every one make his own supper arrangements.

Chauncey McCormick, president of the society, said yesterday that there had been many inquiries from prospective guests about what to wear and he suggested cool and informal summer attire, especially if the weather the end of the week is similar to that of yesterday.

The temperature and what one is doing beforehand will determine one's outfit for the ball, and those who are going to dinner parties before undoubtedly will wear evening clothes and those who will make a tour of the Fair first will be garbed informally. Some are planning to wear fancy dress, especially those who are going in large groups or who will be at the Colonial ball first.

Hermon Dunlap Smith is to be in charge of a large corps of ushers that night who will assist the guests to find places to sit to watch the cabaret. They will wear tri-corner hats and red, white and blue ribbons in their lapels so the crowd can spot them, and they have been chosen for their tact and agreeable manner. On Mr. Smith's committee are J. Sanford Otis, Stuart H. Otis, Charles H. Wilmerding, James F. Oates Jr., Dustin Grannis, Reed Landis, Herbert McLaughlin, Louis C. Sudler, Edward K. Welles, Donald P. Welles, Nicholas Galitzine, Carl Stibolt, Charles S. Garland, John V. Farwell III., Chauncey B. Blair, Aldis J. Browne, Henry A. Knott Jr., David A. Hulburd, Stephen Y. Hord, Robert S. Pirie, Keith Carpenter, Walter F. McLallen, Curtis Byfield, Donald R. McLennan Jr., Woodburry S. Ober, Arthur Dixon, Leonard A. Draper, George P. Brent, Talcott Griswold, Joseph C. Belden Jr., Hoyt Smith, Conway Olmsted, Jay N. Whipple, Graham Aldis, and William A. P. Pullman.

Colonial Village to Present Gay Scene.

Many who are planning to enjoy the Streets of Paris gayety late Saturday night and early Sunday morning intend to go to the Martha Washington ball in the Colonial Village first, for of course Colonial Village festivities will be over long before those of the Streets of Paris will end. Not that the Colonial Village won't be gay and festive Saturday night, for it will be, but dancing into the wee sma' hours of the morning hardly would fit in with the authentic colonial atmosphere that Tom Tallmadge has insisted upon having in the village.

The Daughters of the American Revolution are sponsoring the affair and the proceeds will go to the fund they are raising to buy the Lincoln monument that is being made by Nellie V. Walker. The monument will be given to the state to be placed at the end of the Lincoln Memorial bridge in Lawrence county.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Brashears are some of those who have planned to attend this ball.

Daughter Is Born to Clarence Mitchells.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King's telephone rang at 4 o'clock Sunday morning and brought them the glad news that they had a new granddaughter, Anne Mitchell. She is the child of the former Marjorie King and Clarence Buckingham Mitchell and she was born early Sunday

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The vogue for revivals of "The Drunkard, or the Fallen Saved," a melodrama of the 1840s said to have been staged first by P. T. Barnum, has struck Chicago with emphasis. Two productions have been launched here within the last few days—one at the North Side Turner hall, the other at the Opera club. These salubrious amusements represent a new kink in the cabaret idea; they are offered with free beer and pretzels for the patrons, seated at tables, and touches of the family music hall atmosphere of the ante-bellum period.

The Opera club's version of "The Drunkard" opened pleasantly last night, and was conducive to wholesome meditations upon the customs of our ancestors. The players, apparently all minor professionals, treated the old text with respect as a museum piece, and let the dialog do its own burlesquing.

The touch of ironic irreverence was occasionally in evidence, but it was never too heavy. The performance neatly avoided the danger of being too smarty-cat. It gave any one who has an honest interest in the folklore of the American stage a chance to see what "The Drunkard" was like in all of its original virtue.

The play deals with the fall from grace of a young gentleman who has an unfortunate chemical affinity for alcohol. He has a pretty wife, a young daughter, and a vine-covered cottage decorated with Christian mottoes, but under the nefarious and subtle temptations of Squire Cribbs—curse him for a foul-hearted villain!—he becomes a hopeless bum on the sidewalks of New York. There a good Samaritan comforts him, restores his soul, and leads him in the paths of righteousness. The plots of Squire Cribb, which involve double-dealing with a will and barefaced forgery, are exposed in the last act, and the inevitable policeman leads the unrepentant rascal off to jail. Then all hands gather round in the cottage parlor and sing "Home, Sweet Home."

The manuscript of "The Drunkard" is said to have been lost in the 1860s, and did not come to light until 1926, when it was discovered in an attic in Berkeley, Cal. Revivals of the play on the Pacific coast cities and in New York have been features of its current vogue.

The North Side Turner hall's staging of "The Drunkard" interrupted its engagement yesterday, after two performances, for changes in the cast. It will make a fresh start next Sunday night.

This Filmlet Is Compelling Little Drama

"DAWN TO DAWN."

Produced by Cameron MacPherson.
Directed by Josef Berne.
Presented at the World Playhouse.

THE CAST.

The Girl	Julie Hayden
The Boy	Frank Eklof
The Father	Ole M. Ness

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Dawn to Dawn" is a filmlet. Short—but O my . . .!

It's a compelling little picture—3,200 feet of film, 628 words of dialog. The locale is a farm, the characters an embittered invalid father, his overworked, lonely, hopeless, stolid daughter and a young man who passes—and pauses in passing.

The picture is honest, vigorous, and its sex angle is handled with delicate and searching comprehensiveness. The story, written by Cameron MacPherson and Josef Berne, is told mostly by the camera and the accompanying musical score—for which Mr. MacPherson is responsible.

You will be much impressed, I think, by the direct—and fatalistic—quality of the acting.

Smith College Club Holds Annual Meeting Today; Tea Follows

Mrs. George Blossom Jr., as chairman of the nominating committee, will present the names of Mrs. Otto G. Schmidt for first vice president and Mrs. Byron L. Pond for treasurer at the annual meeting of the Chicago Smith club this afternoon at the Tavern. The other officers—Miss Nettie Baumann, president; Mrs. Walter E. Miller, second vice president, and Miss Annie Dunlop, secretary, will continue for another year.

After the business meeting the members will give a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock for Miss Mary Ellen Chase, professor of English literature at Smith. She is spending this week in Lake Forest to give a series of lectures at Ferry hall for the benefit of the Druce Lake camp.

Tomorrow the Smith club will meet at 4 o'clock at the College club to hear Miss Marian Baucus of Northampton explain the work of those who will act as volunteer hostesses at the Smith booth in the Hall of Social Science at the Fair this summer.

Miss Bartlett Tells Beauties of Southwest

Descriptions of Noted Homes Included in Talk.

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

Having heard Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett on previous occasions tell of interesting trips to such far off places as Mallorca and Sweden her friends in the audiences yesterday afternoon and evening, at the two lectures she gave in the Art Institute, were delighted to learn that the American southwest is equally as interesting and as full of charm as those foreign countries.

Miss Bartlett's poetic and vivid descriptions of scenes, homes and native life, accompanied by colorful lantern slides, made every one feel just as three or four of the audience remarked at the conclusion of the lecture: "My, I believe I have actually been there myself."

Charmingly gowned in a brown and white spring dress with which she wore a brown brimmed hat and two cool white orchids pinned to one shoulder, Miss Bartlett traced the history, customs and natural shaping of New Mexico from the invasion of the Spaniards onward. The lecture was entitled "Home Interiors of the Southwest" and included descriptions of the lecturer's own home, El Mirador, and of the homes of two other well known Chicago families, the Arthur G. Cables' place and the junior Cyrus McCormicks' old hacienda.

It was a far cry from the prehistoric caves cut in the sides of the mountains in which centuries ago the first inhabitants lived, to the exquisite perfection of the McCormicks' dining room with its polished red brick floor and pewter service of five generations' use. It was easier, perhaps, to trace a line from the ancient six story apartment buildings, each story set well back from the lower one, of the Indians to the usual one story dwelling of the modern adobe house with its extra story on top, generally only one room, constructed solely for the view gained therefrom. The all embracing view from Miss Bartlett's house impressed her so that she named her ranch after it with the Spanish name for "outlook."

Miss Bartlett's collector's spirit has gained her the many rare and beautiful paintings, rugs, chests and silver pieces that fill her house, never, however, detracting from the dignified simplicity that suits best the rounded flowing lines of adobe construction.

The McCormicks might be considered larger collectors than Miss Bartlett for they transplanted whole parts of old houses to their own, giving the whole building, when completed, the mellow, rich color that comes from generations of baking in the sun, and the true atmosphere of an old Spanish hacienda.

A part of the Cables' New Mexican home, which dates back for two centuries, was once used as a jail. In the house are several paintings of saints done on wood, stunning things made doubly valuable because of their scarcity.

Other things learned from Miss Bartlett were that the natives build their homes a bit at a time and allow each part to dry for several weeks before adding to it or completing the house; that the Hopi men weave the blankets while the Navajo women do the weaving; and that the native women do the final plastering on the outsides of the homes and also keep the outer plastering on the churches in condition.

Miss Bartlett concluded her lecture with several magnificent pictures of the natural beauties of the country. In spite of the great heat the lecture theater was crowded at the afternoon lecture. Among Miss Bartlett's friends present were Mrs. Silas H. Strawn and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon.

Miss Bartlett is returning to El Mirador, which is 35 miles from Santa Fe, the middle of July.

THE gray stone mansion [as it was invariably called] of the late Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is to be turned into a restaurant. Not just an ordinary restaurant, but a swank eating place that it is hoped will be as fashionable as—say, the Colony restaurant in New York. There will be dining in the garden, as well as on the first and second floors of the establishment, and a smart bar, done in citron yellow and brown, will be built in the basement . . . We think the announcement is sufficient without embroidery of words. Your own imagination can supply the contrast stuff. But you might like to know that the project is not that of a big corporation of some kind. The restaurant will be operated by a woman who runs a tea shop in Evanston.

IT was only a year or so before her death that Mrs. McCormick confided to a friend her permanent plans for the home that was a wedding present to her from her father, John D. Rockefeller. After her death it was to be a museum for the city of Chicago, she said. Her finest treasures were to remain in the house, and the maintenance fund she would provide would be large enough for the occasional purchase of new art treasures.

* *

ALL the guests were late at a dinner party Saturday evening because they had driven out to the stockyards fire. It was nearly 10 o'clock before they were all assembled, and during dinner they exchanged tales of the catastrophes they had witnessed. After dinner one of the guests went to the piano and began to play. Her first selection was:

"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

THE song title was a favorite line with the firemen themselves. It was typical of the American spirit, perhaps, that a stout hearted fire fighter, his helmet and coat dripping and his face smudged, reappeared from the shell of a building, one wall of which was still ablaze, singing it humorously.

IN spite of the fire, the team of horses which Harry McNair promised to Mrs. Jacob Baur to draw the French coach containing six beautiful girls advertising the charity ball to be held in the Streets of Paris at the Fair Saturday evening for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, was produced at the stated time. With telephone wires down and the stable a ruin, there was a wild scurrying around yesterday to locate the team in time for the photograph. It was duly taken, with President Dawes greeting the coach occupants as they drove down the Avenue of Flags. We think it would have been really a news picture if the girls had been drawing the coach, with Mr. Dawes seated inside. . . . Irrelevant, perhaps, but we've always regretted some fortunate photographer was not present on an evening at the Fair last summer to immortalize a picture of some interest that the foregoing sentence brings to mind. It was that of Miss Edna St. Vincent Millay traveling along gayly in the moonlight in a ricksha, and pulling it, not a college lad in orange shorts, but Mr. Thornton Wilder.

JOHN C. FLANAGAN of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch Chicago office is six feet two inches tall and weighs something under 250 pounds, which made it a little surprising to have a book store girl, whom he had asked to suggest something for him to take to read on a recent trip, offer:

"Little Man, What Now?"

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt have as their guests at the White House Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morgan and their small son, who are next door neighbors of their hosts at Hyde Park.

Mme. Saito, wife of the Japanese ambassador, was hostess at luncheon today, having as her guests Mrs. William Howard Taft, Mrs. Owen J. Roberts, Mrs. Chester C. Bolton, Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr, Mrs. J. Pierrepont Moffat, and Miss Mable Boardman.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thompson of Chicago, who spent the winter in Washington, have given up their apartment in the Highlands and returned to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Newbold Jr. returned to Washington today from New York, where their marriage took place Saturday. Mrs. Newbold was Miss Katharine Emily Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wilkins and granddaughter of the late Bariah Wilkins of Washington.

Attic Opens New Quarters on Top of Field Building

The Attic, luncheon club for bankers, lawyers, brokers and merchants, opened its new quarters on the top two floors of the Field building, at La Salle, Adams, and Clark streets yesterday with a buffet luncheon. Arthur G. Cable is president of the club, which was organized in 1923, and now has 300 members. The club has been located on the fifth floor of the Field building. The new quarters include a lobby, lounge, two story main dining room, bar, three private dining rooms and offices.

Five Thousand at First Passion Play Performance

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

OBERAMMERGAU, May 21.—The first public performance of the Passion play today was more favored in two respects than was last Thursday's preliminary presentation. The weather was at its best and out of the audience of some 5,000, at least 1,000 were foreigners, mostly Americans and British.

Tips Expedite Final Shopping of Bride-to-Be

Suggestions Equally Good for Any Summer Girl.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Last minute shopping expeditions of a bride-to-be are likely to be hectic affairs in search of something different for the bridesmaids that saunter up the aile before her, so here are a few suggestions or a bit of timely news about such purchases. Of course, these things are not just for bridesmaids, any summer girl can buy them and wear them with good results.

First, the bracelet and bag duet made of tiny flowers, the bag a half moon affair of tiny blossoms in pastel tints, the bracelet a matching band of the same flowers four rows wide. The yellow numbers are fetching for a blonde or redhead, the pinks and blues are practically foolproof for color for any wedding party, and the geranium red beauties are the last word in grand color contrast for summer clothes.

Airy capes of organza that just reach the bend of the elbow are lovely. You can find them in white, sooty black and colors. They are practical additions to any summer wardrobe. Think of the dresses for which you can use them as tops, from your flowery printed afternoon cottons to the long slinky silks and fluttery organdies for evening. Practical bridesmaids' gifts that will make the most blasé person utter heartfelt thanks are the delightful new net blouses that are surely the most decorative as well as coolest things you can wear. Look for them in soft pastel printed plaids, especially effective in raspberry red, gray, brown, and white combinations. They are just diaphanous enough to look like luxurious trifles, but you'll be surprised the way they wear and tub.

The most gorgeous glass ash trays and matching humidors are what a fairy godmother would be likely to give a bride, but they will make breath taking wedding or gala event gifts for anybody. Heavy swanky things of classic simplicity, just a few of the stunning pieces of glass in a newly unpacked collection of gifts for the June season.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—A luncheon, musical, and causerie of a nature that gives significance to modern social life formed a matinée given by Arthur Williams at his Roslyn country place, Brook Corners, for Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly. The guests were seated at a long table decorated with silver bowls of American Beauty colored tulips and silver candelabra. Coffee was served on the Spanish terrace overlooking the waterfall on the estate.

After luncheon James W. Gerard gave an informal talk on social and economic conditions in America today. Pierre C. Cartier spoke on relations between France and the United States. Others who spoke informally were Dr. Robert Bridges, Clarence H. Mackay, Louis Wiley, and William C. Breed.

THE WRONG MAN

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Cara Follette, a Canadian girl traveling in Europe, meets Jerry Flint, a young English singer, while sailing on the Alster at Hambourg. She invites him to lunch at the home of absent friends, where she is staying.

INSTALLMENT II.

NO ORDINARY AFTERNOON.

When Jerry had finished his song, he took his hands from the keys, turned to her and said across the long space of shining floor: "You are an only child."

"Yes," she nodded.

"Traveling this world alone?"

"Yes," she nodded impatiently, "but go on singing."

"You love music?"

"I've been lately in Leipzig, in Munich, in Berlin, in Dresden. I've heard opera for the first time. Music here has opened a whole new world to me," she said. "I think I've gone quite mad. But I'll have to sober up again so soon . . . so go on singing."

He disregarded that. "You—'sober up?' Is that so? Tell me, you play some instrument yourself? You sing a little?"

"No! No!"

"That's a 'no' with a reason behind it. Why don't you?"

"Well," she said meditatively, "my aims in life are very different. They must be." She said that with a resolution that intrigued him. "But I can love music in my untutored way." She laughed: "And musicians."

"And musicians!" he smiled. "Good! But what are your aims?"

"Business."

The word came succinctly, and without hesitation.

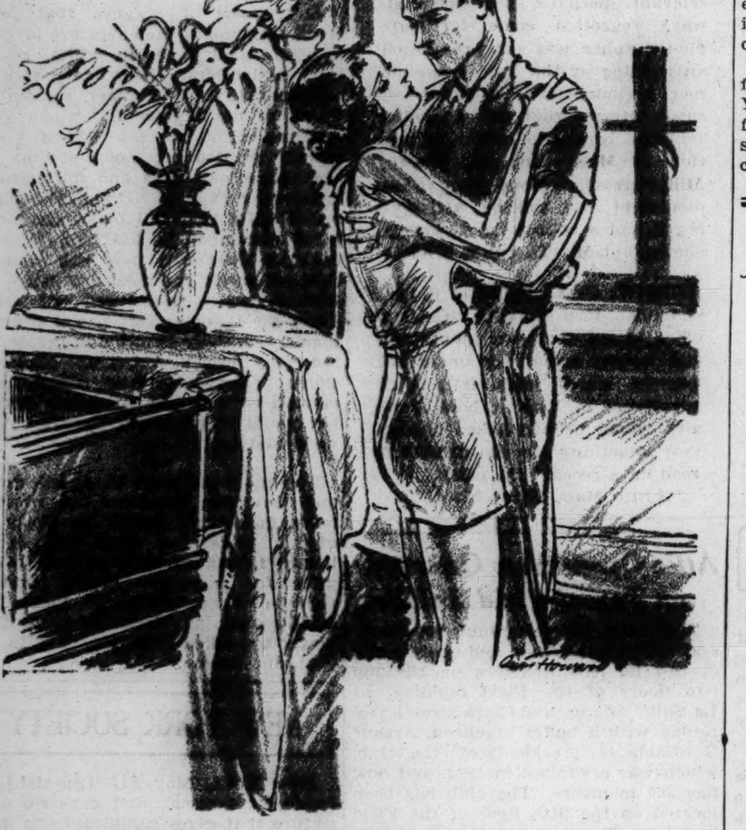
"Business! You!"

She explained:

"I'm the only child of a very great business man, and he expects from me what he might expect of a son."

"Does he!" said the singer softly.

"'M. He does, and I shan't fail him. I came abroad to study languages, and to make business contacts which will be useful to me when I become father's partner."



For the first time in her life Cara was in a man's arms.

"And I find you sailing a boat on the Alster, showing kindness to waifs and strays, and surrendering to—music."

"That means nothing!"

He looked her full in the eyes, and Cara felt her cheeks hot. His look lingered deliberately on the blush. "Ah!" he said, "you've been learning life just as I have. What is worth while, what is not worth while. I left a stuffy office in a provincial town with every penny my parents had ever made me save—and they were some savers, believe me. I came over here."

He struck a very soft accompaniment to his words, on the piano, almost soundless chords, hesitating, and punctuating:

"I got a lift part of the way on a barge that was one of a line of barges as long as a railway train. What a waterway! O! it was very good! I sat on top of a great load of lumber, and sang my heart out. You, Cara, you have been wandering and adventuring too."

"Well . . . wandering."

"It is such a pity to miss the adventure," insinuated the young man.

"Perhaps I've had some after all." She began obviously to cast her mind back, and was curiously confused by his shout of laughter.

"If you can't even remember it, there was none, Cara. No. As I look at you, I see that you have not adventured. I am sorry."

They had lunched, a time of swift growing intimacy, laughter, some excitement. They went straight back to the music room and he began again to play; some Strauss waltzes. The music was insidious. Its recurrent rhythm, its languorous dream filled the big room and seemed to wash over her out into the garden beyond. There was soon a sense of complete solitude and privacy in the house. The butler and his wife—the only two servants in charge—went to their own quarters. The young man sometimes sang the music to his own accompaniment, sang it without words.

Cara stayed breathless, expectant, where she had sunk down on the window seat, wondering what must come next. For this afternoon was no ordinary afternoon, merely passing away. At the back of her mind, since childhood had been left behind, she had known that the road to which her father—so splendidly—led her, was a one-way speed track. No lingering for the picnics, the ramblings, the rose gatherings, the allurement and the fun which filled the heads of her contemporaries, those few girls with whom she had played a little and parted from, known at school for fleeting years and to whom she had said farewell. She had known that the treasure hunt of these other girls was the normal treasure hunt of warm youth, though she herself was destined for sterner, more magnificent, more triumphal things. So she dreamed proudly of her heroic future. Yet on this dangerous day, with music and flowers and beauty and romance assailing her as she had seen them assail the other girls—the weaker ones—she suffered a pang, a resentment, a heady longing.

She found herself thinking that, hot and clear. "I'm sorry, too." Without intention, she spoke aloud: "I'm sorry for what I miss."

In a moment she was hoping he had not heard such a traitorous denial of faith. But he had heard. His singing stopped again, he raised his hands from the keys, and kept them lifted. They seemed lifted towards her. She rose, and simultaneously he rose, and ran to her. "My dear!" he muttered, "but you've got all time before you." For the first time in her life Cara was in a man's arms.

"O, you're beautiful!" he cried ardently. "I've never seen a more beautiful thing!"

He kissed her. And Cara knew, hotly and clearly and without compunction, that she was hugging herself close to him, closer and closer so that this first kiss need not end.

Jerry Flint no more desired it to end than did she. "How old are you?" he demanded through the kiss.

"Twenty-one," she answered, muffled.

"What a cruel waste it has been."

Then Cara recovered herself enough to think a little, to spread fingers over his mouth that again sought hers.

"No! No!" she whispered.

"Yes! Yes!" said Jerry Flint, tearing her hand away and holding it gently, but fast imprisoned in his. The second kiss was like the first. But a minute later, because his mind always stayed cool, realizing that this girl was afraid both of him and herself, he let her go. He moved with her to the window seat and sat down beside her, an arm that became just tender and friendly still about her shoulders, and watched her very carefully.

"What is it?" he begged. "What did it matter?"

Her father had taught her: "If you find yourself in any danger of any kind, look it in the face, and have it out with yourself." Cara took Jerry Flint's soothing question literally and deliberately:

"That weakens one."

He smiled and teased her: "Divine thing. Have you only just discovered that? I suppose so. How strange, and sad! Well, mayn't we weaken, a little bit, on such a summer afternoon as may never happen to us again?"

Only, as he said it, he knew that he meant it to happen again. And Cara knew, too, that it would happen again. They would have other summer afternoons.

Doris Blake Answers

Maturity Is Important Thing.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love is 21. I am 23. Is there too much difference in our ages?

"WONDERING."

If he is older than his years, okay. But after all 21 is rather young, you know.

Attempt to Agree.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow, but we can't seem to agree. I told him I loved him. I am heartbroken.

"L. R."

How about trying to agree? You must be quarrelsome, too, because it takes two to make a quarrel.

Teacher Often Cures Child of Stealing Habit

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

This is the fourth of the articles for teachers on child management in the schoolroom.

Stealing, you discover, has been going on in your classroom. That is rather a shock to you.

Now, disturbing the class or leaving home work undone or acting silly to make the children laugh—well, you expect those things. But does stealing make you look askance at a boy or girl?

It does seem in a different category from ordinary misbehavior, doesn't it? Yet it must not make you draw away from the pupil who is guilty. All it should make you feel is, "Here is a child who needs real help."

The way for you to be of real help to that child is to do the thing which we advise a mother to do—to dig around the roots of this action—gently, persuasively—and find out why he steals. As we outlined in a Sunday article on stealing, there may be various hidden causes.

Perhaps this boy—and with stealing it's more likely to be a boy than a girl—steals because he wants something his parents have not been able to give him. Or he wants to treat his crowd in order to "hold up his end," or perhaps to court popularity. Or it may be that he steals to buy sports supplies like a bat or a team uniform. A talk with him and perhaps a chance to earn money and possibly a conversation with the boy's parents will often clear things up. Of course if there's dire need at home, some outside help will have to be called in. What the child steals is usually a clue to why he steals.

Since such a stigma attaches to stealing, the teacher should protect the child as much as possible while helping him.

Two Authors Doubt Filmdom Literary Taste

Can't Find Own Books for Benefit Auction.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., May 21.—[Special.]—The Writers' club of Hollywood, of which Rupert Hughes is president, and of which most of the movie writers, magazine journalists and novelists of Hollywood are members, gave a money raising tea yesterday at which prominent persons bid against each other at an auction of contributed books. Irvin Cobb, requested to autograph one of his books for the sale, hunted all around the film colony bookshops and couldn't find one. So Cobb said: "I can't make this town out; either nobody buys any books or they buy up all the books." Cobb sent $10 and asked the club to bid on somebody else's book, then put the book up for sale again and see how much money his $10 could net. Donald Ogden Stewart is another writer who couldn't find any book store selling one of his volumes.

Diana Wynyard thought she was a good horsewoman, and no doubt she is, but the saddles are different out here. That's how she explains the scars and bruises on both arms and legs which resulted from her fall while riding.

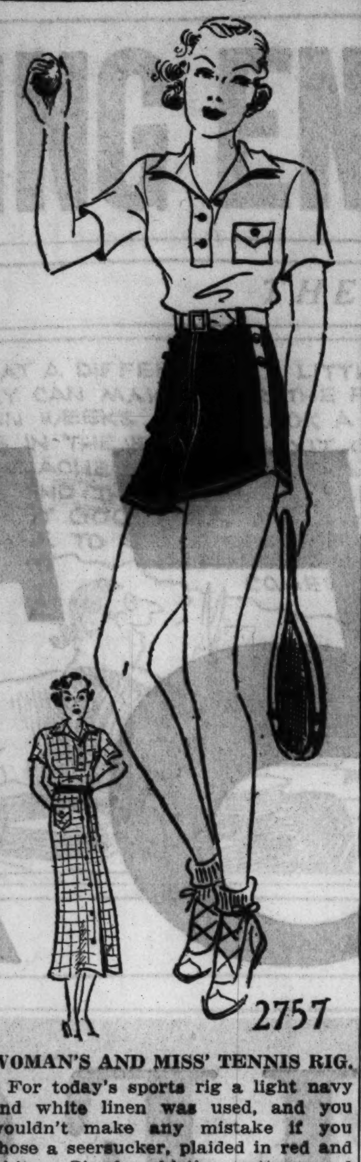
Every time one of the film writers on the Warner studio contract list got in bad with the executives he would be given a copy of "Anthony Adverse" to take home and prepare a screen treatment for. Browne Holmes must have become especially persona non grata, for one of the bosses summoned Holmes at the close of work one evening and asked him to bring back a report on "Adverse" the next morning. Holmes' report read: "Very fine story for the screen. All it needs is an epilogue."

Marie Wells, former featured operatic soloist, whose father, the late Dr. John M. Wells, was a Tulane university classmate and colleague of Dr. W. A. Evans of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, has been cast in "Ladies First" at Paramount. She's in a cast including George Bancroft, Frances Fuller, Roscoe Karns, and George Barbier. She sang the part of Lucille in "No, No, Nanette" on the coast, the lead in Shubert's "Floradora" in 1920, and the title part in "The Merry Widow."

Ted Crosby, Bing's brother, became father of twins in Spokane last Friday. Bing and Dixie Lee expect twins in September. Mary Rose, Bing's sister, had a baby girl last June. Bing's wife had a boy baby last June. The wife of Everett, Bing's brother and business manager here, had a girl baby one year ago, too. A girl baby was born in Spokane in February to Larry, another brother, and his wife. There's one brother, Bob, who is singing with Anson Weeks' orchestra in Chicago, who is the only Crosby unmarried. And Bob is weakening. He's tired of being the fellow who buys all the babies silver spoons and pink and blue trimmed jackets without getting anything in return.

Betty Furness' idea of something distinctive is papering her room with copies of telegrams she has received.

Three Piece Rig Participates in Mode for Sports



WOMAN'S AND MISS' TENNIS RIG.

For today's sports rig a light navy and white linen was used, and you wouldn't make any mistake if you chose a seersucker, plaided in red and white. Piqués, shirting cottons and shirting silks are also attractive materials. The skirt buttons from waist to hem and is easily removed for hiking or tennis.

The pattern, No. 2757, comes in sizes 14, 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

Mr. Sims is universally acclaimed the greatest living contract and auction player. He is captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four and has won twenty national championships since 1924.

RESPONDING TO AN OPENING BID OF ONE NO TRUMP.

I am deliberately repeating myself in explaining the theory of this response procedure because it is impossible to exaggerate its importance and I want to make sure that you do not content yourself with memorizing the instructions and examples which I will give. I wish you to understand the underlying theory, the reason for handling the bidding in this manner. Once understood, the theory will never be forgotten, and you will not need to memorize anything else; you will arrive naturally at the right bids by applying the theory to each individual hand as it is dealt to you.

What I Mean by "Risks."

Sometimes you must, on results, overbid a hand; at other times you may play a hand at three in your suit when your partner could, as the cards lay, have delivered three no trumps. My system is fallible like the others, and it is precisely in connection with no trumps that I believe risks should be taken in game contracts. By "risks," however, I mean the risk of being set one, at most two, tricks, on an unlucky hand, very seldom doubled. I do not mean the risk of being doubled and set three to four tricks with no play whatever to make the contract. That should never happen to you in constructive bidding. The methods here advocated will relieve you of all fear of heavy penalties in this range. You will, moreover, be relieved of the agonizing mental predicament inherent in many systems—the awful guess whether, as declarer, to rebid no trumps over a suit takeout; whether to bid three no trumps if responder rebids his suit; whether, as the responding partner, to pass the opener's two no trumps after you have made a suit takeout. You will not always be right, but you will not be seriously wrong. If you are doubled, you will be able to redouble confidently and successfully on at least half these occasions. You will find that Sims players will seldom venture any doubles of other Sims players who voluntarily arrive at three no trumps.

When Responding Hand Has No Biddable Suit.

In these circumstances your choice is between passing and bidding two no trumps. You are abandoning safety and aspiring to game; you are telling your partner that you want him to bid three no trumps although you cannot contribute a suit of five or more cards to work with. Though having only high cards without suit length, and assuming that the opener also has no suit to work with, you are promising at least a good play for nine tricks, and assurance that if the contract is not made the penalty will not be serious.

The Normal Minimum Strength for Raising

The normal standard minimum holding on which to raise the opening no trump bid to two no trumps, with no suit to bid, is one and a half tricks distributed over three suits. Include Q J x as a half trick for this purpose, the other values being primary. The less your values are distributed the greater the need for additional strength on which to raise. Lay out any hand conforming to my requirements for an opening one no trump bid, and place three kings in the dummy. This will practically always make the hand safe for nine tricks. However, with only an ace and a king, I would pass and not raise. I would look to an additional queen or a jack and a ten elsewhere in the hand, or else both the blank suits would have to consist of four cards headed by the ten or by nine-eight. Roughly, in this situation, a queen may be represented by a jack and a ten, and a jack by two tens.

Tangy Jellies Combine Fruit for Tastiness

Raspberries Complement Strawberries.

"Baking the Perfect Cake," a 56 page booklet containing directions and recipes for 48 cakes, frostings, and fillings, along with causes and remedies for cake failures, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 20 cents. By mail, 23 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Yesterday our excitement reached such a pitch over the boiling up of strawberry jelly and strawberry jam that there were no inches left for variations from the beaten patch. Today we will vary with a vengeance, for good as these foundation berry spreads are, there's a tummy tickling pleasure to be found in some of the cross breeds which start with spring berries and then go picking off other bushes for added zest.

A judicious blend of strawberries and red raspberries opens the docket. And, by the by, one of the smartest quick tricks to perform with a spoonful of strawberry and red raspberry jelly, a salty cracker, a marshmallow, and a wee spot of butter, is this:

MARSHMALLOW TEA TARTS.

Make a small slash with a wet paring knife in the center top of a soft marshmallow. Into the cut tuck a small bit of butter. Place the marshmallow on a salted cracker, dampening the bottom of the mallow slightly with water. Make up as many of these tea tarts as numbers and appetites call for, and slip them on a baking sheet, into a hot oven [425 degrees F.]. Bake for five minutes. The butter will have melted, forming a small hollow in the center of each marshmallow. Remove from the oven and drop a half or quarter teaspoonful of red raspberry and strawberry jelly in the heart of each marshmallow. Serve while still hot, puffy, and luscious.

And so for the jelly itself.

RED RASPBERRY AND STRAWBERRY JELLY.

4 cups fruit juice.
8 cups sugar.
1 bottle pectin.

For the juice you will need about 1½ quarts each of fully ripe raspberries and strawberries. Crush the cleaned fruits separately and thoroughly, then combine and squeeze out the juice through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and sugar into a large kettle and mix well. Bring to a full, galloping boil over a hot burner. Boil hard for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the pectin all at once and let it again come to a full boil. Boil hard for half a minute. Then take at once from the burner, skim, and pour quickly into hot, clean jelly glasses. Seal while hot with melted parffin and you will have about 11 glasses of one of the most sweet tooth tempting jams a young marauder ever angled for in his mother's pantry.

But now to go off the strawberry standard for a space and initiate into our families—

BLACKBERRY AND RHUBARB JELLY.

4 cups fruit juice.
7½ cups sugar.
1 bottle pectin.

To form the fruit juice, put through the food chopper 1½ quarts of ripe blackberries and 1½ pounds of ripe rhubarb, cut in one inch pieces. Combine the two juices and measure the sugar and juice into a large kettle. Mix well and bring to a rolling boil over a very hot burner. Add the pectin at once, pouring it in all together. Stir constantly while pouring. Again bring the juices to a full galloping boil and boil hard for ½ minute. Take at once from the stove, skim, and pour quickly into hot, clean jelly glasses. Seal immediately with hot paraffin.

And, lest I've forgotten in other springs that you really should know about fluffy frosting, here 'tis as a topper-off and rounder-out for practically any simple cake your cunning may devise.

FLUFFY JELLY FROSTING.

1 egg white, unbeaten.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
⅓ cup jelly [any tart flavor].

First the jelly goes into a bowl and warms up for the start over hot water. Then, in with it to share the bowl, goes the egg white [still unbeaten] and the salt. Now plunge in a rotary egg beater and beat until the jelly is free of lumps. Take it from the hot water and continue beating until the mixture will stand in peaks. Spread over a cake and lastly dapple with bits of clear jelly. Serve at once.

A Safe Place to Keep Perfume

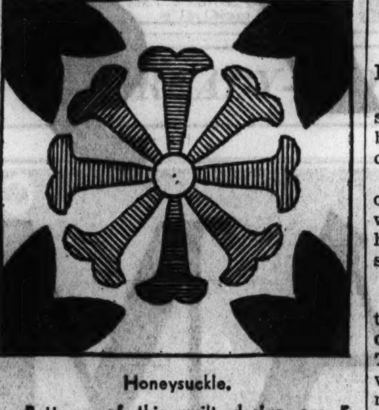
An atomizer with a lock on it to forestall the hitherto inevitable evaporation is a good investment for the woman who cherishes her perfume. This one, sold in Chicago, is less expensive than most of the locking type. Pressure on the little button in the center of the top releases the lock.

Quilt Originated in California and Traveled Eastward



Honeysuckle.

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This block in its travels reversed the customary route of quilts, due to the fact that it was made in California—about 1879—and sent to residents of the east. The color scheme of the original quilt was pale, creamy white and green on a blue ground. The completed "Honeysuckle" block measures sixteen inches square; twenty appliqué and ten plain blocks are required for a whole spread.

Graciousness and Poise Are Bases of Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The old argument about what constitutes charm raises its head again because of a recent survey among charm detectors.

Sometimes I think it is about the only world left for women to conquer, what with the skill most of the sex have acquired in taking care of themselves physically and pictorially.

But how to go about conquering this last world is what they who recognize their lack of charm would ask. The difficulty lies in the fact that women without charm often do not recognize their loss. They go stalking right along, loud voiced, perhaps, ungainly, crude in their mannerisms and speech, totally unaware that the charming girl in the group is the one earning orchids of praise.

And certainly no one will tell us if we lack the subtle gift. No best friend would dare. And an enemy's word would be charged off to jealousy, n'est ce pas?

Then we must study the woman or girl most often heard spoken of as charming, to find out if we have or haven't the prized possession. Manner, I think, makes charm more than anything else, a poised, gracious, kindly manner. And clothes. This is getting it down to a working basis, isn't it?

Manner, of course, includes such things as voice and delivery and good English, the sort of politeness that sets the other person at ease, interest in others besides self. And poise, great quantities of it, the sureness that comes with knowledge that all is right with one's skin and hair and figure and teeth and hands. You can't have poise while reminding yourself that you should have had your hair done, your nails manicured, and so on.

Then clothes give a woman a feeling of satisfaction and complete ease.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We've got cosmetics all over the office and the house. We're so loaded down with them that we've been known to moan faintly each time the doorbell rings or the office boy staggers in with another big box. This initial apprehension fades away, though, and we get just as much of a bang out of them as we ever did, once we dive into the wrappings.

In this vast store of cosmetics there is perfume, of course; we sometimes spend whole days playing with it—and they're days we enjoy. But alack and alas, we've got grand perfume one day and when we go to sniff it two weeks later the little bottle is as empty as the day it came from the glass blowers.

This evaporation of fine perfumes is a pretty serious problem, at least for those of us who can't buy loads of it at a time. When we politely suggested to a perfume expert one time that the industry ought to do something about it, he invited us to do it, practically dared us to do it, and said we'd make a million if we ever worked out anything. We've been abstracted ever since, going around with an eye glazed with concentration. We haven't gotten anywhere.

That being the sit-chee-ashun the only answer is a perfume container that protects against this fiendish evaporation. There are a few atomizers on the market with locks on 'em to close all apertures, but most of them are expensive. The one you see pictured here is the most reasonably priced one we've found. Two weeks ago we got it, and put some of our dream perfume in it. We've still got as much as we put in, and that is a record.

Once the top is screwed on everything is under control. When you want to spray a bit, the pressure of a finger on the little round button in the center of the top releases the lock.

This heaven sent locking atomizer is an attractive little thing, in clear or colored crystal. We'd call it a good investment for the woman who loves her perfume and loathes seeing it disappear into thin air.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose M. Henneberry of 6756 Oglesby avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Helen, to Ralph W. Webster, son of Mrs. Ralph W. Webster and the late Dr. Webster. Both Miss Henneberry and Mr. Webster attended the University of Chicago where Miss Henneberry was a member of the Quadranglers and where Mr. Webster was graduated last year.

Society Will Have Gay Time at Fair Party

morning in Pasadena where the family had had a house last winter.

Anne has two older sisters, Marjorie, who is eight years old, and Nancy, who is five. Just as soon as Mrs. Mitchell is well enough the family will go back to Santa Barbara and occupy the new house they are building. The Kings will make the acquaintance of their new grandchild next month when they go to their home in Santa Barbara to spend the summer.

Pleasant Meeting of Italy America Society.

Members of the Italy-America society felt that they never had had a meeting that better symbolized the bonds of friendship between the two countries than the one they had yesterday afternoon in Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell's lovely apartment at 179 Lake Shore drive.

The affair had been arranged for Signora Margherita Sarfatti, author of "Dux," the life of Mussolini, and a pleasing surprise of the afternoon was the presentation of a medal from Mussolini to Miss Clara Laughlin "for the spreading of the culture of Italy." Consul General Giuseppe Castruccio made the presentation.

Mrs. Haskell is planning what is certain to be a marvelous summer, a trip abroad with her two grandsons, Robert and David Hotz, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hotz of Lake Forest. They sail on June 30 and after seeing Italy and Jerusalem they will go to Egypt and camp near the pyramids. A motor trip through the Dolomites will follow the camping adventure.

Miller Callahans Will Visit Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller Callahan and their little son, Jimmy, who landed in New York last Thursday from their home in England, will come to Chicago next Sunday to spend a month with Mr. Callahan's mother and brother, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan and Lawrence Callahan, of 1325 Astor street. At the end of the month the Miller Callahans and the senior Mrs. Callahan will go to Rhinebeck, N. Y., to spend the rest of the summer in a cottage near that of the younger Mrs. Callahan's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pattison.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Miller are planning to remain in Evanston all summer with occasional week-end trips, but their daughter, Anne, is going to a girls' camp for the warm weather months.

A trio of Winnetkans, Mrs. Stewart Johnson and her daughter, Catita, and the latter's friend, Natalie Bell, daughter of the Laird Bells, sail on Friday on the Majestic to spend June in England and the next three months in Europe.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomay has gone east to visit her daughter, the former Elsa Bartholomay, now Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr. of Greenwich, Conn.

The current vogue for travel on small boats and visiting out of the way places is expressed in the trip that Mrs. Hubert P. Harmon and her son, Hubert Jr., have planned for next year. They are sailing July 16 from San Francisco on a Japanese boat and will spend about six months on their way from California to Germany, passing through the Hawaiian and the Philippine islands, by China, Japan, around India and on through the Suez canal. Mr. Harmon and his mother are going to stop off at any spot that interests them and stay as long there as it pleases them.

They are leaving Saturday for Los Angeles to visit Mrs. Harmon's brother, Charles Smith. Miss Welthyan Harmon and her father will remain in Highland Park for the summer. Holbrook Harmon, another son, will spend the warm months at the Skyline ranch in Wyoming.

Dewey-Smith Wedding to Be Held Tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey are not giving a bridal dinner tonight for their daughter, Louise, and Edward Byron Smith in the truest meaning of the convention, for it was given last Saturday. The Dewey-Smith wedding will take place tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Chrysostom's church and will be one of the fashionable ones of the season.

Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr., the bride's sister and matron of honor, arrived yesterday from Detroit in time to attend the dinner and theater party that Miss Jean Schweppe and Miss Mary Reed, two of the bridesmaids, gave for Miss Dewey and Mr. Smith.

Tonight the wedding party will assemble quietly at the Dewey residence on State parkway, and there will be very little celebrating.

All Nations Art Festival Tonight

Lewis Bernays, the British consul general; Dr. A. De Luca, the Brazilian consul; Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, the consul general of Italy; René Weiller, consul of France; Tytus Zbyszewski, consul general of Poland; R. Tschou-Kwong Kah, consul general of China, will be among those at the All Nations Art Festival at the Medinah club tonight for the benefit of the Red, White, and Blue club.

The art festival and dinner will start at 6:30 o'clock and later there will be dancing. Mrs. Thomas Gowenlock is president of the Red, White, and Blue club.

The Winnetka board of the Northwestern university settlement is giving another of its delightful spring bridge-teas today in the home of Mrs. Pierce C. Ward on Indian Hill road. The settlement's summer camp on the Des Plaines river will benefit from the party.

The Chicago Friendly Aid society is giving a card party this afternoon in the Stevens hotel at which they expect four hundred women to play for the benefit of the twenty charities that the society helps support. Mrs. G. Henry Mundt is the new president of the organization.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world . . . more than 5,000,000 families at a cost of less than ⅓ of a cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

IT takes millions of families to consume the millions of units produced by the volume manufacturers of automobiles, automotive accessories, foods, wearing apparel, household appliances, soap, cosmetics and tobacco.

And the publication through which to reach the largest number of families at one time is The American Weekly which, for the six months' period ended March 31, 1934, had an average weekly circulation of 5,397,157. That is more than double the circulation of this publication's nearest competitor in the national magazine field.

And that tremendous circulation is concentrated in the richest buying areas of the nation, the prime markets that consume at least three-fourths of all the goods the volume manufacturer makes and sells.

For $16,000 you can buy a color page twice as big as any other magazine page and advertise to these 5,397,157 families at a cost of less than 1/3 cent per family reached.

That means you must regard The American Weekly as the Number One magazine on your advertising list.

Biggest Circulation in the World

If your advertising funds are limited, you should concentrate your advertising in this Mighty Magazine where you can reach the greatest possible number of buyers at the lowest possible advertising cost per family.

This biggest circulation in the world is also the most responsive circulation in the world and specific evidence is available to prove its consumer and dealer influence. A color page of the Andrew Jergens Company, featuring Woodbury's Creams, published January 21, brought 122,418 inquiries up to March 21, and three black and white advertisements totaling 634 lines brought in more than 60,000 coupons for the Royal Lace Paper Works, Inc.

Brown & Williamson Corporation is happy because a 400-line advertisement in The American Weekly, last August, which featured a fifty-cent combination offer of Kool Cigarettes and a container, brought more than 11,000 replies in three months.

Most important is the actual influence of The American Weekly in the selling of merchandise ranging in price from 10 and 15 cents to hundreds of dollars.

There is just one reason why more people read The American Weekly than any other magazine; just one reason why advertising in The American Weekly makes more sales. That is because it is the most interesting magazine in the world.

No magazine on earth has such a wide and varied editorial content. In each and every issue there is something to interest and hold the attention of every member of the family.

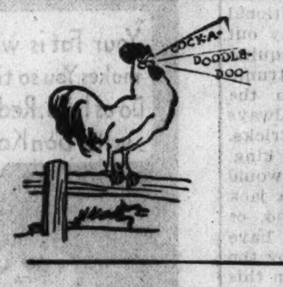
Where this Magazine goes

The American Weekly is the largest magazine in the world. It is distributed through 17 great Hearst Sunday Newspapers. In 597 of America's 995 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over, The American Weekly concentrates 67% of its circulation.

In each of 134 cities, it reaches one out of every two families
In 125 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families
In an additional 165 cities, 30 to 40%
In another 173 cities, 20 to 30%

. . . and, in addition, more than 1,900,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy and read The American Weekly.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively?



Cock-A-Doodle-Doo

Advertising linage in The American Weekly in May shows a substantial increase over May, 1933, and eleven manufacturers are using one or more color pages in May whose advertising did not appear in The American Weekly in color in 1933.

CUBS GET THREE IN NINTH; WHIP DODGERS, 10-9

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 21.—The Cubs staggered like old men this afternoon, but finally recovered their youthful vigor before it was too late. They capped a wild day with a three run rally in the ninth and that proved sufficient to flatten the Dodgers. The score was a mere 10 to 9, and the three Cub runs in the final inning were badly needed because a few minutes previous the bothersome Dodgers had scored four runs, which apparently gave them possession of the decision.

Thanks for the finishing touch to more than three hours of bad pitching, worse umpiring, and even a pop bottle shower, can be given to the portly Babe Phelps and Tiger Klein. With two out in the ninth and two needed for a tie, Phelps stepped up as a pinch batter and crashed a homer into the seats, scoring a man ahead of him. In the wake of this high powered drive came singles from the bats of Woody English and Klein. This pair of smashes hung up the run that won.

Cubs Use Five Pitchers.

Part of the protracted nightmare was a parade of pitchers. Bill Lee, Roy Joiner, Pat Malone, Jim Weaver and finally Guy Bush represented the Cubs. Art [Red] Herring, Owen Carroll, both Detroit discards, Walter Beck, and Emil Leonard appeared in turn for the Dodgers. They were all clipped on the chin, barring Bush, who was called in merely to make sure that the home boys behaved themselves in the ninth.

Lee's tenure was brief because of lack of control. His teammates gave him a four-run lead mainly because Grimm, back at his old job, doubled with the bases filled in the first inning. Lee then walked three men in Brooklyn's first. He yielded a hit and walked two more in the second. Out he went for Joiner, but the latter pitched to only two batters. He walked one of them and English erred on the other for a net of three runs.

Lead Seesaws.

Malone followed Joiner, and for a time was able to protect the Cubs' one run lead. Meanwhile Herring was keeping the Cubs in check. Then a homer by Taylor off Malone in the fifth tied it. The Cubs went ahead with one in the sixth, but the Dodgers tied the score again in their half. The Cubs were out in front again with two in the seventh because Hartnett produced a hit with the bases loaded. Then Malone fell apart under the strain of a homer and triple in the eighth. Weaver went to the rescue, but before the inning closed four had scored, to put the Dodgers ahead, 9 to 8. Then came the wild finish.

Cubs Make Good Start.

The Cubs got down to business in the first inning as soon as English had been dropped on strikes. Galan coaxed Herring for a pass. Klein singled to right and Galan went to third. The throw to that corner gave Klein time to reach second. Cuyler struck out, but Stephenson drew a pass to fill the bases. Then Mr. Grimm, the manager, made his outstanding contribution. He spanked a two base drive to the wall in left center and all the boys on the bases ran home. Grimm followed them across the plate with the fourth run of the inning when Jurges singled through short.

Lee did a good job of tempting the Dodgers to collect some runs for themselves in their opening half, but they didn't grasp the idea. With one out Frey walked, and took second on a passed ball. Koenecke walked. Taylor bounced into a force play but a walk to Leslie loaded the bases. Cuccinello then banged a grounder that bore the earmarks of a hit, but the shifty Jurges scooted behind third, picked it up and threw to second in time for a force play on Leslie.

Parade of Pitchers.

Lee continued his liberal tactics in the second and Grimm decided he had seen enough. The inning opened with a double to left by Lopez. Galan threw out Jordan, but Herring and Boyle walked, loading the bases. Joiner rushed to the rescue. Frey bounced a possible double play ball to English. The latter fumbled momentarily and then threw to first, but too late to get the batter. Lopez scored on the error. Herring scored when Koenecke walked. That was all for Joiner.

Red Sox Beat White Sox in Tenth, 13-10

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Jimmy Dykes yesterday afternoon knocked a homer with the bases full to tie the score at 10 to 10 in the eighth inning but in the end the feat was no balm to the pain of watching much sour battery work by several of his hirelings. The Red Sox won the sloppy affair from the White Sox, 13 to 10, in ten innings.

Inevitable Whit Wyatt, making his third appearance in three days, was the losing pitcher, just as he was yesterday. It scarcely was his fault, however, for the winning run was scored on an error with two out in the tenth. After two had been thrown out Werber doubled to left, and then stole third, his third theft of the game and his fifth in two days. He had stolen home in the eighth while Bonura and Tietje were lobbing the ball around with two out in the eighth, so when he broke for third it put Catcher Eddie Madjeski in a big panic.

Wyatt Lets Down.

Eddie, making his debut as a Sox catcher, threw the ball into left field, Werber trotting home with the winning run.

Thus plastered with his second defeat in two days and his seventh of the season, Wyatt could be censured for a letdown which enabled Eddie Morgan to follow up with his fifth consecutive hit, Johnson his fourth, and Reynolds his third hit of the game for two more runs.

The Red Sox were alert at all times once they reached the bases. Seven bases were stolen and not a man thrown out, except in a fluky scene after Werber stole home in the eighth.

Red Sox Take Lead.

The first three innings, though scoreless, revealed the Sox as the more powerful, for Haas and Bonura made hits in the first inning and Dykes made one to lead off the second. The Bostons made nary a hit off Gallivan in the first three innings.

But the fourth inning was different. Morgan, Johnson and Reynolds singled successively to produce a run before the first putout had been accomplished. After Morgan had scored on Reynolds' single, Johnson and Reynolds moved up while Gallivan was throwing out Cooke and scored when Lary caromed a single off Appling's anatomy. Hinkle and Rhodes supplied easy outs to halt the foray.

The Sox filled the bases with none out in their end of the fourth, but one run was all they could glean from the situation. Appling and Dykes singled and the bases were loaded after Morgan dropped Lary's throw on Boken. Madjeski lined to Johnson and Appling scored after the catch. Swanson tapped to Cissell.

The Red Sox added their fourth

There Still Is Time to Get Golden Gloves Tickets

Today and tomorrow fight fans will make their closing rush for tickets to the international bouts between the amateur champions of Poland and the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team. Nearly 4,500 reserved seats priced at $2.20 and $3.30 still are available.

From one of these points of vantage you can watch the most colorful boxing event of the season—if you grab one of the 4,500 tickets remaining. Tomorrow night sixteen of the greatest amateur boxers in the world will enter the Chicago Stadium ring. Each boy will be in the finest of physical condition. With international prestige at stake, these youngsters are ready for the most tremendous encounter in the history of Golden Gloves competition.

Tickets will be on sale today between 9 a. m. and midnight at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street. They may be purchased on the lobby floor of Tribune Tower between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Don, Campbell, British Race Drivers, Suffer Defeats

LONDON, May 21.—(AP)—England's two famous speed drivers, Kaye Don and Sir Malcolm Campbell, today were beaten by lesser known racing car drivers. Don's car threw a tire, forcing him out of a 150 mile race, while Campbell was led in by W. E. Harker in a six mile mountain climb.

COCHET DEFEATS HUNTER IN PRO TENNIS TOURNEY

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Henri Cochet and Martin Plaa, French professionals, and A. H. Chapin Jr., of Springfield, Mass., reached the quarter finals today in the eastern professional championship tournament as the day's card was restricted to four matches.

Cochet defeated his former amateur rival, Francis T. Hunter, of New York, 6-1, 6-2, repeating with greater ease a victory he scored in four sets over Hunter in the final of the American amateur championships at Forest Hills in 1928.

Plaa defeated Herman Peterson, of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-2, while Chapin, former first ten amateur, was forced to three sets before downing Morton Bernstein, of New York, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1. Vincent Richards won his first round match from Ed Rericha, of New York, 6-3, 6-3. He will play Charles Wood, of New York, for the one place yet unfilled in the quarter final bracket.

Doubles play starts tomorrow.

Kocsis Cards 136 for Lead in Big 10 Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Charley Kocsis, a young man from the University of Michigan, ran away from the field yesterday in the first two rounds of the western conference golf tournament over the water course of the Kildeer Country club.

After having played the morning 18 holes in 66, five under par, Charley came back in the afternoon with a 70, which allowed him to take the lead with a 36 hole total of 136, six strokes less than par for the distance. That 66 established a new course record, lowering the former figure of 69 held by C. W. Newhall, present club champion.

Malloy of Michigan Second.

Charley, who was the principal hope of the Wolverines to retain the title which Johnny Fischer had won for Michigan for the last two years, is now seven strokes ahead of a young man named Woodrow Malloy, who, strangely enough, is also from Ann Arbor. Woodrow carved himself a 72—71—143 for the day, and Michigan, with his score and that of Kocsis, appears to be ready to win its third consecutive team championship.

The Wolverines finished the 36 holes with a four man aggregate of 604, twenty strokes ahead of their closest pursuer, Northwestern, which wound up with 624. The Wildcats were doing nobly for coach Ted Payseur, placing four among the first eight individual shooters, and may overhaul Michigan in today's concluding 36 holes.

Following Michigan and Northwestern in the team standings were Minnesota, 641; Iowa, 655; Illinois, 668; Purdue, 673; Chicago, 673; Wisconsin, 683, and Ohio, 690. All of the schools in the conference were represented with the exception of Indiana, which defaulted because of examinations.

Armour Knows Him.

Kocsis, who defeated Tommy Armour in a playoff for the Michigan open title as a 17 year old prep school player, is now 21 and a sophomore in the liberal arts school at Ann Arbor. His two cards yesterday are probably the most amazing collection of figures ever assembled in the history of Big Ten golf. In the morning round he knocked down eight birdies, six of them coming on the second nine. His cards follow:

COACHES PICK CHICAGO SQUAD; POLES CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Urso and Brown Must Take Off Weight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's Golden Gloves boxers finished their most strenuous day of training at the Illinois Athletic club yesterday with a series of bouts which would rival the international bouts. Fighting for positions on the Chicago team of eight, the 15 boys on the squad met in the final tests and when the last punch had been delivered, the coaches named the team to fight the Polish champions.

Unfortunately, only eight boys can receive the award of a berth on the international team. So close was the decision, that at least in the flyweight class, the choice was reserved until today. In other classes the selection was equally close. But despite the intense rivalry, the boys named are probably the best of the more than 8,000 who competed this winter in the Golden Gloves tournament. Perhaps, the coaches might have chosen others, but in the long run, the strength of the Chicago team will not be impaired.

Here Is Chicago's team.

Bantamweight—Troy Bellini, Cleveland.
Featherweight—Alfred Nettlow, Detroit.
Lightweight—Phil Kenneally, Chicago.
Welterweight—Danny Farrar, Cleveland.
Middleweight—Freddie Caserio, Chicago.
Light heavyweight—Joe Louis, Detroit.
Heavyweight—Otis Thomas, Chicago.

Without boasting, the team named for the international bouts is probably the best that could be selected in the United States. Nettlow, Farrar, and Louis won championships last month at St. Louis in the national A. A. U. tournament.

Caserio was the 1932 national middleweight champion, and Bellini, champion in the Chicago tournament, lost his first bout in a year to Armand Sicilia of Springfield, Ill., the present national 118 pound title holder, at the St. Louis tourney. Bellini, apparently, was a victim of overconfidence, but since that reverse he has shown the skill which has made him the outstanding boxer from the Cleveland territory.

Five Are Champs.

Five of these boys are champions in the Tournament of Champions. The exceptions will be Brown or Urso in the 112 pound class, Kenneally in the lightweight division, in which a Cleveland youngster won the title and later outgrew the class, and Caserio, the middleweight. Caserio is the veteran of the team and he was opposed in the training period by Tony Zale of Gary, Ind. Bill Treest, the 1934 Golden Gloves winner in this weight, could not report for training at the Illinois Athletic club. Treest otherwise might have been the choice. His absence, however, has not weakened the team.

Caserio was an international winner last year in the bouts with Ireland and he also had won the middleweight title in 1931 and 1933. In 1932 Caserio was the National A. A. U. champion. His comeback was based primarily on his diligent training a month before the bouts when he went into the country to chop down trees and rough it.

Weight Is Factor.

The close fight between Brown and Urso for the lead off position in the international bouts rests largely on the weight of the boys. At the conclusion of the final day of boxing yesterday Brown weighed 116 pounds and Urso 114 pounds. Since the international rules provides for a half pound allowance, these boys must scale down to 112½ pounds tomorrow afternoon.

Fearing that Brown, a superior boxer, might not be able to make this weight and retain his strength, the coaches have reserved the right to name Urso. The Detroit fighter packs a knockout punch, as compared to Brown's ability as a boxer. In the intercity series Urso led off with a victory by knocking down his opponent three times. Brown lost a close decision on points.

Boys Are Confident.

Chicago's boxers are extremely confident of victory. They are primarily concerned with the number of fights they will win. Conceding that Rotholz, the Polish flyweight, and Tad Rogalski, the bantamweight, are the best of the invaders, the Chicago boys believe that even if these Polish champs come through with decisions, the outcome will be determined in the middleweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight classes. The boys have picked Louis and Thomas to win by knockouts. They point to Pacek's victory last year over Ireland's heavyweight champion as an example which Thomas will emulate.

The Chicago lads are in excellent condition with the exception of Phil Kenneally, who has an injured wrist. But Phil rested the wrist yesterday—he was the only boxer who did not participate in the final drills—and he will be ready tomorrow night. Kenneally weighed 138 pounds yesterday, just about the approximate poundage on the eve of the battle.

Get Uniforms Today.

The boys will receive their uniforms at the I. A. C. this afternoon. A squad picture will be taken. The boys then will engage in limbering up drills and wait for the zero hour. Several who have not been selected on the international team will appear in the preliminary bouts. The first of these bouts will start at 8:30 and the flyweights on the international teams are expected to enter the ring about 9:30.

Sipinski Recovers; Trainer Is Pleased.

BY DONALD DAY.

They concluded their training at the Medinah club of Chicago yesterday for the international Golden Gloves bouts in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night and at the finish Trainer Feliks Stamm announced every one is in perfect fighting condition.

Although every one of the eight realizes he has a tough battle ahead, and is keyed up to fighting pitch, there is a cool, confident air about the Polishs headquarters at the Medinah. Stamm feels the boys have reached their peak now and that each will be at the top of his fighting power tomorrow night.

Each of the eight went three rounds yesterday at top speed against sparring partners, each fighting as he expects to fight against the Chicago Golden Gloves team. When they had finished, Stamm announced he was satisfied. The combination of hard work and recreation which has been their routine during their week's stay in Chicago has been ideal for bringing them along, to fighting condition at the proper pace, Stamm said.

They Like Hard Work.

When they arrived in New York ten days ago, they were eager for hard work after the inactivity of their ocean voyage. Stamm feared they might work too hard and too fast, and become too finely trained before the bouts. However, though they have set a terrific pace to make up for the lack of real work aboard the Berengaria, the constant round of entertainment which has been theirs has kept the boys relaxed without interfering with the real business at hand.

All are at fighting weight now and none will have any difficulty in coming in under the limit for his division when the boxers weigh in tomorrow afternoon at the Medinah club. Both Szapsia Rotholz, the flyweight, and Tadeusz Rogalski, the bantamweight, who were several pounds overweight when they landed in New York, have trained down nicely and will be able to take it easy today and tomorrow.

Ktawjan Misiurewicz, welterweight, and Stanislaw Pilat, the mountainteer heavyweight, were under weight when they arrived, largely as a result of seasickness during the early days of their ocean trip, but each has put on several pounds since coming to Chicago. Misiurewicz will be able to enter the ring carrying the full poundage of his division while Pilat will be around 192 pounds, his normal fighting weight.

Workout Is Hardest.

Yesterday's workout was the stiffest the Poles have had in Chicago and those who saw them battering sparring partners about the ring are confident they will make a good showing against the Chicagoland champions. Janislaw Sipinski, lightweight, was the only one about whom the Poles themselves were doubtful, but within the last few days he has recovered his strength and is in the best of condition.

There were no entertainments on yesterday's program for the Poles and aside from their three rounds of boxing late in the afternoon, they took things easy most of the day.

A short workout on the road yesterday morning was followed by the boys' decision to remain in their quarters and write more letters home. It seems they all have friends who are stamp collectors and are sending most of their letters to Poland via airmail.

They Want to Shop.

After a light luncheon which began with a glass of grapefruit juice, followed by pickled herring, tomato soup, veal cutlets, peas, mashed potatoes, and strawberries with whipped cream, the boys held another shooting tournament on the Medinah club rifle range. The middleweight, Walter Majchrzycki, again proved himself the best marksman, scoring 142 points out of a possible 150. Trainer Stamm and the bantamweight, Tad Rogalski, also had good scores.

The boys are keyed up over the fights tomorrow night, but none of them are nervous and all think they will give a good account of themselves. No particular program has been worked out for today and if the weatherman keeps his promise about rain, the boxers are anxious to make another visit to the State street shopping districts. Chicago's department stores are far larger and more magnificant than anything the boys have ever seen in Europe.

Trainer Calls Halt.

Last night the boys wanted to attend the Eddie Ran-Mickey O'Shea bout. O'Shea and Ran have been acting as sparring partners for the Poles and Ran is the former champion of Poland. But Trainer Feliks Stamm decided the bout began too late and ordered the boys to bed early. Sunday night they stayed out until 11 o'clock to attend a dance and reception at the Sokol-Chicago hall at 22d street and Kedzie avenue, where as a special concession they were permitted to dance for an hour.

Among the many new and pleasing discoveries over here are the American boxing gloves. They fit more comfortably than the European model. This is the first time any of the Polish boys had worn a heavier glove than the eight ounce ones which they use for sparring as well as fighting in Poland. The Poles all are hardened to punishment and sparring with 12 ounce gloves has been a revelation to them.

Cleveland Pounds Uhle and Van Atta.

Cleveland, O., May 21.—(AP)—Paced by Earl Averill's two home runs, his fourth and fifth of the season, the Cleveland Indians won their second straight game at the expense of the New York Yankees today, slugging out a 9 to 5 victory.

George Uhle, once star pitcher of the Indians, was the victim of Cleveland's first and second inning onslaught that netted five runs. The Indians hammered Uhle for three runs in the first inning, Averill's first home run sending three tallies across the plate.

They drove their former teammate to cover in the second, when they counted two more times, and continued to pepper Russell Van Atta through the remainder of the game. Averill got his second homer in the sixth with the bases empty. Score:

TIGERS, 6; SENATORS, 5.

Detroit, Mich., May 21.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers took advantage of Washington errors today to defeat the Senators, 6 to 5, and square the current series.

The Tigers clinched the game in the ninth, when Walker singled off Prim, who tossed the ball to the pavilion while the runner advanced to third. Gehringer and Rogell were purposely passed to fill the bases and then McColl took over the Washington pitching. The first man to face him was Manager Cochrane, batting for Hayworth, and he singled over Schulte's head to bring in the winning run. Score:

Joe Bowman Halts Cards; Giants Win, 5-2

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The world champion New York Giants survived another pitching emergency today and halted the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals, winning, 5 to 2. An accident to Fred Fitzsimmons, who was struck in the side by a loose bat as he started to warm up, forced Manager Bill Terry to put the pitching up to the recruit, Joe Bowman. After being hit for a home run by Burgess Whitehead, the first batter to face him, Bowman worked out of subsequent danger and finished strongly, blanking the Cards in the last six innings.

X-RAYS REVEAL WOOD SUFFERS FROM BRUISES

Philadelphia, Pa., May 21.—(AP)—Fears that the United States Davis cup tennis team might be without the services of Sidney B. Wood Jr., New York ace, were dissipated tonight with announcement that preliminary study of X-ray pictures indicates Wood's suspected rib fractures are merely bruises.

Although final diagnosis will not be made until tomorrow, Dr. Herbert Fischer said the drying X-ray films thus far show no sign of fracture, but indicated bruises that will not halt the New York star's play.

Wood's injury, received in an automobile accident two weeks ago, was disclosed yesterday when observers at the Davis Cup squad practices at the Merion Cricket club noticed adhesive tape binding his upper body.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BIG TEN TRACK MEET.

VICTORY of Illinois track and field athletes under the first year's tutelage of Coach Don Seaton, unexpected even after the Illini qualified 16 men in the preliminaries Friday; collapse of "Track Team" Willis Ward of Michigan with a pulled muscle which meant ruin to the Wolverine chances; record breaking by the Indiana mile relay quartet in remarkable time averaging under :49 per man, and consistent performances by its veterans, Hornbostel and Fuqua, with new records for each, were features of the Big Ten meet Saturday.

Back of these features, however, was another, even more gratifying, perhaps, to sports followers as a whole. That was the "closing up" of the competition, the scoring of more points by colleges which in the last few years have not figured materially in the competition.

In 1933 only six squads scored more than 6 points. This year each of the ten teams scored more than 6 points. In this year's games the first four teams, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Northwestern, had a total of 141.3 points. In 1933, the first four teams, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio State, counted 183.5 points. In 1932 Michigan, Ohio State, Indiana, and Illinois gathered 172 points.

This trend toward greater equality has been notable in recent years except in track. Now track joins. While some colleges, because of greater enrollment and better material, will average better than their rivals over a period of years, monopolies or almost monopolies in any branch of competitive athletics appear on the wane.

One may experience sentimental regret that Indiana, never winner of an outdoor championship, did not add the few points necessary in the final year of its senior stars, Hornbostel and Fuqua, yet they secured enough individual glory with their new records to compensate.

As The Wake figures it, Ward's injury and collapse did not affect the result. If he had acquired three more first places in addition to the broad jump, the maximum for which he was trying, it would have added 15 to Michigan's score and taken off two other points, or a gross gain of 13. Figuring Ward with four firsts, the score would have been Illinois, 42; Michigan, 40.6, and Indiana, 39.6.

So it is self-evident what a creditable performance those surprising Illini turned in.

'Way Back When.

"'Way Back When"—How we enjoy!
Sometimes spite of blinding tears,
Other times with joyous chuckles,
As it turns the tide of years.

"'Way back when," its gentle humor
Binds today with yesterday,
But its gossamer thread of 'mem'ry
Breathes "This too shall pass away."

WRESTLER GOES ON TRIAL FOR MURDER IN CAFE

Cincinnati, O., May 21. — (AP) — Sequestering of the jury was ordered tonight as Jack Reynolds, welterweight champion of the National Wrestling association, passed through his first day of his trial for murder.

The wrestler, his wife, and their friend, David Polinsky, 28, are charged jointly with second degree murder, for which the penalty is life imprisonment, for the death of James Meyers, 52. Meyers and Philip Citron, 38, were wounded fatally in a cafe brawl here March 11. Nothing to establish responsibility for Citron's death has yet been developed in official investigations.

Defense attorneys announced that they had issued subpoenas for Sherif Asa V. Butterfield and Coroner M. Scott Kearns and Lew Byrer, Columbus, sports writer.

The taking of testimony will start tomorrow.

JOE BOZAK STOPS JIMMY CHRISTY; GENO BEATS VINE

Jimmy Christy, 1933 Catholic Youth organization featherweight champion, lost his first professional bout last night by a technical knockout at Midway arena. Christy, who had scored six straight victories, lost to Joey Bozak when he was unable to answer the bell for the second round because of an eye injury.

Young Geno, La Salle, Ill., whipped Lou Vine of Chicago in the eight round windup match. Vine substituted for George Haberski, who was indisposed. Other results:

Joey Kleko beat Sailor Born [5].
Gene Connolly beat Augie Mandell [4].
Eddie Smith beat George Schrosbree [4].
Jack Fuadims and Jack Galonis drew, 15:00 [wrestling].

Cubs Score 3 in 9th; Defeat Dodgers, 10-9

Malone took over the job and Taylor slammed a fly to Klein on which Boyle counted. Leslie concluded the suffering by grounding to Galan.

An error started the Cubs toward the run that restored them to the lead in the sixth. Grimm led off with a tap to Frey, but the throw was low and Frederick, who had just succeeded Leslie at first base, couldn't hold it. Herring made a great play at first to get Jurges on a sacrifice bunt to Frederick. Hartnett was purposely passed, the idea being that Malone would be soft picking. Big Pat fooled 'em by lining a single to center on the first pitch, Grimm scoring.

The Brooklyn sixth, with its attendant side play of hurtling pop bottles, opened with Lopez's single off the right field wall. He scored, tying the count at 5 to 5, on Jordan's drive to the left field fence. Jordan tried to stretch his wallop into a triple and just as he went headlong into third English tagged him and Umpire Rigler called him out.

Herring Knocked Out.

Manager Stengel, who was coaching, leaped up and down like a fan dancer and threw his hat into the air. The other Dodgers swarmed around Rigler, and just then four pop bottles came sailing from the upper deck. Nobody was hit, but the Dodgers promptly got out of range and the argument ceased.

The seventh inning attack that put the Cubs out in front and also concluded Herring's work for the day, began with Klein's single to right. Cuyler sacrificed and Stephenson flied to deep left. Grimm was intentionally passed. Herring couldn't get the ball over for Jurges and he, too, walked, loading the bases. Herring went away and Carroll appeared, whereupon Hartnett slammed a single into center. The hit scored Klein and Grimm and put Jurges on third. A roller by Malone concluded the inning.

Malone's two run lead started to vanish in the eighth when Lopez sailed the first pitch into the left field seats. After Jordan had fanned, Bucher was rushed up to bat for Carroll, and he banged the first pitch for a triple against the scoreboard in right. There was no further need for Malone. Weaver took charge and Boyle singled to score Bucher with the tying run. Boyle stole second as Frey fanned. Then Koenecke slammed the ball over the right field wall for the two runs that for a few minutes seemed good enough to settle the daffy struggle.

Phelps Smacks One.

The Cubs' successful struggle to get back into the battle in the ninth started when Grimm singled off Beck. The manager erred in thinking it a two base hit. He was nailed at second. Jurges followed with a single. Hartnett sat down after three lusty strikes.

When Phelps appeared as pinch man for Weaver, the Dodgers went into a huddle to determine how to pitch to him. Beck threw one inside and Phelps whistled it foul to right. Beck followed with one over the outside corner and Phelps sent it on its way into the left field seats. Then English singled and Galan walked and Beck retired. Klein crashed through with a single that scored English, but Galan was nailed at the plate. Bush did the rest by setting down the Dodgers in their final stand.

Chicago Tennis Body Will Discuss Junior Play Tonight

Plans for inter-club match play and discussion of the junior development activity will be presented at the meeting of the Chicago Tennis association at the Hamilton club this evening. Charles S. Garland, captain of the American Davis Cup team in 1927, and vice president of the C. T. A., will be the principal speaker. A. A. Stagg Jr., chairman of the inter-club matches, and Frank D. Fulton, chairman of the junior development plan, will also speak.

Cubs Use Root in Final Against Dodgers Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 21.—The Cubs conclude their work here tomorrow and then move to the Polo grounds to battle the Giants. Charley Root, who has had more than his share of pitching troubles this spring, will be started in the final with the Dodgers. Ray Lucas will try to pitch for the home towners.

Woody English was agreeably surprised today when he didn't receive a wire from league headquarters informing him he had been fined or suspended for yesterday's run-in with Umpire Moran.

It now appears that Billy Herman, the Cub's regular second baseman, may not be able to appear during the three-game series at New York. After heroic treatment from trainer Andy Lotshaw the athlete's sprained ankle has shown no improvement.

The Cubs are still interested in the landing of Van Mungo, the Dodger's leading pitcher, and the Dodgers wouldn't mind having Babe Herman returned to them. But Brooklyn will not give up Mungo and he's the only athlete on the roster the Cubs would take.

After beating Lon Warneke yesterday, the Dodgers admitted the Cub ace didn't have the stuff he showed them a couple of years ago. The hop on the fast ball was missing.

There is no limit to the ambitions of Guy Bush. He was greatly disappointed yesterday because he wasn't asked to play third base when the supply of extra infielders became exhausted. Bush has practiced on the infield for years to be prepared for just such an emergency.

U. OF C. WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE WON BY RENA NELSON

Miss Rena Nelson of Exmoor won the University of Chicago women's golf title yesterday at Coghill with a score of 44—46—90.

Miss Lorraine Donkle, 52—52—104, and Miss Betty Patterson, 51—53—104, tied for the runner-up position in the championship. A round of 57—54—111 gave Miss Janet Humphreys third place.

Miss Nelson had considerable trouble at the first hole, where the wind almost blew the ball out of bounds. She used three putts there and also at the eighth. Miss Nelson's play on the twelfth and seventeenth holes was seriously affected by the gale, but she had a deuce at the sixteenth, 201 yards.

Miss Jean Vanderbilt, chairman of the women's golf committee at the Midway, donated the championship trophy awarded to Miss Nelson, as the university is distributing only W. A. A. ribbons.

Two new classes were also added to the playing program, beginners and high school girls. They played only nine holes. Miss Marion Harkins, with 65, and Miss Beatrice Rayfield, 67, won the beginners awards. Those successful in the high school division were Miss Jean Maechle, 55, and Miss Jeanne Tobin, 57.

BOUSSUS BEATS PERRY; AUSTIN WHIPS MERLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, May 21.—Fred Perry, who last year led England to the Davis cup, was defeated by Christian Boussus, member of France's Davis cup squad, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, in a Franco-English tournament which was a preliminary to the French championship tournament which opens Friday.

Andre Merlin, France's other singles Davis cup player, was defeated, however. He lost to H. W. [Bunny] Austin, England, 6-1, 7-5. In other matches Antoine Gentien, France, beat H. V. N. Cooper, England, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4; C. E. Malfroy, England, beat Pierre Landry, France, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, and G. P. Sharpe, England, beat Marcel Bernard, France, 7-5, 6-3.

WHITE SOX LOSE TO RED SOX IN 10 INNINGS, 13-10

marker in the fifth inning on a walk to Werber and singles by Morgan and Reynolds. In their half of the fifth the White Sox also counted one. Haas led off with his second hit, a single to left, paused while Bonura flied to Cooke and reached second while Cissel was tossing out Simmons. Cooke then lost Appling's hard drive in the sun and it fell for a double, Haas scoring. Dykes flied to Johnson.

The score became 4 to 3 in the latter half of the sixth. Boken led off with a triple off the wall in right center. Madjeski fouled to Morgan, then Uhalt batted for Gallivan and Boken scored while he was being thrown out by Cissell. Wolters threw out Swanson.

Heving Goes In to Pitch.

Observers who have been following the Sox were amazed when they saw Manager Dykes summon Heving to pitch in the seventh. Heving performed approximately the same as he has every time he has tried to pitch this year. He walked Cissell, who forthwith hobbled to third on Werber's single to center. Werber stole second on Heving's windup. Then Morgan socked a homer into the left field stand, scoring Cissell and Werber ahead of him.

Johnson beat out an infield single and stole second. Boken threw out Reynolds, but Cooke slapped a triple off the center field wall, scoring Johnson. At this point Manager Dykes decided Heving was not possessed of his 1933 city series form and supplanted him with Tietje. Lary flied to Simmons, Cooke scoring. Hinkle also flied to Simmons.

The Sox made their fourth run in the seventh on Haas' third hit, a force play, Simmons' single, a walk to Dykes, and another force play.

Some Fancy Base Running.

The Red Sox gave the White Sox a lesson in the possibilities of base running in the eighth. With two down Werber walked and went to third on Morgan's fourth straight hit, a single to center. Tietje attempted to catch Morgan off first, and when Bonura lobbed the ball back to Tietje, Werber broke for the plate, scoring on his second steal of the game and his fourth of the series. When Morgan beheld the confusion of the Sox he broke for second, but was out, Madjeski to Appling.

Madjeski led off the Chicago eighth with a double to left and reached third while Tietje was landing at first on Lary's high throw. Swanson singled to center, Madjeski scoring and Tietje stopping at second. Haas forced Swanson, then Bonura singled to center, scoring Tietje. Weiland relieved Rhodes and Simmons flied to Reynolds. Appling walked, filling the bases, then Dykes knocked his homer, tying the score. Boken fanned.

Wyatt Called In.

Johnson led off the ninth with a double to center and held his station while Reynolds lined to Haas. Cooke walked after a three and two count. For the third successive day Wyatt was called onto the scene to relieve Tietje. Lary fanned, and as he did so Johnson Cooke executed a double steal. Ferrell bated for Hinkle, and, after running the count to three balls and two strikes, popped to Appling.

Madjeski lined to Cooke to start the Chicago ninth and Wyatt singled to center. Swanson forced Wyatt and Haas flied to Reynolds.

Wyatt slowed down Welch's drive and Boken threw out the Boston pitcher to start the tenth. Boken threw out Cissell. Werber doubled along the left foul line, stole third and continued home when Madjeski threw the ball into left field. Morgan singled to center for his fifth straight hit and went to third on Johnson's single to center. Johnson stole second without a play. Reynolds doubled to right, scoring Morgan and Johnson. Cooke lined to Boken.

LOOS, WEININGER WIN PRO-AMATEUR GOLF; SHOOT A 64

Eddie Loos of Lake Shore and Walter Weininger of Westward Ho won the Chicago District Golf association's pro-amateur event yesterday at the Calumet Country club. Their best ball score was 32-32-64.

Second place was taken by Richard Metz of the Mill Road Farm course and Edward Lasker, 31-34-65. Horton Smith of the Oak Park Country club and Charles McGuire, also of Oak Park, placed third with 33-34-66.

Smith shot the best individual score of the day, a 68. Loos went around in 70 and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr in 71.

Jones to Pitch Against Red Sox in Series Final

The Red Sox will move on to Cleveland after this afternoon's encounter with the White Sox. The Yankees will come to town for three days beginning tomorrow. Sam Jones will pitch against Boston in the final and will be opposed by Fritz Ostermueller.

There have been no announcements from the Sox office about the hunt for pitchers, if any. The Sox roster is full but Manager Dykes can spare Joe Heving perhaps.

Swanson was back as a starting performer, resuming his place in right field. The lumbago attack which kept Evar out for a week is reported vanished but the young man showed effects of the layoff.

Al Simmons finally busted through in the seventh inning with a smart single to end a short slump which had spread over 15 innings. Al had been robbed of an earlier single by Cissell.

Rothier and Tonelli Meet Again Tonight

The Henry Rothier-Laddie Tonelli ring feud will be resumed tonight at Western stadium, Western and Devon avenues, after a lapse of two years. But unlike their two amateur battles of three rounds each, the welterweight rivals are scheduled to travel eight rounds tonight in their first meeting as professional boxers.

Both fighters have compiled good records since leaving the amateur ranks, Rothier losing only one contest in 24 and Tonelli winning 24 and fighting a draw in 25 bouts.

The boys will settle their fistic grudge in the same arena in which they met as amateurs in 1932, when Rothier avenged a previous defeat by Tonelli. Their records this year follow:

Tonelli—Johnny Owens, won [10]; Eddie Chinski, won [6]; Curtis Mills, K. O. [4]; Jackie Ausborn, K. O., [3].

Rothier—Meyer Grace, won, twice [8]; Jackie Purvis, won [10]; Billy Miller, won [6]; Joe Redd, won, twice [10]; Lou Avery, won [10]; Billy Hoon, won [8]; Danny Delmont, won [8]; Young Terry, won [8].

Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., lightweight, will attempt to keep his pro record clean in a six round semi-final against Lou Terry. Other matches:

Nick Scalba vs. Dave Barry [5], 124.
Jimmy Eliopoulos vs. Lenny Cohen [5], 118.
Art Donovan vs. Frank Keevil [4], 135.

The state boxing commission yesterday sanctioned a bout between Everett [Young] Rightmeier, Sioux City, Ia., featherweight, and Leo Rodak, to be held at White City June 4. . . . Solly Dukelsky, Chicago middleweight, and Hayden [Young] Stubley, Kewanee, Ill., will head the show next Tuesday at Western stadium.

The Illinois athletic commission yesterday approved a wrestling match between Jim Londos and Jagot Singh, which is being sought by the Chicago Stadium Operating company. . . . The Frank Sigilio-Tommy Corbett contest, slated for June 1, was transferred from Cicero stadium to Mills stadium yesterday.

Bouts on tonight's schedule include:

At Seattle, Wash.—Gorilla Jones vs. Freddy Steele [10], middleweights.
At Muskegon, Mich.—Jacquotte Elverrillo vs. Pete Petroskey [10], welterweights.

The amateur card scheduled for tonight at Jefferson Park gymnasium has been postponed until June 1 by George De Bray. . . . Woodlawn post No. 175, American Legion, will sponsor an amateur program Saturday at 124th Field Artillery armory. . . . R. Schiavon is chairman of the committee arranging the show.

VAUGHAN'S FOUR HITS MOVE HIM BACK INTO BIG 6

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Four hits in five times at bat moved Floyd [Arky] Vaughan back into baseball's big six yesterday. The Pittsburgh shortstop gained 22 points to trail Kiki Cuyler by 10 points in the National league's half of the sextet. Cuyler connected safely three times to boost his average 16 points.

Ralston Hemsley failed to get a hit in four trips, but retained the American league leadership with an average of .411. Lou Gehrig dropped into fourth place and was replaced by Heinie Manush. Standings:

GEORGE DUNLAP.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 21.—George Dunlap, American amateur golf champion, executed one of the most remarkable feats in the history of the British amateur tournament in his first round match today with G. P. Walsh, former titleholder of India. As he stepped up to the 14th tee, Dunlap was five down with five holes yet to play. He won all five to square the match on the 18th green. The next three holes were halved. Then Dunlap won the 22d, terminating the match.

The United States will need Dunlap, for Francis Ouimet, team captain, is out. He was beaten one hole by Gus Moreland of Texas. Chandler Egan went out, 3 and 2, to James Wallace, local lad from an adjoining course at Troon.

Westland Wins on 21st.

Jack Westland of Chicago was on the danger list, for Robert Harris, veteran of the Royal and Ancient club, took him to the twenty-first hole. Westland was one down at the turn.

Lawson Little won from R. W. Ripley, 3 and 1. Johnny Fischer defeated Graham Patrick, 4 and 3, and earned the dubious right to meet his teammate, Moreland, in the second round, tomorrow. Jesse Guilford, another American, defeated R. A. Howell, 2 and 1. Johnny Goodman was the only American who did not play today. His first round comes tomorrow.

Spectators Follow Dunlap.

In one huge drive the spectators followed the Dunlap match. Before the start Dunlap said he had been playing worse every day since he had been here and when he took five shots to reach the green at the short eleventh and became five down, after being in almost every bunker on the course, it looked as if his interest in the championship had vanished. Walsh was sinking putts from all over the green and a half at the thirteenth put Dunlap dormie five down. Dunlap just smiled.

He won the fourteenth, 4 to 5, and reduced his deficit to four. He saw his opponent lip the hole with a long approach putt at the fifteenth and then miss a two foot return putt and the hole was Dunlap's, 4 and 5. At the sixteenth Dunlap was in the rough with his drive, but chipped dead magnificently across a yawning row of bunkers. His opponent, taking three to reach the green, conceded the hole.

At the seventeenth Walsh's long approach putt, going yards off line, hit Dunlap's ball and then ran to within two feet of the cup. But amid loud groans Walsh missed the putt and Dunlap was now only one down. Dunlap won the eighteenth to square the match after he had dubbed one chip shot and laid the next dead. Walsh was nicely on the green in two, but took three putts. Walsh seemed more amused at his run of errors than the Scottish crowd, whose sympathies had turned strongly to Dunlap. They halved the nineteenth in fours and the twentieth in threes.

Walsh Hits Into Brook.

The twenty-first was halved in fives, both hitting magnificant woods over cardinal bunker. The twenty-second and last was Dunlap's lucky hole, for he saw Walsh put his second in an unplayable brook and his third across the green. Dunlap's second would have been in brook, too, but struck a spectator and bounced back on the green. That was the end of a memorable match that lasted three and one-half hours.

Ouimet was three up at the turn as the result of a great 33. It seemed he had the measure of his younger opponent, but holes began to slip away. The Walker cup captain lost the tenth, eleventh, thirteenth, and fourteenth, won the fifteenth, halved the sixteenth and seventeenth, and so stood all square at the eighteenth tee. Ouimet's drive—280 yards in a cross wind—drifted slightly and ran into a pot bunker guarding the left of the green. He chipped into rough, was short with his approach, and too far with his putt. Moreland being on the green in two, Ouimet conceded the hole.

Eastern College Tennis Tourney Carded June 18-23

with an eight foot putt for a birdie at the first hole. He took two to get on the 175 yard fourth because of a frisky breeze, and his second to the sixth was trapped. He amended this with a three foot putt for another birdie on the next hole. He laid his shots dead to the 10th, 11th, 12th, 15th, 16th, and 17th for birdies, but was over the green on the 134 yard 14th.

Sinks 35 Foot Putt.

He was over par on the 6th in the afternoon when his second was short and his third over the green. He ran down an eight foot putt at the 7th and made a grand 35 foot putt for another birdie at the 12th. He three putted the 14th, but on the 17th, after sending his second into the rough, came up five feet from the pin for his 11th birdie of the day. His 20 foot try for a 69 on the 18th just eluded the cup.

Damsel Fly Is Brown Trout's Favorite Food

BY BOB BECKER.

If any trout fishermen is puzzled concerning the kind of insect foods Michigan trout like he can find his answer in a study, recently completed, of the stomach contents of 800 trout. Prof. W. F. Morofsky of the department of entomology Michigan State college, made the study. The first point he learned about the brown trout was that they prefer damsel flies above all other insects. This is an aquatic insect common on practically all trout streams.

Inasmuch as the presence of large numbers of damsel flies in the brown trout stomachs may be a clew to an artificial fly pattern which fishermen may find worthwhile using, here is a description of the damsel fly. [The trout fisherman who ties his own flies can rig up a bucktail and feather lure that will look a great deal like the real insect.]

Resembles the Dragon Fly.

The damsel fly appears much like the dragon fly, or devil's darning needle, which one sees on lakes and streams in the central states. The true dragon fly darts through the air at top speed, as a rule, whereas the damsel fly is a more leisurely insect as it flits and loiters along the stream banks. Both groups of insects have long, slender bodies, and four wings. These wings will give one the clew to tell the difference between a dragon fly and a damsel. When the dragon fly rests it keeps its wings straight out horizontally from the body. When the damsel fly is at ease it holds its wings in a vertical position. Body colors of both the dragon fly and its near relative, the damsel, are usually bright, some of the flies being a vivid green.

When the stomachs of some of the brown trout were examined it was found that they were literally packed with damsel flies. The "true to nature" lure fisherman can take this tip and tie up flies with bright colored bodies, long imitation damsel wings, and arrive at a pretty good imitation of the real insect. To carry the suggestion further, one could conduct an interesting experiment by fishing these imitation damsel flies about dark, dropping them on the water and floating them dry just as a damsel fly might behave.

Rainbows Are Miscellaneous Feeders.

In comparing the different insect foods preferred by the species of trout the Michigan scientists found this fact to be true: Whereas the brown trout showed a marked preference for damsel flies, the rainbows which were examined were miscellaneous feeders, taking all forms of insects in the stream. The brook trout stomachs examined revealed that these fish take a large number of ants and beetles as choice food.

Halas Is Named on Committee to Fix Pro Card

Columbus, O., May 21.—(AP)—President Joe F. Carr of the National Professional Football league today announced the members of the schedule committee for the 1934 season. The committee will submit a schedule to the annual meeting of the league in July.

The league will open its season about the middle of September and close the second Sunday in December.

Lane Nine Out for Eleventh in Row Today

Prep Baseball

GAMES TODAY.

Farragut vs. Lane Tech, Logan Square park, 4 p. m.

Harrison Tech vs. Senn, Sparta field, 4 p. m.

Lindblom vs. Parker, Normal park, 4 p. m.

Bowen vs. Phillips, Bessemer park, 4 p. m.

Lane Tech's baseball team goes on the field today to seek its eleventh consecutive victory. It meets Farragut, runner-up for the west section title, in one of the four games opening the round robin series for the Chicago Public High School league championship at Logan Square park, Kedzie and Elston avenues. The game will start at 4 o'clock.

Lane Tech, coached by Percy Moore, captured the north section crown, finishing its ten game schedule without a defeat. It has won nine league titles since the league was organized in 1914. Lane took the championship for the first time in 1920, repeated in the following year, and did not win again until 1925. Then it triumphed in 1926, 1927, 1930, 1931, 1932, and 1933.

Based on performances in sectional play, Lane's chief rival appears to be Harrison Tech, which was defeated in the finals by the champions last season. This season Harrison Tech has not been defeated and finished on top in the west section with ten straight victories.

Harrison's first barrier will be Senn this afternoon at Sparta field, Kostner avenue and Cermak road. In other games on today's schedule Lindblom will oppose Parker at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue, and Bowen will play Phillips at Bessemer park.

COLUMBIA YACHT CLUB PLANS FOR SEASON'S EVENTS

Announces Five Races for Stock Inboards.

The Columbia Yacht club will celebrate the opening of the Chicago yachting season a week from tonight in the club ship at the foot of Randolph street. Columbia's grill and bar, which proved so popular last summer, also will be rededicated.

In addition to the 30 closed races George Clark and I. J. Atwood, chairman of the sail and power squadron of the Columbia Y. C., have announced five races for stock inboard runabouts. Three other regattas sponsored by the Columbia Y. C. will be open to both sail and power craft of all yacht clubs.

Plan Outboard Races.

James Mulroy, secretary of the National Outboard association, announced that several small outboard regattas will be conducted on the Century of Progress lagoons this summer. Only one date has so far been accepted, however, it being Aug. 19. A suitable course is being surveyed, despite new exhibit structures, bandstands, and cafés built over the water.

Doubt is felt in some quarters of Chicago yachting circles if the scheduled races for class Q sloops will go through this year. Many Q's will not be in commission, among them being Intruder, Chaperon, Capsicum, and the famous Mackinac race winner, Siren. The Virginia and Lutz trophies for Q's are supposed to be raced for in June and September.

On the other hand Eagle [or S] and R class skippers anticipate their biggest racing season off the Chicago Yacht club's Belmont harbor course. With the addition of Derika, Lincoln Harris' new sloop from Harbor Springs, the Eagle fleet now numbers seven vessels.

Dimensions of Sloops.

It is interesting to note that landsmen and even some yachtsmen have little or no idea of the dimensions of the universal Q, R, and S rated sloops. The Q boats, largest racing class on Lake Michigan, and about the same size as 8 meters, are around 48 feet long over all, with 32 feet waterline and 8 to 9 feet of beam. They carry upwards of 900 square feet of canvas in main and jib sails.

Next in size are the R's, averaging 39 feet over all, 25 to 26 feet on the water line, and with 6 to 7 feet of beam. While Q's weigh around 11 tons, the R's, but one-fourth shorter, displace only 6 tons on the average. On both types two-thirds of the weight is in the lead keel. Eagle yachts are 28 feet over all and 20 feet on the water.

Why pay 5c

for just an ordinary 5c cigar value?

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Domestic and Havana long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

Before you light your next 5c cigar—ask yourself this question: "Is this the best cigar value I can buy today for 5c in Chicago"?

If it's the same cigar that cost you 5c in previous years—the answer is NO. If it's a 10c cigar reduced in quality or size to sell for 5c—the answer is also NO.

Take Bayuk "Phillies"—for instance. It's not a 5c cigar. It is America's former largest-selling 10c brand now priced at 5c. Guaranteed the same in quality . . in size . . in shape.

Dealers will tell you that men are now buying "Phillies" who previously paid double and even triple its price for their cigars.

Smoke at least one "Phillies". Should it please your taste—as we believe it will—we can promise you a revelation in cigar value for 5c.

When you ask for "Phillies"—be sure you get "Phillies". Look for the box on your dealer's counter and read Bayuk's guarantee in the blue strip on the lid.

'BRING ON DERBY, WE'LL WIN,' SAY MATA HARI FANS

Filly Arrives at Aurora for Big Race Tomorrow.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Everybody around stable H at the Aurora race course would bet at the drop of the hat yesterday that Mata Hari will win the Illinois Derby to be run tomorrow afternoon.

And why not? That's the barn Mata Hari occupies as she awaits the second running of the $10,000 race. All the people in the near vicinity were members of her retinue.

Strangers were not allowed to get very close to the stall in which she was idling away a very hot day. She came in from Detroit yesterday morning and apparently shipped in fine shape, but became a bit nervous as the afternoon wore along.

She Craves Action.

Her stable is not so far from the clubhouse and stands, so it may have been the cheers and the shouts of the players which a strong west wind wafted over in her direction which whetted her desire for some action.

She completed her tedious training for the Derby before she left Detroit. She will be out on the track this morning for a few minutes, in which she will be asked for a speed test and taken for a complete sight seeing tour of the surroundings.

Mata Hari looks better than she did on Derby day in Kentucky, so unless her bad temper gets the better of her during the next 48 hours she will run a powerful race in the Illinois Derby. Trainer Clyde Van Dusen, who knows more about her moods than any other man, will be here this morning to take personal charge of her until after the Derby is run.

Chappel Horse Wins.

Plight and Indian Salute, two other Derby candidates, worked between races during the afternoon breezing along hard held for six furlongs in 1:16. New Deal galloped a mile in 1:39. Dogmata stepped a mile in 1:43 breezing out the last quarter in much faster time than she worked the first two furlongs.

More than likely the Chappel Brothers at Rockford still are celebrating the victory of their 3 year old filly Deets Campfire in the third race at Aurora yesterday.

They would be if they had watched Deets scamper down the stretch running over horses to grab victory away from Flying Pilgrim in the closing strides.

The Chappels own more horses than anybody else in the world, but this was their first turf victory of the year. Deets Campfire paid $41.66 in the $2.00 mutuels and wound up a daily double which paid $300.52.

Deets Campfire is a daughter of Campfire-French Doll, has fine blood lines, and may go on to greater things, even though she is quite small for her age.

Favorite Players Broke.

The favorite players were in need of a wailing wall after yesterday's program had been completed. Choices that were less than even money in the betting went down in defeat in the two best races.

Deets Campfire upset Donna Bettina in the third race and whipped her so soundly Donna Bettina dropped entirely out of the money.

In the Des Plaines claiming purse Cheers looked like money from home to the favorite players. When the smoke of the battle had cleared, Cheers was running in fourth place. Toltec, Dauntless Miss, and Miss Chilla had beaten him. The old fellow's failure made it appear extremely doubtful if he is going to stage a successful comeback which a fast run victory at Aurora a few days ago had indicated.

CHICAGOANS WIN BULK OF ILLINOIS BOWLING PRIZES

Suspend Wallace and Pena on Coast for 60 Days

Los Angeles, Cal., May 21.—(AP)—Frankie Wallace, Cleveland, and Johnny Pena, New York, were given 60 day suspensions by Harry W. Martin, chairman of the state athletic commission, today on the grounds that they did not give their best efforts in a 10 round featherweight bout at Hollywood last Friday. John de Terro, manager of Wallace, and Benny Ford, Pena's manager, also were suspended for 60 days.

"Lather or Brushless
Which is BETTER?"

I MAKE BOTH Lather Shave and Brushless Shave. And some men want to know which one I really recommend.

The plain truth is this: there is no such thing as one best shave for all faces. Whether you should use Lather or Brushless depends on your own type of beard and your own type of skin.

Both Mennen Lather Shave and Mennen Brushless Shave wilt wiry whiskers. But only your skin can decide which is best for you.

For dry, tender skin I recommend Mennen Brushless Shave. It's a cream, not a grease, which benefits a dry skin.

If your skin is normal, then it's just a question of whether or not you like to use a brush. Either Mennen Lather Shave or Mennen Brushless wilts whiskers!

W. G. Mennen

DEMPSEY PICKS McLARNIN; BAER VOTES FOR ROSS

Jack Figures Chicago Boy Will Be Stopped.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 21.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey and Max Baer have a lot in common. They're real pals and they usually agree on matters pugilistic, but they're as far apart as the poles in their predictions relative to the outcome of the Jimmy McLarnin-Barney Ross match next Monday night in the Garden bowl.

"McLarnin will stop Ross," says Dempsey. "He's too big and too strong for Barney."

That started a lively debate between the old man mauler and the Californian. Dempsey motored here yesterday with his wife to watch Baer's drill for his bout with Primo Carnera June 14.

"It's the same old question," said Dempsey. "A good big man against a good little man. Unless McLarnin has gone back considerably he should stop Ross within ten rounds. Ross may step around and outbox McLarnin for a few rounds, but he'll slow up when the champion starts belting him around the head with that right hand."

He's Been Hit Before.

"This kid Ross is as game as they come, and he'll take the best McLarnin has," interrupted Baer. "He's been hit on the lug by fellows who punch just as hard as McLarnin and none of them could put him on the floor. He made a sucker of Billy Petrolle, and that old warrior carts around just as much dynamite as Pop Foster's boy.

"This fight, I believe, will go the limit, with McLarnin tiring badly in the closing rounds and Ross winning by a decisive margin. I'll admit McLarnin is dangerous every moment. He's tricky with either hand. He has weight and experience on Ross, but Barney is the best looking little fellow I have seen. It's going to take a lot of fighters to beat him in the next three or four years."

Jack Still Likes Puncher.

"I'll stick along with the puncher every time," replied Dempsey, "when the conditions are the same as they are in this match. McLarnin has been away a long time and he has had long rests between many of his fights, but he's the perfectly conditioned athlete with a championship to defend and a world of confidence, especially in this bout, because he feels reasonably certain that Ross can't hurt him."

"Listen, guy," broke in Baer, "If I remember correctly you didn't do so good against a certain boxer, and it is rumored that you were a pretty good puncher in your time. You remember the fellow. His name was Tunney and you had two chances at him."

"We'll just skip that!" said Mr. Dempsey.

KID CHOCOLATE AND TOMMY PAUL TO BOX TONIGHT

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Two former champions, Kid Chocolate and Tommy Paul, will meet tomorrow night at Los Angeles, Cal., in the feature bout of the national boxing schedule this week. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds.

The only other outstanding match on the schedule also will be fought on the west coast. Bob Godwin, Miami, and Bob Olin, New York heavyweight, will fight ten rounds or less at Hollywood Friday night.

BALMY RAINLESS DAYS
COOL NIGHTS*

Water sports along the beautiful strand at Long Beach, home of the U. S. Fleet and center of many of this summer's gayest activities. The 32-acre still-water lagoon surrounding Long Beach's $3,000,000 Municipal Auditorium is a unique attraction for bathers.

AND WHERE ELSE so much fun?

HUNDREDS of vacationists tell us that Southern California offers more variety—more to see and do and enjoy—than any other single resort area. This year, of all years, don't be satisfied with a commonplace vacation. For costs are at rock-bottom this summer . . . so low that the whole expense, including transportation, need be no more than for an outing near home.

And time required is now so little that even a 2-weeks vacation gives you 11 days actually here. Come for the vacation of your life. In Los Angeles summer temperatures for 56 years have averaged for June 66.5°, July 70.4°, August 71.3°.

Valleys of orange groves, vineyards and gardens stretch from the Pacific's sandy shore to the base of towering, forested mountains. Lovely resort cities like Long Beach, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Pasadena, Glendale, and Pomona surround big, cosmopolitan Los Angeles. Next door is fascinating Hollywood, movie and style center of the world. On the south is colorful Old Mexico; northward, snowcapped peaks and a genuine glacier. Sports, on land and sea, are at their best.

UNABLE TO HEAR SIREN, IS KILLED BY FIRE TRUCK

5 Hurt as Auto Swerves to Avoid Child.

An unidentified man about 50 years old, unable to hear the siren because both of his ears were stuffed with cotton, was killed last night when he walked in front of a speeding fire department truck at North avenue and Rockwell street.

The firemen continued on their way to Wabansia and California avenues, where they learned a false alarm had been sounded. Arthur Paulsen, 38 years old, later made a report of the accident to police.

Mrs. Ethel Moran, 50 years old, 5107 Kenmore avenue, a grandmother, and her two daughters and two grandsons were injured last night when Mrs. Moran swerved her automobile to avoid hitting a child on Western avenue near Belle Plaine avenue. The automobile struck a safety iland and Mrs. Moran and her family were cut by flying glass from their car. The child, who had caused the accident, fled uninjured.

Treated at Hospital.

Mrs. Moran and her daughters and grandchildren were treated at the Martha Washington hospital. The daughters are Mrs. Anna Gladin, 22 years old, 5859 Magnolia avenue, and Mrs. Ethel Server, 4429 Magnolia avenue. The children are Louis, 4 years old, and Jeremiah, 5 months old, the sons of Mrs. Gladin.

The body of a woman who was fatally injured by a hit and run motorist at East Garfield boulevard and Michigan avenue yesterday morning was identified last evening as that of Mrs. Marie Beaty, 40 years old, who had lived in St. Louis until recently. Mrs. Lean Rodgers, 1249 Adams street, at whose rooming house Mrs. Beaty stayed while visiting in Chicago made the identification.

Two other deaths yesterday raised the Cook county trafic toll to 444 since Jan. 1. The victims:

John Gwozdjak, 48 years old, 4923 North Oakley avenue. Died in the Alexian Brothers hospital of injuries incurred yesterday morning when his automobile crashed into a light pole under the Chicago and Northwestern railroad viaduct in Clybourn avenue near Terra Cotta place.

Jack Weiss, 56 years old, of Brooke, Ind. Died in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries suffered May 4 when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another at Torrence avenue and the Lincoln highway.

Two Killed Near Ottawa.

Woodward Cooter, 20 years old, of Moshiem, Tenn., and Joseph Cheveretti, 24, of Lisle, Ill., were killed and four of their companions were seriously injured in an automobile accident near Ottawa, Ill., early yesterday. The automobile in which they were driving went into a ditch to avoid hitting another car.

George Ashworth, 27 years old, of Waterman, Ill., driver of a cattle truck bound for Chicago, was fatally hurt, and Harold Alford of the same town, his assistant, was seriously injured early today when their truck crashed into the rear of a large merchandise truck parked on the pavement of Ogden avenue, two miles east of Downer's Grove. Both men were taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium, where Ashworth died. The police said the merchandise truck had broken down and the driver had placed flares some distance each way from his machine to warn drivers of other cars. The flares were burning when the crash occurred.

TALENT LINED UP FOR BROADCAST ON EVE OF FAIR

Husing Named Master of Ceremonies.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With the selection of Ted Husing as master of ceremonies the talent lineup for the "Keep Chicago Ahead." broadcast from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. next Friday, the evening before the Fair opens, over CBS, is practically complete. W-G-N will pick up this big invitation show.

On the program will be Mayor Kelly, Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, the Detroit Symphony orchestra, the Chrysler Male choir of 180 voices, Jan Garber's orchestra. Henry Weber will conduct a twenty-six piece orchestra on a musical tour of the Fair's villages. Marion Claire, his wife, operatic soprano, will sing. President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair will speak. Burns and Allen, the comedians, have dropped their European tour and may be heard on this show. They are due to reach Chicago later this week. Mae West and other picture stars may be heard on the invitation broadcast from the west coast.

Fire Broadcast Recorded.

A complete recording was made of W-G-N's broadcast of the fire by the Radio Broadcasting studios. The broadcast was picked up by several out of town stations including WKBB, Dubuque; KFB, Indianapolis; WHBY, Green Bay; WEDC, Chicago; WCLO, Janesville; WSBT, WFAM, South Bend. A survey made by W. A. Jacoby, radio engineer, Saturday night showed 153 of 162 homes tuned in on W-G-N.

Burned off the air Saturday on the eve of its 12th anniversary, station WAAF will hold the birthday party in about a fortnight following reconstruction of its transmitter atop the Exchange building.

Ruth Etting in City.

Ruth Etting passed through Chicago Sunday on her way to her farm at David City, Neb. Ruth plans to have a "barn raising" before going on to California to make several pictures.

Phil Baker has been signed for 13 more weeks on the NBC ham hour. . . . The Mills brothers played a command performance before the king and queen of England the other day. . . . Nikita Balieff and his "Chauve Souris" have been dropped from the Whiteman Music hall. Balieff has engaged a tutor to help modify his accent and may try again in the fall. . . . Herman Felber Jr., WLS ensemble director, has been named concert master of the Kalamazoo Symphony orchestra.

James Towal, Mine Rescue Expert of Benton, Dies

Benton, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—James Towal, 58 years old, former superintendent of the Benton mine rescue station, is dead.

Funeral Services Today for Eugene Gehm, Realtor

Funeral services for Eugene Gehm, real estate operator with offices at 524 Diversey parkway, will be held at the Graceland cemetery chapel at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Gehm, who lived at 2749 Hampton court, died Saturday night. He was 74 years old. A member of the Chicago Real Estate board and the German club, Mr. Gehm had been in the real estate business in Chicago for the last 30 years. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, and four grandchildren.

Ex-Deputy County Clerk Dies from Heart Attack

Lee Lamping, 59 years old, 3101 West Washington boulevard, a former deputy county clerk, fell dead of a heart attack yesterday afternoon near the Evangelical hospital, at 5421 South Morgan street.

DELAY VOTE ON COUNCIL TENURE; ASSURES SAVING

Submission to the voters of the proposal to change the terms of aldermen from two to four years yesterday was deferred by the city council from June 4 to Nov. 6. This action follows agreement on a coalition judicial ticket for the June election, and is the final step needed to save taxpayers approximately $150,000 through the elimination of a number of polling places.

Mayor Kelly, who was instrumental in effecting the saving, thanked both Democratic and Republican committees for making the coalition possible.

"We, too, are grateful," said Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th], chairman of the Republican city group, "but we expect the Democrats to give up something one of these days. We have been giving and giving until it hurts."

"Well, Oscar," replied the mayor, "the Democrats have tried to give at various times, but the people wouldn't stand for it." The exchange upset decorum for a few moments. The coalition ticket was made a fact by the withdrawals of William J. Mannion, Republican candidate, for a two year vacancy on the Municipal court, and Stephen Adamowski, Democratic candidate, for a six months' vacancy.

FUNERAL TONIGHT FOR CAROL AUS, NOTED PAINTER

Funeral services for Carol Aus, noted portrait painter, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Howard Deign home, 1441 North State parkway. Miss Aus died Saturday after a three day illness at her home at 1306 Astor street.

Miss Aus was born in Bergen, Norway and studied in Paris before coming to the United States. She maintained a studio in Paris and one in Chicago making frequent trips back and forth until 1927 when she took up permanent residence here.

She was a member of the Chicago Galleries association, the Arts club of Chicago and the Woman's club of New York. She painted the portraits of many famous people. Early in her career she was known for her miniatures. She has no relatives in this country.

Burial will be private tomorrow at Mount Olive cemetery.

COUNCIL NAMES COMMITTEE TO RULE TAG DAYS

A standing committee on tag days was set up yesterday by the city council. This committee will have exclusive jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to soliciting funds for charity or other purposes on the streets of the city. It will have authority to prescribe all rules and regulations, and to designate organizations which may participate in tag days.

Setting up of this new group follows a series of altercations as to the administration of tag days. Regulation previously has been a part of the work on the finance committee, but the committee felt that the subject was so important that it should be administered by a special group.

Ald. Thomas A. Doyle [11th], was named chairman. Other members are Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th], vice chairman, Ald. William L. Dawson [2d], Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d], and Ald. George A. Williston [49th].

James Y. Simpson, Noted Educator, Dies in Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 21.—(AP)—Prof. James Young Simpson, eminent educator, author, and world traveler, died today. He was 60 years old, and was born in Edinburgh. He was the Terry lecturer at Yale university in 1929 and held other lectureships in the United States. He married Helen Huntington, daughter of T. C. Day, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Salesman Dies of Heart Attack in Chicago Hotel

Charles Hill, 65 years old, a salesman for the Newspaper Supply company of Worcester, Mass., fell dead yesterday in the corridor outside his room in the Morrison hotel. Mr. Hill's home was at 1315 Bedford road, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., just outside Detroit. The body will be taken there for burial. Heart disease was given as the cause of death.

News of Father's Illness Kills Daughter; 2 Burials

Mount Vernon, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Harvey A. Sanders, 42, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday afternoon. She had just been told her father, George Thomas Terry, 68, was in a serious condition. He died a few hours later. A double funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Skidding Auto Brings Death to H. J. Pratt, Kingston, N. Y.

Kingston, N. Y., May 21.—(AP)—Harcourt J. Pratt, 68, former representative in congress from the 27th district, died of a fractured skull tonight in the Kingston hospital. Six hours earlier his auto skidded off the highway and struck a pole.

C. U. Becker, Ex-Missouri State Secretary, Dead

St. Joseph, Mo., May 21.—(AP)—Charles U. Becker, 65, Republican, former Missouri secretary of state, died in a hospital here today after an illness of several weeks.

New Wills Filed in Probate Court

Two wills were admitted to probate and filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The wills are those of:

Margaret Rathke, died Aug. 18, 1933. Estate $2,950 to husband, sister, niece, and grandniece. Louis H. Nies, executor.

Edward L. Archibald, died May 7. Estate $10,000 to widow and son. Robert E. Archibald, son, executor.

PREACHERS FAIL IN LEADERSHIP, CADMAN CLAIMS

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Reliance upon preachers to point a way out of the nation's problems would be a "great mistake" because half of them are "as great liabilities as they are assets," in the opinion of the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational church in Brooklyn and former president of Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Metropolitan Federation of Daily Vacation Bible schools, Dr. Cadman was equally caustic in his arraignment of Protestant leadership since the war, church congregations and college professors.

"The Protestant forces have been badly led since the war," he declared. "When we were not falling out over ritualistic differences, thus presenting a divided front to a united foe, we engaged ourselves in routine matters."

He called for more intensive religious education on the theory that "if there are any sober minds left, they are those of children."

JACOB H. ADLER, FIGURE IN CITY'S NIGHT LIFE, DEAD

Jacob H. Adler, 57 years old, for many years identified with night life on the south side, will be buried today in the Free Sons cemetery following services at 11 o'clock in the chapel at 936 East 47th street. Adler died suddenly Saturday of a heart attack. He lived at 4900 Drexel boulevard.

Adler was part owner of the Club Royale, 426 South Wabash avenue. Previously, for many years, he had operated the old Midnight Frolics café at 18 East 22d street. More than 20 years ago he was an active figure in the old levee district.

Unwillingly, he figured in the beginning of the kidnaping racket in Chicago. In 1927 he and his partner, Frank Lawro, were kidnaped, held for nearly six days, and freed. At the time it was reported a $200,000 ransom was asked. Adler always said later he paid no ransom.

L. S. FLORSHEIM'S WIFE DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF YEAR

Mrs. Bertha Aberle Florsheim, wife of Leonard S. Florsheim Sr., an official of the Inland Light and Power company, died yesterday at the Passavant hospital after an illness of a year. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Rosehill chapel.

Although Mrs. Florsheim had been ill for some time, her condition was not considered serious until a few days ago. A son, Leonard Jr., 20 years old, flew to Chicago from Hanover, N. H., where he is a student at Dartmouth college.

Mrs. Sarah Lindsey Dawes Dies After Brief Illness

Mrs. Sarah Lindsey Dawes died after a short illness yesterday at her home at 233 East Walton place. She was 62 years old. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the undertaking parlor at 200 East Erie street, and the burial at Montrose cemetery will be private. Mrs. Dawes was born at Waynesburg, Pa., and came to Chicago 18 years ago. She is survived by her husband, Edward L. Dawes, a son, Joseph P. Pollard, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Dawes Sloan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—Trading was extremely dull in the listed bond market today, amounting to only $8,219,000, the slowest since Oct. 3, 1933, when the turnover was $7,989,000. United States government bonds finished generally easier, off 6-32 to up 1-32 point, while leading foreign loans gained a trifle and domestic corporation bonds showed advances and declines about evenly balanced.

Most traders and investors were inclined to suspend operations while waiting for further developments at Washington. Much interest was expressed in the silver message which the President is expected to transmit to congress tomorrow.

Trading Domestic Affair.

With the Whitsuntide holidays prevailing in most of the leading European financial centers, trading in bonds today, as on Saturday, was purely a domestic affair.

Of the most active of the domestic corporation issues, Armour & Co. 4½s, due 1939, closed up ¼; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe general 4s, up ⅜; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 5s, due 1975, off ¼; Columbia Gas and Electric 5s, due January, 1961, off ¼; New York Central convertible 6s, due 1944, up ½; New York, Chicago and St. Louis refunding 4½s, due 1878, up ⅞, and Pennsylvania Power and Light 4½s, due 1981, unchanged.

Foreign Bonds Irregular.

Thin trading was accorded virtually all of the foreign loans, with the net changes on the day, in most instances, amounting to small fractions. French government, Dutch East Indies, and most of the Scandinavian loans closed slightly higher. Bonds of Colombia, Bogota, and Bolivia moved up a point or more. The Argentines lost as much and the Germans were slightly mixed.

Domestic bonds were steady on the curb exchange in light dealings, with the principal advances amounting to a point or two. Foreign loans on the curb were generally easier.

Procter & Gamble Advance All Prices by 5 Per Cent

Prices of all products of Procter and Gamble company were increased an average of 5 per cent yesterday. Another increase is in the offing if the excise tax on oils used in soap is not repealed. Yesterday's boost had no reference to the tax.

A. M. Byers Co.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me whatever information you have regarding A. M. Byers common stock?—Miss S. A.

Answer: Turning out about half the wrought iron pipe made in the United States, A. M. Byers company is the oldest and largest organization in its field. Wrought iron pipe has special corrosive resisting qualities and is, therefore, especially suitable for transportation of liquids with a high chemical content. Chief outlets for the product are building, oil, public utility and railroad companies.

Earnings reflect the lack of building. With a pickup in general business activity since last September, tonnage shipments have increased and the company has been able to check the downward trend of earnings. Loss for the six months to March 31, 1934, was $441,000, of which only $184,000 was reported for the March quarter, against loss of $611,000 for the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

Yr. ended Sept. 30.	Sales.	Net loss.	Loss per Com. shr.
1933	$1,935,000	$1,044,000	$5.46
1932	2,496,000	922,000	5.01
1931	4,978,000	*82,000	1.20
1930	8,013,000	*1,134,000	*2.79

*Profit.

On Sept. 30, 1933, current assets totaled $2,578,000 and current liabilities were $180,000. Profit and loss surplus was down to $804,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 56,744 shares of $100 7 per cent participating preferred and 264,135 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Nov. 1, 1933.

Both the preferred and common are speculative.

Price of Silver.

Investors' Guide: A local man is credited with holding about 300,000 ounces of bar silver. He is quite reticent about it, but it is in the public records. An enthusiastic friend says he bought it between 13 and 17 cents an ounce. My acquaintance with these matters is quite casual, but I never happened to see the quotation any lower than about 25 cents an ounce at any time within the last 30 years. What do the records show?—S. D. J.

Answer: The records show that your enthusiastic friend is in error. The lowest price quoted for spot silver since 1875 was on Dec. 29, 1932, when it hit 24¼ cents an ounce.

BANKS' DEPOSITS RISE DESPITE FEDERAL DRAIN

Business Credit Shrinks Four Millions.

Gross deposits of federal reserve member banks continued to expand last week at all points except New York. The weekly report issued yesterday, covering operations in 91 leading cities of the country, reveals an improvement in gross of 25 million dollars, the interior accounting for a gain of 28 million, Chicago a rise of 25 millions and New York showing a drop of 28 millions.

Government Draws Money.

The government's policy of several weeks' standing in drawing down its deposits with the banks was continued. The war loan account sagged 14 millions in New York, 2 millions here, and 14 millions at other points, a net decline of 30 million. Deposits of other banks with the member institutions advanced 1 million in New York, 10 millions here, and dropped 4 millions in the 89 cities, a net upturn of 7 million dollars.

Commercial credit rose slightly at the two leading centers, gaining 3 millions in New York and an equal amount here. The interior contracted its business loans 10 millions, leaving a net decline for the nation of 4 millions.

Total loans and investments were unchanged in the interior, and down 3 and 7 millions, respectively, at New York and Chicago. Collateral loans slumped 49 millions through losses of 55 millions in New York, 6 million here, and a rise of 12 million elsewhere.

New York Buys U. S. Bonds.

New York increased its government bond portfolio by 11 million, but this was partially offset by a drop of 4 million here and 2 million in the interior, a net advance of 5 millions. Chicago and the interior made no change in holdings of other securities while New York bolstered this account 8 millions.

Comparisons of principal resources and liabilities of the banks, as of May 16, follow:

JOBS AND WAGES SHOW FURTHER RISE IN ILLINOIS

Betterment Contrary to Seasonal Trend.

Employment and aggregate wages gained contra-seasonally in Illinois industry last month, the state department of labor reports. Under the leverage of improvement in the printing and paper goods, metals, wood products, and building industries, the number of workers employed and the wages disbursed to them in Chicago also expanded, though to a slightly lesser degree than in the state as a whole.

In Illinois during the period March 15-April 15 employment increased 1.8 per cent and pay rolls 2.3 per cent, according to data assembled from 3,192 manufacturing and nonmanufacturing establishments, which paid out $8,182,341 a week last month in wages to 379,464 persons. The gains were the third consecutive monthly ones reported.

Both employment and wage disbursements in April were substantially in excess of those in the corresponding month of 1933 and 1932, according to the department's indexes. Employment exceeded that of April, 1933, by 26.3 per cent and that of April, 1932, by 14.7 per cent. Pay rolls evidenced a margin of 42.2 per cent over those of one year ago, and 11.4 per cent over those of two years ago.

Manufacturing industries, represented by 1,465 plants, enjoyed slightly sharper increases in employment and pay rolls than the nonmanufacturing, and maintained volume appreciably above those in April, 1933 and 1932. Employment in the nonmanufacturing classification was less markedly in excess of that of one and two years ago, and while pay rolls were well above those in April, 1933, they were nearly 7 per cent below those of April, 1932.

Chicago Area Figures.

On the basis of data from 1,955 concerns in Chicago employment improved 1.6 per cent and pay rolls 1.2 per cent in April. Within the metropolitan area, but outside the city limits, 208 establishments increased their wage payments by 9.7 per cent and the number of workers by 4.1 per cent.

Of the twenty-three cities and industrial districts of the state for which the department has assembled information, Alton, Aurora, Belleville, Bloomington, Decatur, East St. Louis, Elgin, Granite City, Joliet, Moline, Quincy, Rockford, Springfield and the Sterling-Rock Falls area enjoyed expansion in both employment and pay rolls. In Danville, Freeport, the Kankakee-Bradley district, the La Salle-Peru-Oglesby district, and Rock Island, declines in both respects were reported. Peoria had a gain in employment but a loss in pay rolls.

Throughout the state for all industries weekly earnings averaged $21.56 in April, or one-tenth of one per cent higher than in March. Males earned $23.46, females $14.34.

St. Lawrence Paper Mills Raises Wages 5 Pct. Again

New York, May 21.—(AP)—A further 5 per cent wage increase was announced by the St. Lawrence Paper Mills company, Three Rivers, Que. This follows a 10 per cent increase announced recently and brings the wage scale approximately to the 1932 level, the company stated.

Week's Business Failures Decline to Total of 212

Dun & Bradstreet report 212 business failures in the United States for the week ended May 17, compared with 222 in the previous week and 429 in the same week last year.

LIVE STOCK MEN UNITE TO KEEP SUPPLY MOVING

Packers Buy Freely; Prices Higher.

All interests in the live stock industry yesterday coöperated with the Chicago Live Stock exchange in moving meat animals through the fire scarred stockyards into the regular commercial channels as rapidly as possible to avert any shortage of fresh meats and the need for shipments from other points.

Considering the handicaps of the fire, all cattle, hogs and sheep were moved with remarkable rapidity, and before noon the bulk of the 12,000 cattle, 26,000 swine and 5,000 sheep were on the way to the slaughtering pens of the various packing houses. Facilities for handling the moderate receipts were adequate.

Several of the decks over which live stock is driven from the pens to the packing plants were burned, but by zigzagging their consignments over new routes until repair work was completed these packers also remained among the aggressive buyers in all divisions of the trade.

Hog and Sheep Trade Normal.

Trading in the hog and sheep houses went along the same as usual, since neither of these had been touched by the flames that swept away about 40 per cent of the cattle pens. The only difficulty in the handling of live stock for the farmer was in the clerical work, as the Live Stock Exchange building, where this work was done, had been razed. Temporary offices for the 100 or more live stock commission firms were constructed.

Packers paid strong to higher prices for most of the live stock that farmers brought in, and cleaned up even the small lots that straggled in after the bulk of trading for the day was over. While receipts were below normal they were not unusually small and, in fact, were much greater than some had expected, notwithstanding the department of agriculture's estimate Sunday night that railroads and trucks would have 11,000 cattle, 26,000 hogs, and 6,000 sheep on hand.

Normal Receipts Expected.

Today's estimate is for 6,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs and 5,000 sheep, very little under the normal Tuesday receipts for this season of the year. The facilities and pen room are sufficient to handle supplies comfortably except in the case of excessive supplies, when there might be some confusion.

Packers were buying cattle as fast as they came off the trains during the forenoon and at no time was there enough stock to fill the available pen room. Active buying by all interests sent cattle prices up 10 to 15 cents in most sections of the trade, with some spots in steers up 25 cents over the closing quotations of last week. Prime 1,719 pound steers topped the market at $9, the heaviest cattle to reach the top of the price list in several years. It was said in the trade that a load of exceptionally well finished heavy beeves averaging around 1,300 to 1,400 pounds might sell for more.

Yearling Steers at $8.25.

Yearling steers sold at $8.25 and under, while medium weight steers were sold at $8.75. Yearling hefers brought $6.85, all sales showing gains over the last sales of similar kinds. The only sign of weakness in the entire trade was found in the stocker and feeder division, and this was blamed on the drouth, which has restricted country buying of replacement stock the last few weeks.

Hogs sold about steady with the average of Saturday during the first rounds of trading today, but strengthened later and closed strong to 10 cents higher and about in line with the average of last Friday. The extreme top at $3.70 was 5 cents above Saturday's high mark, while the general average for the day at $3.50 was the same as it was at the week-end.

Lambs sold freely at strong to 25 cents higher prices, the comparatively small supply in this branch selling at $8.60 to $9.75 mostly. Shorn lambs cashed at $8.60, while wooled stock reached $9.75.

U. S. Treasury to Withdraw $33,113,600 from Banks

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The United States treasury today called for the repayment on May 24 of $17,607,300 by depository banks in the New York federal reserve district and $33,113,600 by all banks in the country. The call amounts to 7 per cent of remaining proceeds of sale of 2½ per cent notes and 1½ per cent certificates on Jan. 29.

Stockyards Banks Operate Despite Fire

Despite the disaster of last Saturday Chicago's two livestock banks—The Drovers National and Live Stock National—opened for business as usual yesterday morning.

The Live Stock resumed in its own Quarters at 4150 South Halsted street, which were badly charred, but usuable. The Drovers, whose building was destroyed, took over banking quarters at 4659 South Ashland avenue formerly occupied by the Peoples National bank.

Vaults of the Drovers are still too hot to open, but funds on deposit with the federal reserve bank were withdrawn and the bank was able to conduct its business normally.

Report Deposit Increase.

No accounts were withdrawn from either institution and both reported increased deposits. William C. Cummings, president of the Drovers, said the good will and coöperation given his institution was inspiring.

"Our new location, a mile west of the old quarters, is very convenient for many local merchants," he explained, "and a good many people have asked us to stay in business here. However, we have decided nothing on this score yet."

Mr. Cummings said the vaults probably will not be opened until Wednesday. At that time the Clearing House association will be asked to seal them and deliver them intact to the bank at the new location.

No Money or Records Lost.

No money, currency or records of either institution was lost. All had been placed in the vaults, which are fire proof, and the only damage occurred from water seepage. This was slight.

David H. Reimers, president of the Live Stock National, said operations were conducted normally.

A. N. WILLIAMS NEW HEAD OF RAILWAY CLUB

A. N. Williams, president of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, was installed as president of the Western Railway club at the fiftieth anniversary dinner at the Hotel Sherman last night. He succeeds J. E. Bjorkholm. The club's membership is composed mainly of techincal railroad men and representatives of railroad supply companies.

The development of driving wheels for steam locomotives, from the tiny engines of the earliest days to the giants of the present, was discussed by Samuel M. Vauclain, 78 year old chairman of the board of the Baldwin Locomotive works.

Mr. Vauclain told how the driving wheels of the earlier passenger engines constructed in England were of large size, some with a diameter of eight to ten feet. Passenger engines in this country at first used the larger wheels of the British engine, but later adopted smaller wheels.

Wheel design went through various phases, Mr. Vauclain said. For years it became the practice to have larger wheels on passenger locomotives for speed and smaller ones on freight engines due somewhat to the demand for high speed freight.

DU PONT RAISES DIVIDEND RATE TO $2.60 A YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. declared a quarterly dividend of 65 cents a share on the common stock, payable June 15, placing the issue on a $2.60 annual basis against $2 paid previously. The dividend record in recent years shows $4 paid in 1931, $2.75 in 1932 and $2 last year.

In the first quarter this year Du Pont earnings were equal to 90 cents a share on the common,

BANK LEADER FEARS FEDERAL RULE OF CREDIT

Mitchell Criticizes U. S. Meddling.

Springfield, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Sharp criticism of governmental meddling in banking was voiced today by J. E. Mitchell, president of the Illinois Bankers' association. He indicated that sooner or later the government may take over all banking, in which event he predicted young men and women starting business would be denied the credit which made their parents and grandparents successful.

He made his charge before several hundred Illinois bankers gathered here for the association's forty-fourth annual convention.

"We would turn over to the politician patronage of the banking system and to political control the granting or refusing of credit, that greatest of all instruments by which individual and local communities can climb to better things or by which rulers can become tyrants," Mitchell asserted.

Pictures Credit Situation.

"Visualize the following: When the potato grower in Wisconsin wants credit he can send his application to Washington to a man who never saw a potato. The wheat grower in Nebraska can send his application to a man who hails from Carolina. Maybe the orange grower's application from California will land on the desk of the

Stagnant Markets Blamed on Fear of Federal Control

BY HOWARD WOOD.

What has happened to the markets?

On the eve of the disclosure of another political "relief" plan to aid the silver producers—a step which should be at least slightly inflationary—the volume of trading on the New York stock exchange sinks to the lowest for ten years.

It's the same story at the Chicago Board of Trade. With the weather news the most sensationally bullish in years, the price of wheat and corn went up 2 or 3 cents last week and declined slightly yesterday. Trading in grains was unusually small.

The market trend explainers can always explain the whys and wherefores. Now some of them are attributing the stubborn resistance of wheat prices to the large domestic and world carry over and the present spread between Chicago and Liverpool prices. They are explaining the dullness in stocks as due to the "technical position" of the market.

In the past it has taken more than a "weak technical position" to stop stocks from soaring when there was inflationary talk in the air and a drouth that threatened to result in a major crop failure would do plenty to the wheat market no matter what the carryover.

Significant is it that on Saturday the Toronto Stock exchange did more business than the nine leading American stock exchanges combined. The Winnipeg grain exchange did not share this popularity, but this was probably due to the fact that the Winnipeg grain market is being rigged by the dominion government and is highly artificial.

The explanation of the tremendous slump in trading in American markets seems to lie in the fact that the new "teeth" in federal market regulation have begun to bite.

The Fletcher-Rayburn bill is still to be drafted in its final form, but the general outline is clear. As for grains, the price limitations, the code, and the proposed federal regulation of exchanges have introduced enough artificialities to keep out the trading public and even the professionals are willing to sit and wait to see what happens.

Whether the ultimate fruits of the New Deal in market regulation will be good or bad only time will tell, but the immediate result has been to bring trading almost to a standstill.

This has been brought about not so much by actual legal mandates as by a change in public psychology. Legalists are still arguing whether or not the securities act of 1933 prevents new bond financing, but there hasn't been any new financing to speak of, and so whether or not the law prevents financing matters little as long as possible issuers of bonds think it does.

How long the markets will remain stagnant is anybody's guess. A bad enough crop failure to put wheat on a domestic basis might send the public into the grain pit. The threat of greenbacks or any other really drastic inflation probably would boom the trading in stocks. Right now traders are staying out of the market because they aren't sure how they would get out if they once got in.

DOLLAR WEAKER AS FRANC AND POUND ADVANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—In a trade restricted by the holiday abroad the dollar sagged slightly as measured against the French gold franc. The latter closed ½ point higher, indicating a dollar value of 59.22 cents, off 5 points from Saturday's closing figure.

The British pound closed ¼ cent higher at $5.11¼, other currencies were steady to slightly higher.

DIRECT LOAN, GUARANTY BILLS NEAR PASSAGE

Credit Plan Comes Up in House Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Two administration financial measures of far reaching importance moved toward adoption in the house today as congressional leaders continued to press for the early June adjournment desired by President Roosevelt.

The two bills, both reported favorably by the banking and currency committee, provide respectively for RFC and federal reserve bank loans to small private industry, and for another year's continuation of the temporary government guarantee plan for bank deposits.

Attached to the latter measure without the approval of the administration, however, was a so-called "bank pay off" program under which the government would buy up assets of closed banks to facilitate the payment of depositors. The bank pay off rider was appended to the bill by the banking committee in response to a tremendous congressional agitation for such legislation, but whether it will survive Roosevelt's opposition in the house was a matter of conjecture.

Loan Bill Comes Up Today.

The loans to industry bill is slated for consideration on the floor of the house tomorrow. House leaders today

STOCKS STEADY; TRADE DULLEST IN TEN YEARS

Fear Day's Action Sample of U. S. Control.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—The stock market to day, in point of turnover, went through the dullest session since 1924, and the narrowness of price changes fully complemented the somnolent trading pace. For all the market's lack of life, however, traders had some solace in the steadiness of prices, most "active" issues finishing the day with fractional gains.

Lapsing into long periods of idleness, the ticker ground out a total turnover of 382,190 shares. This made dealings the smallest for a full day's trading since June 2, 1924, when 305,600 shares were traded in the regulation five hours. Scanning the records still further back it was found that a volume of only 140,000 shares in the first two hours was the smallest for the period since Aug. 13, 1921.

Fear Continued Dullness.

In board rooms there was speculation as to whether the market's display of utter apathy might not be a taste of what might be expected when the street comes under the leash of Washington regulation.

The most popular explanation for the apathetic session was the increasing reluctance of traders to take any position in the market pending the outcome of the controversy in congress over the regulation bill. Also there was uncertainty over Washington's plans for further legislation, notably silver. On top of this there were week-end trade reports confirming statistical evidence of the beginning of a summer slack period, although the recession was not of an alarming nature.

On the whole, prices maintained a firm tone from start to finish. The even tenor of the trend, however, was disturbed by selling here and there. Lack of support in these instances resulted in losses of 1 to 3 points at the lows.

Fifth of Sales in Mines.

The only sign of real strength was in the silvers, the street apparently anticipating good things for the industry in the President's message scheduled for delivery to congress in the next day or two. Led by U. S. Smelting and Howe Sound gains in this group ranged to more than a point at the best.

Dealings in mining shares generally made up about one out of every five sales. Coppers were fractionally higher and the gold stocks looked good. Homestake leaped 9 points on one sale.

Firming tendencies were shown around noon with the surprise announcement of an increase in the du Pont dividend rate. Du Pont bulged more than a point on the news, but some of the gain was shaved before the close.

There was another piece of news of hypodermic qualities in the earnings report of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which was better than anticipated. But it caused hardly a ripple.

Steel Group Dull.

Shares of steel companies sat it out with other industrials. United States Steel until midafternoon varied only half a point between its high and low price. The stock showed a fractional advance at the finish.

American Telephone undertook to pace the utilities, but was held to a gain of less than a point.

Such other leaders as Allied Chemical, American Can, Auburn, Case, Chrysler, Manville, Montgomery Ward, and United Aircraft crawled over a range of nothing to 1 point, but most of them finished modestly on the upside.

The stagnation of the market led a statistical firm to dig up records showing that on March 31, 1830, only 31 shares were traded. Only two issues were involved on that date, 26 shares of the United States bank at $119 a share and 5 shares of Morris Canal and Banking at $75.25.

New York Exchange Seat Sells at Gain of $5,000

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a membership in the New York Stock exchange for $105,000, an increase of $5,000 over the last transaction.

SILVER FUTURES

Trade in silver futures was slow yesterday, speculators apparently awaiting President Roosevelt's message to congress which will be issued today. Prices held within a range of less than ¼c and closed at net gains of .12@.22c, with May at 45.36c; July, 45.50c; September, 45.70@45.78c; December, 46.00@46.08c, and January, 46.17c. Foreign bar silver was ¼c higher at 45½c.

EGGS UP; NEARBY BUTTER DELIVERIES RISE SHARPLY

Egg futures moved up ⅛@⅜ cents on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, while butter closed unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Butter opened higher. New buying was encouraged by the lack of rain over production states, but, near the close, selling increased when showers were forecast in various sections.

Eggs received moderately active support, new buying and short covering developing. The cooler weather forecast tended to slow up buying near the close.

Sales, butter, 50 cars; eggs, 43 cars. Deliveries, eggs, 2 cars; butter, 11,626 tubs. Prices:

LARD ADVANCES SLIGHTLY; EXPORT TRADE SLACKENS

Only moderate interest was taken in provisions yesterday; trade was entirely in lard. Scattered buying developed and prices moved up fractionally, with the finish unchanged to 5 cents higher. Bellies were nominally 2½ to 10 cents higher.

Cash lard was steady at $6.12½, while loose was unchanged at $5.70 and leaf at $5.75. Bellies sold at Saturday's level at $8.37½.

The stock yards fire late Saturday had no effect on the market. Export demand was reported as slow owing to the holidays in the United Kingdom. Prices:

COTTON FUTURES LOWER; TRADE ONLY MODERATE

Cotton markets showed an easy undertone throughout yesterday and the finish was about the bottom. Futures in Chicago were .08 to .12 cents and other markets .08 to .11 cents per pound lower, with only a moderate speculative interest shown.

There was comparatively little European business in evidence owing to the holidays abroad. Liverpool, however, will reopen today.

Reports from Texas indicated the emergence of boll weevils between May 1 and 15 was the heaviest during a like period in the 10 years the official records are available.

Spot cotton in leading markets dropped .10 to .11½ cents at New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston. Prices:

WOOL MARKET

Boston, Mass., May 21.—[Special.]—New fleece wools appear a little steadier. It has become difficult to buy in the country at the recent low prices offered, it is reported. Occasionally prices slightly higher than recent lows have been paid. Boston dealers have recently bought sparingly of the new fleeces offered from the country. A few users have placed buying orders at low bids. Estimated receipts of domestic wool at Boston during the week ending May 19 amounted to 1,826,600 pounds, against 1,202,200 pounds in the preceding week.

HINT U. S. SUIT IS REPRISAL FOR CUTTEN ATTACK

Views of Grain Operator Cited at Hearing.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Opposing attorneys in the action in which the federal government is endeavoring to show cause why Arthur W. Cutten should be barred from trading on American grain exchanges clashed yesterday regarding the introduction of telegrams passing between Arthur M. Hyde, former secretary of agriculture, and Cutten, and over the introduction of certain magazine articles in which Cutten criticized governmental activities.

The Hyde telegram asked Cutten to abandon his "bear" position if he was "short" grain.

Leo F. Tierney, attorney for the grain futures administration, introduced a telegram sent to Cutten by Hyde and an alleged answer by Cutten regarding the latter's market position in February, 1930. Referee R. C. Brooks admitted the telegrams, subject to objections, and he has not yet decided whether the magazine articles, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post in November, 1932, are to be admitted.

Hints at Federal Reprisals.

Orville J. Taylor in arguing against the introduction of the magazine articles repeated his intimations of governmental reprisals for Cutten's criticism.

"We say that this action is a part and parcel of the program which is being carried on by the administration in power in this country to restrict freedom of speech, the press, and radio," Mr. Taylor asserted. "It is particularly apparent that in lieu of being sent to star chamber, as was the practice in earlier British history, Mr. Cutten is now being confronted by the government with an article he wrote or with which he had something to do. Now these articles are being put in this record by the government, but they do not go into the question of spreading propaganda to preclude and bar a citizen from his right to say what he please so long as it is constructive with respect to the government."

Denies Defense's Charges.

Mr. Tierney immediately denied that he was a party to an attempt to block freedom of the press, saying:

"I want to state that so far as this humble government representative is concerned, portions of these articles were only introduced to show that Mr. Cutten knew what he was doing with respect to reports required from him. I have no difference with Mr. Taylor with respect to freedom of the press."

"It is reported that you have been operating on the bear side of the grain market. These operations have contributed to the collapse of the market. I have no right or authority to suggest any course to a business man in his own business, but in the public interest if you could abandon such course it would help many thousands of people in a time of distress. If the report is not true, then disregard my anxiety in the matter."

Cutten Explains His Deals.

The alleged reply from Mr. Cutten follows:

"Your wire received and your information misleading. I have not been very active in the markets. My activity in the last two weeks consisted of selling about 400 privileges each way. I do not think I have sold a bushel of wheat during that time except to protect the trade puts."

Attorney Taylor asserted that this telegram was sent in reply by John R. Mauff, one time friend of Cutten, who later sued him, without Cutten's authority.

"It's a part and parcel of the whole scheme to make Mr. Cutten a part of the publicity program," Taylor said. Tierney said he would be glad to give Cutten the privilege of denying from the witness stand that he had seen the Hyde telegram or had authorized the reply.

Taylor offered a motion that a large part of the testimony offered by the government be stricken from the records on the ground that it is irrevalent.

Says Cutten Sold Short.

D. B. Bagnell, who got up the statistical information contained in the government's charges, testified regarding reports made by Cutten and various grain houses and the failure by these parties to submit reports, although on many occasions, he said, the Cutten holdings exceeded the 500,000 bushel amount minimum for which reports were required.

Bagnell analyzed Cutten's position on a number of days. For example, he stated that on Jan. 5, 1931, Cutten was short 1,540,000 bushels of July wheat. On this same date Clement, Curtis reported that Cutten was short 600,000 bushels, as did Mr. Cutten himself, leaving 940,000 bushels unreported. Bagnell testified regarding the purchase and sale of wheat for two Cutten accounts with the Uhlmann Grain company, stating that the two accounts were balanced on various dates through the purchase and sale of futures. He asserted that reports of holdings in them should have been lumped.

TREASURY BILLS SET RECORD FOR LOW YIELD RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—New low yield rates for short term government financing were announced tonight by the treasury. An issue of 91 day treasury discount bills, offered last Friday, was sold at an average price of 99.985, equivalent to an annual rate of about 0.06 per cent. An issue of 182 day bills was sold at an average price of 99.936, equivalent to a rate of about 0.13 per cent. The lowest rates before today's sale were 0.06 for 91 day notes and 0.14 for 182 day notes.

Bids for the 91 day bills totaled $190,788,000, of which $50,457,000 was accepted. The accepted bids ranged from par to 99.983, the latter price being equivalent to a rate of about 0.07 per cent. Bids for the 182 day bills totaled $164,466,000, of which $50,140,000 was accepted. The bids ranged from 99.949, equivalent to about 0.10 per cent, to 99.931, equivalent to about 0.14 per cent.

LEASES FEATURE CHICAGO REAL ESTATE MARKET

Civic Opera Building Gains Tenants.

BY AL CHASE.

Leases, both new and renewals, were features of an otherwise quiet day in the real estate market. D. E. Sawyer, manager of the Civic Opera building, in reporting a list of new tenants, pointed out that the demand for office space is a gauge of improving general business.

"An active interest in larger and more modern office appointments has been in evidence the last few months," he said.

Among some of the new tenants reported by Sawyer are the Graphic Arts federation, Manufacturing Lithographers association, United States Government Oil Enforcement division, United States of America National Reemployment Service, the R. W. Young Manufacturing company, and the Monroe Calculating Machine company.

Oil Company Enlarges Quarters.

The Shell Petroleum corporation, which has been a tenant in the Blum building, 630 South Michigan avenue, for ten years, occupying the entire fourteenth floor, recently has taken over all of the fifteenth floor and a large part of the twelfth. Several other tenants recently have enlarged their space.

H. L. Newman, agent for the building, also reports closing several new leases, among them being: Defiance Spark Plug, Inc., Reliance Advertising company, Bolser Flare corporation, Flintkote company, McMillan Oil company, and Seneca Petroleum company. The building is now reported to be more than 80 per cent rented.

Auto Concern Leases Building.

Samuel S. Byron, president of the Lion Automobile Accessories company, now at 1430 South Michigan avenue, has signed a lease for a term of five years for the four story and basement building at 1918 South Michigan avenue, formerly occupied by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company. The premises have a floor area of 42,500 square feet. The lessor is the estate of Edwin L. Brand.

Benjamin Schlessinger, of Gordon Strong & Co., who represented all parties in the foregoing transaction, also reported having leased for three years the three story building at 1240 South Michigan, containing 20,000 square feet, to the Acme Finance company, an automobile finance concern which has been on motor row for two decades. The lessor is the Northern Trust company, trustee for the estate of Charles W. Pardridge.

3 STEEL FIRMS WILL REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE UNION

Youngstown, O., May 21.—(AP)—Officials of three large steel companies here announced today that they will not recognize the Amalgated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tinplate Workers.

"Recognition," said a statement issued by the Republic Steel corporation, "would mean a closed shop, and to this the company is unalterably opposed."

Similar replies were given to Amalgated delegates at local offices of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Carnegie Steel company.

"We are willing to bargain with any group of our employés as such," the Republic statement continued. "We have been doing this right along. "We will not recognize any outside organization."

Hansen Packing Sues Swift on Charge of Monopoly

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—An action for $6,000,000 damages under the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws was filed in federal court here today against Swift & Co., meat packers of Chicago, by the Hansen Packing company of Butte, Mont. The suit charges that Swift since 1931 has been underselling Hansen in districts around Butte in an attempt to set up a monopoly and lessen competition.

Declares Suit Baseless.

Henry Veeder, general counsel for Swift & Co., last night declared there was no basis for the suit filed in the New York court, charging monopolistic practices. "It is not possible to comment further until we see the papers filed in the case and learn the alleged grounds for action," he said.

GROCERY STORE SALES FOR FOUR MONTHS 14% ABOVE MARK YEAR AGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 21.—Sales of retail grocery stores, including chains and independents, were 14 per cent ahead in dollar volume in the first four months of 1934 compared with the same period of 1933, a nation-wide survey by the Progressive Grocer shows.

Aggregate sales of independent grocery and combination stores were 17.6 per cent ahead of last year, based on the records of 1,515 stores selected throughout the country to represent a cross section.

Variation in independent store sales by geographical sections was shown, but all sections reported dollar increases as follows: New England states, 14.2 per cent; middle Atlantic, 19.5; south Atlantic, 24.7; north central, 17; south central, 20.7; mountain states, 17; Pacific states, 14.9.

"The frequent charge that codes work to the disadvantage of small business establishments is not borne out by the facts in retail food distribution," said Carl W. Dipman, editor of the Progressive Grocer. "All retail food stores have been under code regulation for the entire four month period of 1934."

REPORTS UNDER STOCK CONTROL BILL DECIDED

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—House and senate conferees struck a compromise today on the disputed question of how much power the stock exchange regulating commission should have to require fiancial reports and statements from corporations with listed securities.

They accepted a senate provision giving the commission authority to require whatever information it might deem necessary for the protection of investors when a new issue was to be listed. For the period after listing, however, they approved house language limiting the frequency of financial reports to quarterly, leaving unchanged a clause requiring the corporations to keep the original information reasonably up to date.

Again the conferees postponed action on such controversial matters as whether the federal trade commission or a specially created board should be given the task of administering the bill. The house bill calls for the former and the senate bill the latter. The conferees plan to approve all noncontroversial sections and then turn to the disputed clauses.

In addition to their action on corporate reports, the conferees today accepted the house provisions on the removal of a stock from listing. These would give the regulating commission authority to prescribe rules of procedure. The senate bill, on this point, called for thirty days' notice and gave the commission authority to poll stockholders on the question.

SHIFT OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATED TELEPHONE CO.

A realignment of officers was effected at the annual meeting of Associated Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday. The positions of chairman of the board and vice chairman were eliminated. The former chairman, W. F. Adams, was elected president, and the former vice chairman, H. L. Gary, was elected vice president. E. C. Blomeyer, who was president, became vice president.

Changes in the directorate include addition of W. F. Benoist, P. S. Gary, and Emmett Swanson, and elimination of Sir Alexander Roger, L. E. Durham, and J. W. Perry.

In the event preferred dividends are not resumed this year preferred stockholders will be eligible to vote at the next annual meeting, at which time dividends will have been in arrears for two years.

BANKING LEADER FEARS FEDERAL RULE OF CREDIT

J. E. Mitchell Assails Federal Meddling.

man from the groves of Florida. And will he get his credit?

"Ah, here comes an application from a Georgia cotton planter, right on the desk of a Connecticut Yankee. It will not work. America, growing all things, making all things, is too highly diversified for such a system."

Mr. Mitchell denied that deposit bankers had any part in causing the economic chaos through which the nation has passed. Instead, he declared they were the victims.

Suffers Public Attacks.

"Banking has had to encounter severe public attacks," he said. "Seizing on this situation many leaders in the present administration hold out to citizens the idea that unit banks are the tools and instruments of vested interests.

"The 1934 banker is not trying to save the American banking system for himself, but for the people. If he were pleading his own case he might say he had brought through the strain of the most intricate upset of modern times 80 per cent of the country's banks without a loss to depositors. And yet these public officeholders would have the public take banking out of the hands of these men and turn it over to the dictates of politicians."

From a spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation came word that more than 97 per cent of Illinois banks are members of the new organization. The address of Leo T. Crowley, board chairman of the deposit corporation, was read by Francis C. Brown, its attorney. Almost 60 per cent of the membership was voluntary, he said.

"Of the 852 Illinois banks now members of the corporation 511 joined of their own volition," he said. "In the country as a whole 55 per cent joined voluntarily.

FDIC Official Tells of Work.

"Up to May 14 the Reconstruction Finance corporation had completed organization of banks for loans and for capital purposes in an amount exceeding 273 million dollars. Of this sum 29 million dollars was in loans to banks in liquidation, 90 million dollars was in the form of commitments to banks for capital purposes, while 154 million dollars represented loans to open banks.

More Money to Banks.

"The Home Owners' Loan corporation had closed 2,291 loans for more than 9 million dollars to May 11. Of this amount $800,000 of home mortgages held by closed banks was refinanced. To April 30 the farm credit administration had refinanced farm mortgages in excess of 41 million dollars in Illinois of which they estimate at least 13 million dollars went directly to banks.

"Adding these totals it is seen that some of the more important governmental refinancing agencies have already authorized in excess of 323 million dollars in this state."

HIDE FUTURES.

Hide futures in New York closed 8 to 15 points lower yesterday, with sales of 21 lots, or 840,000 pounds. Closing bids: Old contracts—June, 9.30c; September, 9.95c; December, 10.30c; March, 10.65c. Standard contracts—September, 10.10c; December, 10.50c; March, 10.82c.

DIRECT LOANS, GUARANTY BILLS NEAR PASSAGE

Credit Measure Comes Up in House Today.

obtained a special rule limiting debate to two hours and appeared confident that the legislation will see passage by tomorrow night.

Similar legislation has already passed the senate, but the version which goes into the house tomorrow differs materially in detail from that which received the approval of the higher body.

Whereas the senate measure limited RFC loans to an aggregate of 250 millions, the house boosted the total to 300 millions. This fund, together with 141 millions of federal reserve bank surpluses made available for loans to industry, bring the total involved in the house measure to some 440 million dollars. The house committee likewise lowered the amount which the RFC may lend to any one industry to $100,000 in place of the one million dollar limitation voted by the senate. These discrepancies are to be worked out in conference following house passage of the bill.

Boosts Limit of Guaranty.

Although the bank deposit bill continues the temporary government guarantee plan for another year as an alternative to the initiation of permanent federal deposit insurance, the measure brought out by the banking and currency committee today boosts the amount of deposits guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation to $5,000 instead of $2,500 as at present.

The measure likewise authorizes the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation to borrow up to five times its original capitalization. Under present law the corporation may expand its original capital only three times. The additional expansion was authorized, according to members of the banking committee, to provide funds necessary to carry out the purchase of closed bank assets.

Assets of the FDIC under the house bill would be segregated into two funds, one for backing all bank deposits up to $5,000; the other for making loans on, or buying up the assets of closed banks.

Has Widespread Support.

Support for legislation authorizing the federal government to finance the payment of depositors in closed banks is widespread in the house. Since early in the session a strong group has been pressing for passage of such a measure, but the administration has persistently quashed all efforts to secure its consideration.

The bank pay off plan embodied in the guarantee bill was devised by the banking and currency committee on its own responsibility and without sanction of the treasury department or the RFC, it was understood, and is expected to meet objections from administration leaders when it reaches the floor of the house. At the same time there was a possibility that President Roosevelt may decide to sanction the proposal offered by the house committee, although no indication that he will do so has been forthcoming.

U. S. GOLD STOCK SETS NEW HIGH AT $7,756,969,650

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The treasury's stock of gold on May 18, the latest date for which figures are available, stood at $7,756,969,650, a new high. The previous high mark was established on May 9, when gold holdings totaled $7,756,121,299. The statement does not explain the "mystery" of $25,000,000 of imported gold which is not accounted for on the books of the treasury.

According to some quarters it was expended in operating the stabilization fund. According to other it was used to purchase silver, anticipating legislation seeking to increase the monetary reserve of that metal to 25 per cent in relation to gold.

Humboldt Bond-Mortgage Will Pay 10 Pct. on Notes

A 10 per cent distribution will be made today to noteholders of the Humboldt Bond and Mortgage company, affiliate of the Humboldt State bank. The distribution, the first since the firm went into receivership in 1931, amounts to $37,820. There are $378,200 in notes outstanding. Allan C. Dixon, trustee for the concern, will distribute the payment.

Closed Illinois Banks Which Have Received RFC Loans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—While congress was starting work on a new method of paying off depositors in closed banks, the RFC reported on the work it has already done toward "thawing out" deposits in defunct institutions. Listing more than 2,000 banks which it has aided in paying off depositors, the RFC disclosed that it had advanced them hundreds of millions of dollars.

The list disclosed that approximately 31 million dollars had been loaned to Illinois banks, of which more than 12 millions had been in Chicago and vicinity. The Illinois list follows:

ESTIMATE STEEL RATE AT 54.2%, DOWN 2.4 POINTS

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The American Iron and Steel institute estimates steel production for the week beginning today at 54.2 per cent of capacity, a decrease of 2.4 points from the indicated rate of 56.6 per cent of capacity a week ago. A month ago production was at the rate of 54 per cent of capacity.

The further lowering of production was said to be the result of a falling off in specifications against orders, particularly in the case of the automobile industry, which has been placing smaller orders for the last two weeks.

Senate and House Agree on City Bankruptcy Bill

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—Senate and house conferees virtually agreed today on the corporate bankruptcy bill substantially as it passed the senate. The measure would permit cities and towns to scale down their indebtedness through agreements with creditors.

Suit Against Wardman Properties Is Dismissed

New York, May 21.—(AP)—A $12,000,000 accounting suit brought by Emil Nassauer of New York against Wardman Real Estate Properties of Washington, D. C.; Harry Wardman, the founder; Halsey, Stuart & Co., and others for alleged services in refinancing the Wardman companies in 1928 was dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Edward J. McGoldrick today. Nassauer, a promoter, announced he will appeal.

GRAINS SEESAW; CROP REPORTS DIFFER WIDELY

Wheat Loses Fractionally After Early Rise.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain traders had a wide range of crop and weather reports to contend with yesterday and the action of the markets was as mixed as the news. Temperatures close to 100 prevailed in parts of the wheat belt, but were below freezing in some sections of Canada. Private returns from the most favorable sections of the west, where there have been highly beneficial showers lately, reported better than average prospects, but there also were reports indicating a practical crop failure in other sections.

Wheat fluctuated erratically within a range of about 2 cents, moving up early on scattered buying only to break later and close with net losses of ½ cent, July at 88⅛ to 88¾ cents and September at 89½ to 89⅝ cents. Corn was off ¼ to ½ cent with May at 49¼ cents. Oats finished unchanged to ⅝ cent higher, with July at 35¾ to 35⅞ cents. Rye was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Barley rose ¼ cent.

Showers Believed Too Light.

Scattered showers were reported in parts of the American and Canadian northwest, but they were generally too light to be of any material benefit. Fair weather was expected over night in the spring wheat area with probable showers in the winter wheat belt. Light frost was regarded possible in the Dakotas, where temperatures as high as 100 were reported over Sunday.

Grain traders who spent the weekend driving through northern Illinois and reports from various other sections asserted dry weather and intense heat had caused heavy damage.

"The situation for spring grain, hay and pastures is critical, while winter wheat prospects continue to decline," said B. W. Snow, the Bartlett-Frazier expert, after analyzing a large number of returns. He covered 200 miles in northern Illinois and reported unfavorable conditions, with some wheat fields being plowed up.

Other Experts Report Damage.

H. C. Donovan, the Thomson & McKinnon crop expert, returning from a 3,500 mile inspection trip in the southwest, reported very spotted conditions, asserting the Kansas winter wheat crop might be 80 million bushels with favorable weather, or 19 million bushels less than the government May 1 report. E. H. Miller, the Bennett expert, found spotted conditions between Chicago and St. Louis. R. O. Cromwell, who covered part of eastern South Dakota, western Minnesota, and eastern Nebraska, sent in a report that was far from optimistic.

Showers had a weakening effect on the Winnipeg wheat market, which closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower for the day. The Liverpool wheat market was closed for the Whitsuntide holidays, but will reopen today.

COSMOPOLITAN BANK PLANNING REORGANIZATION

Plans for the reopening of the Cosmopolitan State bank on a reorganized basis are nearing completion. Definite data concerning their terms are expected to be available within the next few days, according to J. R. Darmstadt, 1230 North Clark street, a member of the reorganization committee.

Mr. Darmstadt said yesterday that the committee and the state auditor's office are now discussing plans for the reopening. The committee, composed of Joseph H. Meyer, Henry C. Brummel, and J. R. Darmstadt, has the active support of directors of the bank, who have available an undisclosed amount of money to help finance the reorganized bank. The committee also has assurance of a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, it was said.

The reorganization, as presently contemplated, will call for the "freezing" of a percentage of deposits.

SENATORS CLAIM RIGHT TO ACT ON TRADE TREATIES

Call for Colombian Pact; Flail Tarif Bill.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—The model treaty the state department has worked out for trade relations with Colombia was demanded in the senate today by Senator Hatfield [Rep., W. Va.] in a renewal of debate on the administration's tarif bill.

Hatfield said he would introduce a resolution tomorrow calling for the state department to submit the treaty to the senate. He said he also understood the department had a tacit agreement with Germany under which lard and dyes would be exchanged.

Senator Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], also an opponent of the administration measure, which would grant President Roosevelt power to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with other nations without the necessity of senate ratification, joined in calling for the Colombian treaty.

Model for 27 Treaties.

The Colombian treaty has been designated as a model on which treaties with 27 nations are expected to be drafted by the state department. It was negotiated several months ago, but has been withheld pending action on the tarif measure. State department officials said they did not desire other nations, with whom negotiations are expected in the future, to know its contents.

"This country cannot enter into any treaty until it has been approved by two-thirds of the senate," Hatfield said. "And yet if a reciprocal tarif bill is passed this treaty can be placed in effect without its submission to the senate. That is unconstitutional and I am going to demand a showdown."

Meanwhile, Senator Fess of Ohio, assistant Republican leader, assailed the bill verbally in a speech that took up most of the day. He said it would "scuttle the republic and set up a political or an economic dictatorship."

Fess Warns of Dangers.

The Ohioan said the bill denied to domestic industries "fair warning of contemplated changes" in tarifs, threatened labor with "sudden dislocation and unemployment," aggravated the "unrest of our citizens" and intensified the "dangers inherent in tarif bargaining."

Fess said economic improvement had been greater in countries first hit by the depression and "unhindered by artificial stimuli." He cited figures compiled by the league of nations to show that the United Kingdom, Japan, Belgium, France and Germany had all shown a greater percentage of recovery than the United States.

"It would appear, therefore," he argued, "that what we need at this time in America, instead of resorting to the laboratory of experimentation, is a calm appraisal of national and international conditions and an abandonment of the prevalent practice of citing an emergency as the reason for unprecedented experiments in legislation, as the sine qua non of economic recovery."

COMMODITY RISE EQUAL TO GOLD, SAY PROFESSORS

Ithaca, N. Y., May 21.—(AP)—A steady and parallel rise in the price of gold and commodities since the opening of the administration's gold buying policy is shown in a report by Prof. George F. Warren and Prof. Frank A. Pearson of Cornell university.

"The advance in commodity prices from February, 1933, to February, 1934, was 67 per cent," they state. "The price of gold was raised 69 per cent. It will be observed that nearly every change in the price of gold has been accompanied by a change in commodity prices.

"Both prices of gold and prices of commodities have followed a steadier course since the gold buying policy was established, except for a short period at the beginning."

Prof. Warren and Prof. Pearson are the outstanding exponents of the theory that commodity prices will increase as the price of gold rises. Prof. Warren is a member of the administration's "brain trust."

Pennsylvania Line Finds Door Service Profitable

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Introduction of collection and delivery service for less than carload freight on the Pennsylvania railroad last December has brought the road more than $400,000 in new business and resulted in operating economies, according to W. W. Atterbury, president.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 2.75 cents for spots. The only sale confirmed was 36,000 bags of Philippines for late May arrival to an outport refiner at 2.78 cents. The futures market was inactive but prices held steady throughout the session and closed with net gains of 1 to 2 points. Sales were 1,250 tons. Prices:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
May	1.52	1.52	1.52	1.52	1.51
September	1.58	1.59	1.58	1.59	1.57

In refined a better withdrawal demand was reported, due to the warmer weather and to the brief time remaining under which old contracts may be withdrawn. Prices were unchanged at 4.20 cents for fine granulated.

U.S. AUTO MAKERS FAIL TO PERCEIVE NEEDS OF EUROPE

Small Cars Are Required, Says Spaniard.

BY HAROLD ETTLINGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 21.—Discriminatory tarif restrictions have been widely blamed for the drastic decline in American automobile exports to Europe, including Spain, but according to Antonio Segurado, Spanish economist, there is a more important factor which has nothing to do with tarifs.

Segurado asserts that American exporters have failed to perceive the increasing demand in Europe for small, economical cars in recent years and have suffered accordingly.

Segurado points out that from 1931 to 1933, inclusive, the number of cars imported in Spain increased in far greater proportion than the automobile tonnage. The tonnage in turn increased in greater proportion than the value of the imports.

Germans and English Benefited.

"The displacing of the big car by the small in Spain brought a change in the order of countries exporting to Spain," he says. "The introduction of the Opel permitted Germany to increase her exports to Spain from 1.6 per cent to 14.1 per cent in a single year [1930]. And the following year when the persistent depression and the economy of the small car influenced European production decidedly in favor of small cars England increased her exports to Spain from 5 per cent to 23 per cent.

"At the same time France and Italy likewise increased their exports, all at the expense of North America, which saw export figures reduced from 55 per cent in 1929 to 53 in 1930, 49 in 1031, and 25 per cent in 1932.

Living Standard Factor.

Segurado declares it is important for Spain to have automobiles whose cost and maintenance are in keeping with the standard of living of the country.

A trade restriction that has annoyed Spain above all others has been removed by Washington. The effect of this is an increase in Spanish exports to the United States, thus putting the United States in a bargaining position for increasing American sales in Spain, and this action puts Spanish negotiators in a friendly state of mind.

For a long period Spanish grapes were kept out of the United States due to fear of the Mediterranean fly. Repeated efforts were made by Spanish exporters to have their grapes examined.

At DeLEE You Learn BEAUTY CULTURE

Quickly—Easily—Thoroughly.

QUICKLY—because you receive individual instruction under the personal direction of Madame Louise, internationally famous stylist and beauty expert.

EASILY—because DeLEE "University type" of training simplifies learning. You learn by practicing on living models. Classrooms are colorful, light and roomy. Equipment is 100% new and up-to-the-minute.

THOROUGHLY — because DeLEE does not graduate a student until she has attained genuine proficiency. At DeLEE you receive unlimited instruction at no extra cost. In fact, there are no "extra charges" for anything at DeLEE—one reasonable tuition fee covers everything.

Register now and assure yourself a place in the class which is now forming. Come in today and talk with the DeLEE Dean, Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens, or write for interesting book. Convenient terms can be arranged.

LEGAL NOTICES.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF HUGH ROBERT HUGHES, DECEASED.

By an Order of the Court of Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster [Liverpool District], England, dated the 19th day of March, 1934, made in the matter of the estate of Hugh Robert Hughes, deceased, Hughes v. Williams 1934 Letter H No. 4341 an enquiry was directed to ascertain whether John Owen Williams, one of the children of Mary Williams, the sister of the intestate, was living at the death of the intestate and if he was living at the death of the intestate whether he has since died and if he has since died who are his Personal Representatives and if he died before the intestate leaving issue who survived the intestate who upon death of the intestate became beneficially entitled to the share of the intestate's residuary estate to which he would have been entitled had he survived the intestate and for what estate and interests and if any such persons have since died entitled to any vested interests who are their respective personal representatives.

All persons claiming to be interested in the above enquiry are by themselves or their Solicitors on or before the 4th day of August, 1934, to come in and prove their claims at the Chambers of the Registrar of the Liverpool District of the said Court, situate at No. 9, Cook Street, Liverpool, England, and to enter their names and particulars of their claims in a book kept for that purpose at the said Chambers or in default they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said Order.

Wednesday the 15th day of August, 1934, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon at the said Chambers is appointed for the hearing and adjudicating upon the claims.

Dated this 9th day of May, 1934.

R. W. LOWDEN,
Registrar.

SOUTH PARK COMMISSIONERS—

Sealed proposals will be received by South Park Commissioners, 57th-st. and Cottage Grove-av., Chicago, Ill., until 12 o'clock noon, May 28, 1934, for furnishing and applying asphalt surface coat on certain driveway pavements in the South Park System in accordance with specifications which can be obtained at the office of the South Park Commissioners upon application

Bids from only those of record in the office of the South Park Commissioners as having received specifications will be considered.

All specifications, including bidding sheets, must be identified by the stamp of the Secretary of the South Park Commissioners thereon. No bid will be considered which is not submitted on a bidding sheet received from the South Park Commissioners and identified as above described.

Bidding blanks to be used will be found in the specifications.

A deposit of 5% of the estimated aggregate amount of the submitted bid, either in currency or certified check, payable to the South Park Commissioners, must accompany each proposal as a guarantee of the good faith of the bidder.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract and give a surety bond for 25% of the estimated amount of his contract.

All proposals must be placed in a sealed envelope, plainly marked "Proposal for Asphalt Surfacing," which envelope shall be delivered to the Secretary of the South Park Commissioners before the time limit stated above.

The South Park Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all proposals or any part of any proposal.

M. E. CONNELLY, SECRETARY.
May 22, 1934.

Household's
Reduced Rate
ON $300 LOANS
LOANS $30 TO $300.
On all balances above $100 Household's charge is below the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law. We have branches throughout the Chicago district and do the largest business because:

1. We give good service at reasonable cost.
2. We do not question your employer, your neighbors, your relatives, or your tradespeople.
3. All of our offices are equipped to handle your business in a private room.
4. We give free, authentic information on managing family incomes.

Household makes loans in amounts from $30 to $300 to men and their wives on their own signatures. Repayment arranged in convenient monthly installments. Household charges only on that part of the loan remaining unpaid.

Studebaker Sales Co. leads Chicago. 5 days' driving trial goes with each sale.

PACKARD SED. 1929 DE LUXE MODEL. Finish is bright and shiny. The upholstery is luxurious. The motor is the last word. It's a sensational value at..........$295

CADILLAC CLUB SEDAN, 1930, SAFETY Glass, radio, wire wheels, side mounts. Owned by a wealthy family who gave it the very best of attention. Now every detail of the interior and exterior is 100%. Has a sweet running motor. This looks like a real $1,000 value. Only..........$445

DODGE 8 SEDAN, LATE DE LUXE '33. Floating power, syncro-mesh transmission, free wheeling, etc. It has the appearance and performance of an auto fresh from the factory. Our price is surprisingly low.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, 1931 COMMAND, 8. Free wheeling. Very seldom have you seen an automobile that is 3 years old and has the newness of this Studebaker. Reason is, it was in actual service for just a very short time. We checked it over carefully in our shop and can certify that this car will give you new car satisfaction today. Cost over $1,500, but we will sell it out for only..........$345

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR 8 ST. REGIS brougham, 1932. Has every modern improvement, trunk, free wheeling, safety glass, etc. Finish has not a mar on it. Expensive upholstery. Tires appear unused. Motor was driven just enough to be properly broken in. Has full Studebaker guarantee. Reduced to..........$545

BUICK ROADSTER, 1931, WITH ROOMY rumble seat. This is a low slung car with a world of power and pep. It looks and runs as though never driven a mile. Hurry. Special at..........$345

HUPMOBILE SEDAN, 1932, WITH WIRE wheels, side mounts, etc. You'll have to look far and wide to find a Hupp anywhere in town to equal this one. It is the last word for smart appearance and sparkling performance. Today..........$395

PONTIAC SPORT COUPE, 1931. YOU'LL find this car a very economical purchase. In the first place—it's in new car condition today. Secondly—it gives a lot of miles per gallon of gas. And thirdly priced only.$295

ESSEX COACH, 1930. A VERY CLEAN car that is in dandy running order. Many nice extras. It's a very snappy car and the first man in with $145 drives away in it.
